QUESTIONS PRESENTED

1. Whether or not the Federal Communications Commission's failure to award an "enhancement credit", for the participation of local, civic leader: broadcast ownership (that in addition was female and minority) was arbitrary and capricious?

A. Whether the Federal Communications Commission's action to abandon the analysis of the facts of this credit in the context of its "localism" (47 U.S.C. 307(b)) goals and in the context of the federal laws seeking affirmative action regarding minority enterprise (Fullilove v. Klutznick, 448 U.S. 448 (1980)) was a clear error in judgment? (Motor Vehicle Manufacturer's Assoc. v. State Farm Mutual Auto Co., 463 U.S. 29, 77 L.Ed.2d 443, 103 S.Ct. 2856 (1983).

2. Whether or not the Federal Communications Commission's use of the evidence of Spectron's "enhancement credit proposal", exclusively in the context of diminishing its quantitative integration of ownership and management award was arbitrary and capricious?

A. Whether the application of the "actual control test" within the context of quantitative integration credit, solely for evaluating minority and female broadcast applicants, evidences a pattern of invidious discrimination in contravention of federal law and as such constitutes an abuse of agency discretion? Yick Wo. v. Hopkins, 118 U.S. 356 (1886).

B. Whether the facts of this case indicate that the application of this "actual control test" was done in such a manner as to deny Spectron due process of law?

SPECTRON BROADCASTING CORP.
PETITIONERS,

v.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,
RESPONDENT.

PETITION FOR A WRIT OF CERTIORARI
TO THE UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA CIRCUIT

A writ of certiorari is respectfully sought to review Judgment of the United States Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit entered September 29, 1988. This is petitioner's, Spectron Broadcasting Corp.'s (hereinafter referred to as "Spectron"), original designation of corporate relationships. Spectron is not owned by any parent corporation. Spectron does not have an ownership interest in any subsidiaries. Spectron does not have any affiliates.

OPINIONS BELOW

The opinion of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit is unreported. The memorandum setting forth the reasons for their affirming the FCC's decision is printed in Appendix E.

JURISDICTION

The judgment of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit was entered on September 29, 1988. (Appendix E) The jurisdiction of this Court is invoked under 28 U.S.C. 1254(1).

CONSTITUTIONAL AND STATUTORY PROVISIONS INVOLVED

1. The Fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution provides in relevant part:

> "No person shall... be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law..."

2. The Fourteenth Amendment to the United States constitution provides in relevant part:

> "No State shall... deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

4. 47 U.S.C. 309(d) provides in relevant part:

> "... The petition shall contain specific allegations of fact sufficient to show that the petitioner is a party in interest and that a grant of the application would be prima facie inconsistent with subsection (a) of this section"....

3. 47 U.S.C. 307(b) provides in relevant part:

> "... the Commission shall make such distribution of licenses... among the... communities as to provide a fair, efficient, and equitable distribution of radio service to each of the same."

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

On its face this case appears to be another routine challenge of an administrative agency's disposition of two mutually exclusive broadcast applications for a Long Island radio station.

However, there are more than the prospective property rights of a slighted broadcast applicant in this case. There has been a "taking" of actual (not prospective) broadcast property rights - rights relinquished in reliance on the agency's orders in this case. St. Augustine's College in Raleigh, North Carolina currently operates a television station through the donation of this broadcast licensing right from the alleged "non-controlling" minority-female applicant herein. Compliance with this agency's divestiture requirement amounted to a "taking". The courts have recognized the distinction in the protection of prospective property rights and the protection of vested property rights, in their decisions to grant judicial relief.

Caught within the throes of uncertainty as the agency seeks to deregulate its industry, the issues go beyond whether the agency's actions herein were arbitrary and capricious. Beyond forsaking the public's rights to the airwaves for the rights of industry[1] to higher profits and more favorable financial marketability of the airwaves, the FCC's actions show a pattern of indivious discrimination. Yick Wo. v. Hopkins, 118 U.S. 356 (1886).

1. See Fowler & Brenner, A Marketplace Approach to Broadcast Regulation, 60 Tex.L.Rev. 207 (1982), Hagelin & Wimmer, Broadcast Deregulation and the Administrative Responsibility to Monitor Policy Change 38 Federal Communications Law Journal 201 (1986).

The Supreme Court has never granted certiorari on the issue of the FCC's violations of the Civil Rights laws or the agency's failure to enforce affirmative action in the broadcast industry. In the aftermath of Wygant v. Jackson Board of Education, 106 S.Ct. 1842 (1986) it is imperative that this be done. Just as in the Yick Wo. v. Hopkins, 118 U.S. 356 (1886) case decided over one-hundred years ago, this Court is faced with a law (rule of policy) which on its face may seem fair and impartial, but is in fact being administered discriminatorily. In the Yick case a statue required all launderies to be houses in stone structures. Inasmuch as all the Chinese launderies were housed in wooden structures, 100% of the Chinese were violators and their launderies were closed. Similarly, in every broadcast case that has been researched, where applicants were denied licensing authority on the basis of the "actual control test" in the integration evaluation, every applicant had either a woman or a minority that failed the test.[2]

Diminished integration credit under that "actual control test" has never been imposed where the entity in question does not have either female or minority owners in management. Just as in the Yick case the effect of this agency conduct is discrimation. By invoking this abbreviated, "irrebuttable presumption" policy of female and minority weakness within the context of an obscure administrative agency sub-policy, members of these groups are denied due process and equal protection of the law.,

If the agency wants to address the issue of "actual control" there are any number of traditional mechanisms with which to do so (such as fraud, misrepresentation, real party in interest findings).

Moveover, precisely because of the pattern of racial and gender discrimination in the broadcast industry, Spectron decided upon its present corporate configuration. Government statistics continue to show minority and female ownership of broadcast properties well below 2%. Industry statistics show the number of minorites employed in broadcast management to be declining over the past ten years.

Founded by the nation's first black and female legal adviser to an FCC Commissioner, Spectron seeks to increase both the amount of local, civic and educational input into broadcast ownership and involvement and the amount of female and minority input. By urging a type of "enhancement credit" which was specifically not restricted to "integration" analysis it sought to meet these goals.

The credit would assure some incentive to include local civic leaders, (such as university, presidents, presidents of Lions Club, Girl Scout chapters, etc.) as well as minorities and females without the experience or the inclination to become either professional broadcast entrepreneurs or broadcast managers. As deregulation places more and more emphasis on commercialism, there is a greater need to insure that the "non-entertainment" messages and messengers in our communities have some accountability in the use of this public's resource.

Spectron has two classification of equity holders. Not all of their equity holders propose to serve the station. Only those equity holders who are local will serve. In the community service and programming areas, only those otherwise "financially passive" equity holders, who happen to be local civic leaders will serve as advisers on less than a part-time basis.

To discredit this effort is not only injurious to Spectron, but it unjustifiably narrows the incentives to involve local civic leaders in station ownership. Since females and minorities occupy a disproportionately higher percentage of the leadership roles in civic - volunteer organizations (a much greater percentage than they occupy of broadcast management and financial leadership roles) the FCC's action is particularly deplorable.

The FCC has never explained its refusal to consider this proposal. While providing affirmative action for minorites and females, indirectly, the proposal directly furthers the congressisonal goal of "localism" in broadcasting. The FCC elected to ignore this proposal and to use certain of the facts of this proposal to fit under their "actual control" test.

When the court combines these three elements: 1. The discriminatory application of the "actual control" test to minorites and females exclusively. 2. The deliberate failure to consider the "enhancement credit" proposal especialy as an act of affirmative action. and 3. the grave statistical disparities that persist between black and white, female and male, ownership and management of the broadcast industry, the court should grant certiorari in order to halt this "identified discrimination." Fullilove, supra.

REASONS FOR GRANTING THE PETITION

CERTIORARI SHOULD BE GRANTED IN ORDER TO CLARIFY THE PARAMETERS OF THE FCC'S DISCRETION IN REGARD TO BOTH SUBSTANTIVE AND PROCEDUREAL MATTERS OF DEREGULATION

I. The issue is not whether the FCC can depart from a prior policy on crediting integration proposals. The issue is not whether the FCC can adopt a new "actual control test" whereby it looks beyond a corporation's legal structure in crediting its integration proposal. The issue is whether the FCC is manipulating the context of the integration standard, in order to insulate itself from a higher burden of proof and a more rigid standard of due process which would have otherwise been required. Stated in a more concise fashion the issue is whether the agency is discriminatorily and illegally mimicking those court actions which place matters in the context of juvenile actions, mentally incompetent actions, domestic relations actions, in order to avoid the constitutional safeguards and protections of due process in regular adult criminal actions. This is the issue on the procedural matter in deregulation. The FCC should not be allowed the discretion to create a separate sub-system of due process applicable only to females and minorities, equating their rights with those of the mentally incompetent and juveniles. Such agency discretion is not merely patrtonizing and condescending, but unconstitutional.

II. Turning to the substantive matters, in their deregulatory zeal, both the FCC and the Court of Appeals are blinded by their interest in marketplace regulation. Page one of the Court's memorandum, reads, in part: "Partially in recognition of the difficulty of financing a license application and station, the Commission excludes truly passive investors from its integration calculation." This deference to the broadcast industry's need for ease of financeability is not one of the goals required by the Communications Act of 1934 for the agency to pursue. It is disturbing that the only goal which the Court offers in justification for the FCC's action is to maintain the financial prosperity of the industry. The congressional goals of "localism" and "diversity of view point" have been relegated to the back seat of this train.

While "localism" may be purely a broadcasting concept, limited exclusively to FCC discretion as to enforcement, affirmative action is a state and federal concept broadly and integrally a part of the intent and goals of the U.S. Constitution. In Fullilove v. Klutznick, 448 U.S. 448 (1980) this Court established the constitutionality of congressionally mandated preferences for minority businesses in federal government contracting and spending. Specifically, in regard to minority ownership of broadcast stations the Circuit Court held in TV 9, Inc. v. FCC, 495 F.2d 929 (1973) that: "When minority ownership is likely to increase diversity of content, especially of opinion and viewpoint, merit should be awarded." In his supplemental opinion, Senior Circuit Judge Fahy stated the reasons why "unintegrated" but substantial minority ownership advances the cause of diversity of viewpoints at p. 942:

> "Black persons having substantial identification with minority rights will be able to translate their positions, though not technically "managerial" and their ownership stake, into meaningful effects on this aspect of station programing."

This Court in Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association v. State Farm Mutual, 103 S.Ct. 2856 (1983) has specifically set out a "hard look" test as the standard for its scope of review in deregulatory, cases in which the agency abruptly departs from prior judicial and congressional law. Reviewing the agency's industry financeability justification for its action and its callous disregard for either the role of "localism" or increased minority ownership the agency has demonstrated a "clear error in its judgment". Wall Street, congress and the public recognize the financial prosperity of this industry. Similarly, these institutions have recognized the dearth of ownership in this industry by minorities and women, (less than 2%). While ignoring an area in which remedial action has been mandated, the FCC seeks to remedy a financeability and industry marketability problem that has never been identified as such and is indeed non-existent.

III. Due process should be a neutral principal of administrative law which should rise above the substantive debates over broadcast deregulation. However, in Spectron's case due process has become just as much the victim of deregulation as have many of the aforementioned substantive legislative goals of the Congress. For example, compare the due process safeguards attached to the FCC's imposition of a studio location issue on Spectron. Evidence was offered contesting the location of the stations' studios outside its city of license. In its defense Spectron provided evidence that these studios were currently being used to operate the station-as they had been for over 14 years. Not satisfied or convinced that this rational for Spectron's proposal would assure the congressional goal of "broadcast localism", an additional issue was added by the FCC against Spectron.

While Spectron met its burden of proof on this issue, and the station's license was initially awarded to Spectron, (See Appendix A), the FCC nonetheless abandoned its entire studio location restrictions within less than 2 years later. Thus, what was apparently a minor mechanism in insuring a much larger congressional goal of protecting broadcast localism, nonetheless was accorded the dignity of due process. Spectron's eleven opponents met their burden of offering a prima facie showing on the studio issue. 42 U.S.C. 309(d). Following Spectron's unconvincing rebuttal, the FCC put Spectron on notice that the burden of proof had shifted for it to prove its compliance with the goals of the '34 Act.

In sharp contrast to the agency's treatment of the studio location matter, it took an equally strong legislative goal of ascertaining the real parties in interest in broadcast licenses and followed a completely different procedure. The Court of Appeals in partnership with the FCC accepts counsel's post hoc rationalization that Spectron's integration proposal had been contested. At page 8 of their decision they write: "... Because in Greater Wichita the formal corporate structure was not belied by who actually controlled the applicant and did not shield a contested integration proposal..." Having just done so, the FCC was certainly familiar with finding prima facie showings of violations of its rules. Where the truth of matters that could undermine their policies and goals was in question they were accustomed to the procedure of setting issues for hearing. The FCC had done this regarding the studio issue. However, on not less than five separate occasions[3] the FCC specifically refused to set an issue of "actual control" against Spectron. On precisely the same record that was before the agency and is now before the Court, the Agency could not even be convinced that there was a prima facie showing of a material question of fact on this "actual control" issue. Spectron rebutted, its opponent's requests and each time the FCC declined to find that a prima facie showing had been made and thus refused to impose an issue against Spectron.

In order to justify the reversal of its initial grant, the FCC resorted to another post hoc rationalization. (See Appendix B &

C). It adopted and applied retroactively, what amounts to an irrebuttable presumption that non-voting stockholders' board of directors memberships will impair the "actual control" of voting stockholders. As a consequence, integration of ownership and management proposals, based upon voting stock interests, must be discredited, accordingly. For a matter so vital to the integrity of our nation's broadcasting system, - there is no finding of fraud; - there is no finding of any real party in interest - but rather, there is an "actual control presumption". Deregulation is silencing the substantive issue and slaughtering due process.

In response to Spectron's request to enlarge issues against Jarad, the FCC wrote on June 10, 1985: "The motion was denied because Rule 1.229(d) requires that petitions contain specific allegations of fact sufficient to support the action requested. This means that proponents of motions to enlarge issues must set out a prima facie case." The court should require the FCC to explain why it elected to circumvent its own rules and pronouncements only on the issue of the "actual control" matter. The agency's departure from its due process procedures contravene constitutional safeguards.

3. (1) On August 13, 1984 the FCC declined to add a financial issue against Spectron, holding that "Hempstead has failed to demonstrate in accordance with Section 1.229 of the Rules that Spectron's certification was not based on bona fide financial commitments."

(2) On August 21, 1984 the FCC denied a request that Spectron produce documents relating to whether its "de jure" principals also exercise "de facto control" because such "documents do not relate to any issue designated against Spectron".

(3) Another decision of the FCC on August 21, 1984 denied Jarad its request to attach an issue to the voting/non-voting configuration of Spectron: "No inconsistency as to Spectron's ownership is perceived. Spectron has clearly indicated its voting and non-voting shareholders as well as their respective percentages of ownership."

(4) On September 10, 1984, Jarad sought to test whether "Spectron's distribution of stock does in fact accord Angela Shaw 100% control over Spectron. "In denying Jarad's request, the FCC reiterated that "Spectron's stock structure has been clearly set out. Jarad's "confusion" as to whether Spectron's non-voting stock is also voting stock and vice-versa is deemed to be a ruse to engage in a fishing expedition."

(5) On October 22, 1984, Jarad's renewed request to impugne Spectron's corporate integrity was denied. "The fact is that the Secretary of the Spectron corporation certified that the resolution was adopted March 18, 1983." (This is well before the "B" cut-off and clearly anything but "eleventh-hour" as the Court of Appeals writes at p.4 of its memorandum).

CONCLUSION

For the reasons set forth above, it is respectfully submitted that this petition for a writ of certiorari should be granted.

DECISION

Adopted: September 30, 1986

Released: October 16, 1986

By the Review Board: MARINO (Chairman), JACOBS ESBENSEN.

Board Member ESBENSEN

1. This proceeding involves the nine mutually exclusive applications of Jarad Broadcasting Company, Inc. (Jarad), Spectron Broadcasting Corporation (Spectron), Garden City Broadcasting, Inc. (GCB). Westplex Broadcasting Company (Westplex), North Shore Broadcasting (NSB). December Ventures, Inc. (DVI). WINK Radio, Inc. (WINK), Fonic Broadcasting Co. (Fonic), and McComas Broadcasting Corporation (McComas) for permanent authority to construct an FM broadcast station to operate on Channel 224 at Garden City, New York, to replace the deleted facilities of Station WLIR(FM).[1] By Hearing Designation Order (HDO), 49 Fed. Reg. 15132, published April 17, 1984, these applications were designated for consolidated hearing[2] on the standard comparative issue including a comparison of the applicants' respective coverage of areas and populations. By Memorandum Opinion and Order, FCC 84M-2853, released June 25, 1984, presiding Administrative Law Judge John M. Frysiak (ALJ) added an issue to determine whether Spectron had good cause for locating its proposed main studio outside the principal community to be served and, if so, whether it would be consistent with the public interest.

2. In his Initial Decision (I.D.), FCC 86D-13, released March 4, 1986 the ALJ first resolved the main studio issue in favor of Spectron, I.D., para 166, and then ultimately concluded that Spectron was comparatively the best applicant, id.at para. 206. In reaching this determination, the ALJ assessed comparative demerits under the comparative factor of diversification of mass media control to Westplex, NSB, DVI and McComas: and concluded that under the factor of integration of ownership and management: (1) DVI (with 100% part-time credit) and Fonic (76% full-time credit) were decisionally inferior to the 100% full-time proposals of Jarad, Spectron, GCB, Westplex, NSB, WINK and McComas: and (2) Spectron, with 100% qualitative enhancement credits for local residence, civic participation, minority and female ownership, and limited broadcast experience, edged out Jarad and Westplex, the qualitatively closest applicants. Id.at paras. 204-206. He also concluded that no applicant should receive a comparative coverage preference, despite WINK's proposal to serve substantially larger--but already well-served areas and populations. Id. at para. 167.

3. This proceeding is now before the Review Board on exceptions filed by the parties. We have reviewed the I.D. in light of the exceptions and reply briefs, the oral argument held July 3, 1986, and the underlying record. Except as discussion herein, we adopt the findings of fact and conclusions of law in the I.D. However, as we discuss herein, we reverse the ALJ's conclusion that Spectron is the comparatively superior applicant, and conclude instead that a grant of Jarad's application will best serve the public interest.

4. Jarad. The ALJ credited Jarad with 100% full-time credit for the proposed integration of its sole principal. Ronald Morey, as general manager of the proposed station, qualitatively enhanced by his residence within the proposed service area since 1977, his civic activities, and his broadcast experience. The ALJ also credited Jarad with 100% minority ownership enhancement credit for Mr. Morrey's alleged status as a Native American. He also concluded that neither Jarad nor Mr. Morey had any attributable mass media ownership interests. I.D., paras. 12-18, 168. Exceptions have been filed which assert that: (1) Jarad should be charged with a diversification demerit because Mr. Morey owns a "voice over" business which is utilized "by advertising agencies in the sale of commercials to both radio and television stations" (NSB Br. at 26); (2) Mr. Morey's "voice over" business will prevent him from effectuating his 100% full-time integration commitment to the proposed station (Spectron Br. at 10-11; GCB Br. at 26-27; and NSB Br. at 28-29); and (3) Mr. Morey is not entitled to his claimed minority status (Spectron Br. at 2-8; GCB Br. at 20-26; Westplex Br. at 40-41; NSB Br. at 30-34; WINK Br. at 27-33; and McComas Br. at 9-10).

5. We first address NSB's challenge to Jarad's diversification posture. NSB claims that Mr. Morey's "[s]imultaneous ownership of Jarad and R. J. Morey, Inc. [the 'voice over' business] ... creates the risk that Mr. Morey would ... gear Jarad's programming and advertising to satisfy R. J. Morey, Inc.'s national clients rather than the interest of the local community" and that "he will be beholden to the advertisers and agencies which compensate him so handsomely for his voice-over services." NSB Br. at 27-28. However, the hearing record reveals NSB's expressed concerns to be purely speculative and fanciful. Moreover, common sense in the day-to-day operation of a broadcast facility (where the income to the station will depend on hundreds of different advertisers) dictates that NSB's arguments are preposterous. R. J. Morey, Inc. contracts with advertising agencies to perform "voice overs," i.e., announcing, in producing commercials, but has no role whatsoever in selecting the content of the commercials or the stations over which they will be aired. Tr. 91-97, 188-189. Consequently, this business has far less possible impact upon the Commission's diversification objectives of "maximizing available program services and viewpoints and preventing any undue concentration of economic power contrary to the public interest" than advertising firms, which are not themselves media of mass communciations and which have only a remote potential for media concentration or conflict of interest. See Jerome Thomas Lamprecht. 99 FCC 2d 1219, 1221 (Rev. Bd. 1984).

6. Next, we have considered the attack on Jarad's ability to effectuate Mr. More's full-time station management commitment and have found it equally wanting in merit. The exceptors essentially point to Mr. Morey's great success in the "voice over" business and a 1980 press interview (held 3 years before the Jarad application was filed) in which he stated that he had no intention to "forsake his commercial career" (Tr. 99) and speculate that he will not be able to devote the 40-hours per week to station management requisite for full-time credit. However, Mr. More's present intentions were made clear on the record. He stated that he is "prepared to completely abandon [his] present career as a free lance announcer to fulfill [his] commitment as the general manager of the station." Jarad Exh. 1 at 5. On cross-examination, he steadfastly affirmed this pledge to reduce his time commitment to free-lance announcing, including totally abandoning that career if needed, in order to manage the proposed station. Tr. 99-105, 116. The corporate work for R. J. Morey, Inc. is handled by an accounting firm and a bookkeeper, and the corporation would continue to receive payments for commercials which were made previously but which continue to run. Tr. 187-88. In short, Mr. Morey's plan to assure his ability to effectuate his proposal is uncontradicted by any record evidence and is credible; we therefore affirm the ALJ's award of 100% full-time credit to Jarad. See Central Texas Broadcasting Co., Ltd., 90 FCC 2d 583, 586 (Rev. Bd. 1982) (subsequent history omitted).[3]

7. With respect to the challenges concerning Mr. Morey's claimed minority status as an American Indian we initially note the Commission's recently-enunciated position in its Brief filed September 12, 1986, before the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit in Janes U. Steel v. FCC No. 84-1176 (D.C. Cir.) (rehearing en banc). Therein, the Commission has succinctly declared that, in light of the Supreme Court's opinion in Wygant v. Jackson Bd. of Educ., U.S., 90 L.Ed.2d 260 (1986), its current policy of awarding comparative preferences for integrated minority and female owner-applicants may be unconstitutional and unauthorized by the Communications Act. Nevertheless, in light of the posture of this proceeding, and the heavy reliance placed upon minority and female preferences by the applicants herein, we have fully reviewed this comparative consideration in reaching our decision. However, as will be shown, these claimed preferences are non-decisional in any event, and absent any minority preferences Jarad's winning margin would only be further widened. Specifically, Jarad (even prior to the filing of the Commission's Brief in Steel, supra) would not be entitled to any minority preference. We begin our supporting analysis by pointing out that in its STatement of Policy on Minority Ownership of Broadcasting Facilities, 68 FCC 2d 979 (1978), the Commission observed that the views of racial minorities were underrepresented in the broadcast media and that these minorities included American Indians. Id. at n. 8. The Commission's Annual Employment Report, Form 395, provides for reporting American Indians whenever such persons are employed (see FCC Form 395-EEO, 70 FCC 2d 1466 (1979)), and our rules require that equal employment opportunities be provided for American Indians and other minorities. Section 73.2080(c).

8. The instructions to Form 395 define an "American Indian or Alaskan Native" as "a person having origins in any of the original peoples of North America and who maintains cultural identification through tribal affiliation or community recognition." While several exceptors challenge this definition as being too broad and suggest, for example, that actual tribal membership should be required (GCB Br. at 24: Westplex Br. at 41, n. 11; NSB Br. at 31), we are satisfied that this definition, taken direction from the Commission's actual employment guidelines to applicants, is appropriate. See also Buckley Broadcasting Corp., 72 FCC 2d 326 (1979). Applying this definition, however, we do not believe Jarad has, in fact, established that Morey is an American Indian.

9. Morey grew up in Brantford, Ontario, Canada, a community which was named after Indian Chief Joseph Brand. Jarad Exh. 1, p. 1. Morey testified that his father told him he (the father) was a descendant of Chief Brant of the Sixth Nation's Reserve as a result of one of Brant's daughters marrying a Morey. Tr. 144. Neither he nor his father is registered on the tribal rolls because neither lives on or participates in the activities of the reserve. Tr. 158.

Morey claims affiliation with the Mohawk tribe only because his father is a Mohawk. Tr. 157. His mother is not an American Indian. Tr. 144. He has never lived on the Sixth Nation's Reserve and does not know if anyone on the reserve would know who he is. Tr. 154. He testified that he is "recognized" in his residential and professional communities as an Indian, but conceded that this recognition is based simply on his telling people that he is an Indian. Tr. 154-6.

10. In short, Jarad's claim that Morey has origins and maintains cultural identification as an Indian through tribal affiliation or community recognition is based solely on what he has told others or what his father told him. Jarad did not substantiate this claim through any form of documentation such as a birth certificate, tribal records, certification by a government agency, or other written evidence of geneology. Because Jarad's entitlement to minority credit was not self-evident, its claim was challenged at the hearing and we believe Jarad had the burden of coming forth with something more than Mr. Morey's memory and belief to support its claim. We do not hold that the record establishes that Morey is not an Indian but only that it does not establish that he is an Indian. Clearly, it was Jarad's burden, as the applicant seeking credit, to authenticate its claim, when challenged, with specific and persuasive evidence.[4] Since it did not do so, Jarad will not be awarded minority enhancement credit.

11. Spectron. The ALJ credited Spectron with 100% full-time credit for the proposed integration of its sole voting stockholder (31 shares), Angela Shaw, as general manager of the proposed station, qualitatively enhanced by her past and future service area residence, her prior civic activities, and past broadcast experience, as well as by her status as a black and female owner who will participate in station management. Neither Spectron nor Ms. Shaw has any attributable mass media ownership interests. I.D., paras. 20-33, 169. The ALJ found that on March 18, 1983, Spectron created two classes of stock, voting and non-voting, and that Spectron has the following non-voting stockholders: Angela Shaw (owning 18 of 64 non-voting shares issued and outstanding), Roland H. Davis (22 shares), Briding Newell (15 shares), Frances Hooks (5 shares), James M. Shuart (2 shares), and LuNell Anderson (2 shares). Id., paras. 24-25. The ALJ found that Mr. Davis will devote from 10 to 20 hours each week to the proposed station, including serving on three policy committees: The Editorial Policy Committee. The Community Affairs Committee, and The Programming Committee. Id., para. 29. Ms.

Newell will also serve on these committees and will devote approximately 10 hours per week to the station. Id., para. 30. Mr. Shuart, the president of Hofstra University, will serve on the committees, but no time commitment to the station was specified for him. Id., para. 31.

12. In addition, as a result of an agreement entered into with Spectron on or about May 23, 1983. Francesco Galesi, in exchange for his financial support, acquired an option to purchase 10 shares of Spectron stock and a right of first refusal to purchase up to 51 additional shares of Spectron stock. Although the agreement did not specify whether Galesi's stock option was for voting or non voting stock, the ALJ found that the intent of the parties was to make available to Mr. Galesi only non-voting stock. Id., n. 8. Mr. Galesi's rights to acquire stock were subsequently assigned to his wife, Marina Wolkonsky, Id., para. 26.

13. Various exceptions challenge the ALJ's award of 100% quantitative integration credit to Spectron based on the untimely amending of its certificate of incorporation to authorize the issuance of non-voting stock.[5] The active role in station management and policy-making of certain of its non-voting stockholders, the Galesi-Wolkonsky loan agreement (which at one point allgedly contemplated for issuance of voting stock to Mr. Galesi in return for certain financing guarantees), and the lack of credibility of Shaw's integration proposal due to her many errors made in testifying upon cross-examination about Spectron's corporate structure and records. Jarad Br. at 3-19; GCB Br. at 9-17; Westplex Br. at 21-29; North Shore Br. at 14-18, 21-24; DVI Br. at 22-29; WINK Br. at 17-21; and Fonic Br. at 3. Spectron responds that under New York State law it is a validly-formed corporation with two classes of stock, its voting class being solely owned by Ms. Shaw. Reply at 4-9. It claims that Ms. Shaw is, in fact, in "total control of Spectron." Id. at 9. Finally, it urges that Mr. Galesi and Ms. Wolkonsky "have not exercised any control whatsoever upon Spectron." Id. at 10.

14. We agree with the exceptors that various factors deprive Spectron of the full quantitative integration credit it seeks. First, although Angela Shaw is Spectron's putative 100% sole voting stockholder, her cross-examination on October 23-24, 1984 revealed both her lack of knowledge and her passivity concerning many significant aspects of the Spectron application. For example, Ms. Shaw (an attorney formerly employed by the Federal Communications Commission) initially testified that she thought she owned forty shares of voting stock which were authorized to be issued to her at the March 18, 1983 board of directors/stockholders meetings. Tr. 405, 416-417. However, she was not certain because Spectron's local counsel "took care of that." Tr. 417. Each share of stock cost $1, and she testified she paid $40 for her stock. Tr. 418. She did not know how Spectron decided to allocate "voting" and "non-voting" shares among the stockholders because "the lawyer decides." Tr. 418-419. She was only interested in the "percentage" of shares that she and the other stockholders would own and "not the number of shares," because "you can always change the numbers." Tr. 419. She also thought she had been issued some non-voting shares at the initial board meeting. Tr. 405, 437. She claimed that, as indicated in the application as originally filed on May 16, 1983, she owned 46.7% of the equity, but did not know what that percentage was based upon. Tr. 428; see Jarad Ex. 6.

15. Although this former Commission attorney certified the application as being accurate and complete, she did not verify it from personal knowledge but instead relied totally upon her attorneys. Tr. 428. She was not concerned that the application as originally filed did not list any non=voting stock that she claimed she owned because she "trusted the lawyers" and because she regarded it as an unimportant technical matter, just as long as "the percentages stayed the same." Tr. 438. After initially assuming that both classes of Spectron stock were "equity," she changed her opinion and thought that only the non-voting stock represented equity. Tr. 424, 435. Although it became clear on cross-examination that the number of shares and percentage ownership of shares did not add up properly, she strongly denied that the missing shares reflected ten shares of stock which might have been under option to Francesco Galesi, Spectron's financial backer, because that option did not come into being until later, after the application was filed. Tr. 491-492.

16. Upon the recall of Ms. Shaw for redirect (and recross) examination on November 9, 1984, Spectron established that she owned 31 shares (rather than 40) of voting stock which were authorized to be issued to her at the initial board of directors meeting and an additional 18 shares of non-voting stock which were subsequently acquired. Her non-voting stodk originated as voting stock issued to Thomas Morrison, was later made "nonvoting," and was subsequently transferred to her pursuant to a December 2, 1983 board of directors resolution. Spectron Exs. 13-17; Tr. 3181-3200. Ms. Shaw revised her earlier testimony that voting stock did not represent equity (Tr. 435) and reverted back to her original claim (Tr. 424) that each share of voting or non-voting stock represented one share of equity. Tr. 3213-3216. Her stock represents 52% of Spectron's equity. Tr. 3186. She testified that she had no role in maintaining Spectron's records, and that corporate secretary Briding Newell and Spectron's local counsel are in total control of those documents. Tr. 3216-3217. She regularly reviews corproate documents only at board and stockholder meetings, when all the other directors and stockholders also have an equal opportunity to review them. Tr. 3217. Also, it was revealed that at the initial stockholders meeting held on March 18, 1983, Francesco Galesi signed an "offer to purchase 10 shares" of Spectron common stock for $10. Spectron Ex. 13 at 14. The same hearing exhibit indicates that the other "voting" and "non-voting" shareholders present at the meeting signed similar agreements. However, Galesi's name does not appear on the Spectron stock ledger, Jarad

Ex. 15, which also lists Ms. Shaw as owning 40 shares (as she originally testified) and which does not distinguish between "voting" and "non-voting" shares. A stock certificate for 10 shares was issued to Mr. Galesi but apparently was subsequently cancelled. Jarad Ex. 16 at 8-9 (stock certificate number 5).[6]

17. Furthermore, the record evidence shows that there are great similarities between the voting and non-voting classes of stock of Spectron. Each share was purchased for $1, Tr. 417, and thus the sale of the 95 shares of authorized and issued stock represents $95 in capital proceeds, a rather insignificant sum compared to the funds needed to prosecute the application through hearing, let along construct a station. As indicated previously, all of Spectron's stock was initially "voting" stock until the board of directors and shareholders meetings were held on March 18, 1983, when the stock was subdivided into two classes, with the only distinction between them being the putative presence or absence of voting rights. Ms. Shaw testified that at the March 18 meetings, Spectron's lawyers decided upon the number of shares and class of stock to be distributed among the various stockholders, Tr. 418-419, after first determining which shareholders could devote full time to the station and after considering how to take advantage of the Commission's minority and female qualitative enhancement policy. Tr. 624-626. No independent business purpose, other than maximizing an ownership integration preference, is evidence from the record for Spectron's decision to create voting and non-voting classes of stock. Presumably, such a purpose also fully accounts for the subsequent reclassification of Mr. Morrison's 18 shares of stock as "non-voting" and, quite possibly, for its ultimate transfer to Ms. Shaw.

18. In addition, three of Spectron's purported non-voting shareholders are proposed to serve on station policy committees, and two of them will devote significant amounts of time to the station on a regular basis. See paragraph II, supra. Ms. Briding Newell, who owns 15 shares of Spectron stock (I.D., para. 25), has proposed:

> "[T]o devote approximately 10 hours per week to the day-to-day operations of the station...on the Community Affairs, Editorial Policy and Programming Committees...with special emphasis on the Programming Committee. [She] intends to particularly focus on the development of news programming for the station..."

Spectron Ex. 4 at 6-7. She is also a director and officer of Spectron. Tr. 193, and is the only person other than Spectron's local counsel who has maintained Spectron's corporate records. Tr. 3216. She will reduce her time spend on other activities to assure that she can in fact keep her promise to devote 10 hours per week to the station. Tr. 239-240. She expects not only to participate in making the decisions of the committees, but also to have some supervisory responsibilities in implementing the decisions. Tr. 241-242. Similarly, Mr. Roland H. Davis, who owns 22 shares of "non-voting" stock (I.D.), para. 25 testified:

> "I intend to be involved in an ongoing fashion with the operations and activities of the stations. I will serve, along with Spectron shareholders Angela Shaw, Briding Newell and James Shuart, on the Editorial Policy, Community Affairs and Programming Committees...to which I will devote from 10 to 20 hours each week...I believe my experience in the community and the insights which I have into the workings of the local governments and various civic and community organizations will permit me to make a special contribution to the station in terms of the development of local and public affairs programming, as well as in the creation of special opportunities for civic involvement by the station..."

Spectron Ex. 3 at 6-7. However, on cross-examination Davis stated that he would not be involved with station operations but would be serving largely in an advisory capacity on the three committees and on the board of directors. Tr. 300-305. Nevertheless, he affirmed that he would be involved in policy-making, Tr. 306-307, and that he, Briding Newell, and Angela Shaw each had one vote on the board of directors, which has the power to hire and fire officers of the company. Tr. 328-330. This active managerial and policy-making involvement of at least two of Spectron's "non-voting" shareholders, by itself, is sufficient to decisionally diminish the ownership integration credit due Spectron, because their involvement significantly dilutes the degree of exclusive authority to manage and control the corporation and operation of the station ostensibly held by the sole "voting" shareholder, Ms. Shaw. See Signal Ministries, Inc., FCC 86R-50, released August 18, 1986, paras. 13-16.[7]

19. Finally, we find that the Galesi-Wolkonsky loan agreement further weakens Spectron's integration posture. Francesco Galesi is a friend of Ms. Shaw and had expressed an interest ins upporting her business ventures. Tr. 562. 648-649, 3106-3107. Before Spectron's application was filed, Shaw and Galesi discussed the possibility of Galesi providing funds to prosecute the application. Tr. 560-562, 3106-3107. Shaw and George W. Bott, a vice president of the Galesi Group, has had a draft agreement prepared between Spectron and Galesi. Jarad Ex. 13. Under the draft agreement, Galesi would deliver $10,000 cash to Spectron and could be required to guarantee unconditionally up to $250,000 in repayments to Spectron's lenders, Id. at 3. In return, Galesi would receive a non-negotiable note with the option to convert the note into 33 shares of Spectron non-voting stock. Id. at 8. The draft agreement and promissory note used the term "non-voting stock" seventeen times.

20. However, the draft agreement was not executed. After further negotiation, the parties signed a loan agreement on May 23, 1983, one week after the Spectron application was filed and over two months subsequent to the board/stockholders meeting at which Galesi signified his intent to purchase 10 shares of Spectron stock. Jared Ex. 8. The agreement calls for Galesi to lend Spectron $10,000 in return for a note and "an option to purchase up to ten (10) shares of Common stock" at the price fo $1 per share. Id. at 1, 7. Galesi also obtained a right of first refusal to purchase an additional 51 shares of common stock at a price of $4,902 per share. Id. at 8. Nowhere in the agreement was "non-voting" stock mentioned. Indeed, Spectron warranted that: "There are no outstanding agreements relating to the voting...of any shares of capital stock of the Company." Id. at 3. Thus, the terms of the loan agreement clearly imply that Galesi would receive voting stock. However, on December 2, 1983 (one week before the "B" cut-off date), Galesi assigned his interest to his wife, Marina Wolkonsky. I.D., para. 26. In return for financial advances pursuant to the May 23, 1983 loan agreement - which covers almost all of Spectron's expenses to date (Tr. 536-544) - Ms. Wolkonsky obtained promissory notes from Spectron on or about March 8, 1984 (for $29,412) and July 1, 1984 ($24,510). Spectron Exs. 11, 12. The documentation provides that Ms. Wolkonsky may at her option redeem the notes for 6 and 5 shares, respectively, of "non-voting" stock. Nevertheless, in view of the clear intent of the May 23, 1983 loan agreement not to limit the option to "non-voting" stock, we cannot be assured Ms. Wolkonsky will not obtain voting stock when she ultimately redeems her notes, which would obviously occur at a time subsequent to grant of the Spectron application. Accordingly, the provisions of the May 23, 1983 loan agreement further serve to weaken Spectron's integration proposal.

21. In summary, numerous deficiencies in Spectron's proposal preclude us from awarding it the full 100% integration credit it seeks. Of its five non-voting stockholders other than Ms. Shaw, two sit in its three-person Board of Directors and will also be active in managing the station on a daily basis through their participation on three policy-making committees, and a third will also sit on these committees. Their participation dilutes the credit Ms. Shaw might otherwise be entitled to. See Signal Ministries, Inc., supra, and cases cited therein at para. 15. We also cannot be certain that the Glaesi option agreement would not ultimately result, for the reasons discussed above, in the transfer of voting stock to Ms. Wolkonsky, thereby further reducing the exclusivity of Ms. Shaw's corporate control. Nor are we content, on the basis of the state of her own confused testimony, that Ms. Shaw will exercise the control Spectron claims for her. As we have said many times, it is not sufficient for an applicant seeking integration credit to maintain, as Spectron does here, that it has created its business entity in conformity with local governing law. See, e.g., Bradley, Hand and Triplett, 89 FCC 2d 657, 662-63 (Rev. Bd. 1982). To carry out the purposes of our comparative policies, we may look beyond formal corporate structure in order to ascertain where true ownership and control rests, KIST Corp., 58 RR 2d 1483 (1985), and diminish integration credit accordingly when "non-voting" owners partake in management. Some exceptors content that Spectron's credit must be reduced to at best 52% because that figure represents Ms. Shaw's percentage of Spectron equity, noting that she is the only stockholder proposing to work full-time, whereas others would reject its proposal as completely unreliable and award no credit. We need not decide between these theories, however, since it is plain that in either case Spectron is not entitled to credit approaching the 100% awarded to other applicants, and is, in ssence, eliminated from further comparative contention.

22. GCB. The ALJ credit GCB with 99% quantitative integration credit for the full-time participation of John Betaudier and Yvonne Betaudier, 53% joint owners, as general manager and vice president for station affairs, respectively; Phyllis Bernstein (30% owner) as news director; Betty Sutter (14% owner) as comptroller and business manager: and Edwin A. Bernstein

(2% owner) as sales manager. This integration proposal was qualitatively enhanced by the current service area residence of the Bernsteins and Mrs. Sutter, representing in toto 46% ownership, plus the proposed future local residence of the Betaudiers (53%); 16% credit for the civic participation of Mrs. Sutter and Mr. Bernstein; 28.5% credit for the broadcast experience of Mssrs. Betaudier and Bernstein; 53% credit for the participation of minority ownership (the Betaudiers) in management; and 70.5% credit for participating female ownership (Mmes. Betaudier, Bernstein, and Sutter). I.D., paras. 35-54. 170-175.

23. In its exceptions, GCB seeks additional 30% enhancement credit under the civic participation and broadcast experience rubrics for Ms. Bernstein. GCB Br. at 31-33. We will deny these exceptions. GCB presents us with a bare claim, unsupported by any record citation, cf. 47 CFR 1.277(a) (exceptions "shall point out with particularity alleged material errors...and shall contain specific references to the page or pages of the transcript of hearing, exhibit or order if any on which the exception is based"), that Mrs. Bernstein has obtained "extensive knowledge of and interest in Long Island affairs gained after years of practicing her trade [which] qualifies her for civic participation credit." GCB Br. at 32. However, her testimony simply shows that: (1) she has been a freelance journalist for the past years who has had published many by-lined articles in The New York Times and in other media; (2) she worked during portions of 1968, 1969, and 1972 for UPI in New York City as a reporter on the city desk; (3) she performed public relations and media contact work for the Spanish National Tourist Office in New York City; (4) she has on four occasions since 1979 taught a "Selling the Freelance Story" course at Adelphi University and in 1983 taught a 3-credit journalism course at the Polytechnic Institute of New York in Farmingdale; and (5) in 1974, she was the Leisure Editor of the Long Island Business Review, which experience she claims gave her "strong familiarity on all levels with the Long Island scene." GCB Ex. 3 at 2-3. This testimony fails to substantiate GCB's essential claim that Ms. Bernstein has sufficient "local activities indicating a knowledge of and interest in the welfare" of the service, GCB Br. at 33 (citing Policy Statement on Comparative Broadcast Hearings, 1 FCC 2d 393, 396 (1965)). See also Broadcast Associates of Colorado, 59 RR 2d 741, 743 (Rev. Bd. 1985) (local activities resulting from an individual's occupation are generally less significant under the civic participation sub-factor than active membership in community organizations and participation in leadership roles), reversed on other grounds. 60 RR 2d 721 (1986). As for her claim to broadcast experience, her testimony fails to show that she has either had "hands-on" broadcast station experience, or worked in a position that was significantly broadcast-related in the industry. Therefore, we will not award GCB any further broadcast experience credit. See Phoenix Media Corp., 56 RR 2d 1241, 1248-1249 (Rev. Bd. 1984), review denied, FCC 85-435, released August 6, 1985.

24. Other exceptions urge that quantitative credit for the GCB integration proposal should be significantly diminished because putative 2% shareholderEdwin Bernstein, and not the Betaudiers (53%), in reality dominates GCB. NSB Br. at 35-40; WINK Br. at 23-25. NSB also challenges the award of integration credit to Betty Sutter, a 14% owner and GCB's proposed full-time comptroller and business manager. NSB Br. at 40-41. We reject these contentions. The ALJ did indeed find that Mr. Bernstein was the driving force behind formation of the GCB application. The exceptors, however, have been unable to point to evidence that would undercut the ALJ's holding that despite Mr. Bernstein's active role, he acted in concert with the other stockholders and that all actions taken were unanimously agreed to or ratified by the others. I.D., para. 173. The ALJ's conclusion is further supported by evidence showing all GCB stockholders have paid for their shares, that five out of the six GCB stockholders will be integrated in management positions at the station, that the Bernsteins have known the Betaudiers and the Sutters for many years, that Mr. Betaudier, who is proposed as general manager, has extensive broadcast experience, and will receive a higher salary than the others because of his greater responsibilities, that Mrs. Betaudier and Mrs. Sutter are proposed for significant managerial positions, and that Mrs. Sutter currently co-owns and manages an office building. Thus, we cannot conclude that the GCB applicant is a sham and the Betaudiers mere figureheads without actual authority.

25. However, GCB finishes behind Jarad in any event. Specifically, Jarad's integration proposal, with 100% qualitative credits for service area residence, civic participation, and broadcast experience, is superior to GCB's proposal as credited in the I.D., with 46% service area residence credit (plus slight credit for the proposed future local residence of 53% more of its ownership), 16% civic participation credit, 28.5% broadcast experience credit, 53% minority ownership participation credit and 70.5% female ownership participation credit (but see para. 7, supra). In particular, although Jarad's substantial local residence advantage (100% vs. 46%) is equalled by GCB's substantial minority preference (53% vs. 0%), see Radio Jonesboro, Inc. 100 FCC 2d 941, 945 (1985), its two other substantial preferences, for civic participation and broadcast experience, outweight GCB's single substantial preference for female ownership, which is now constitutionally suspect. See para. 7, supra. See also Talleyrand Broadcasting, 103 FCC 2d 476, 480, 481 (Rev. Bd. 1985) (proposed future local residence is insignificant in comparison to long-term service area residence; and 100% to 49% edge for female participation "probably offset" by moderate civic participation advantage along albeit female credit withheld pending clarification of Commission policy).

26. Westplex. The ALJ found that Westplex is a limited partnership whose two general partners, Kenneth L. Herring (51% control) and Ramona Rivera (49% control), will serve full-time as programming manager and general manager, respectively, of the proposed station. Westplex was awarded 100% integration credit enhanced qualitatively by 100% credits for the general partners' long-term past service area residence, their promises to move to the proposed community of license, their "extensive" past broadcast experience, and their status as participating minority owners: 51% credit for Mr. Herring's civic participation; and 49% credit for participating female ownership (Ms. Rivera). I.D., paras. 56-71, 176-179. Westplex also received a very slight comparative demerit under the factor of diversification of mass media control because only after the "B" cut-off date did Mr. Herring make an unequivocal promise to terminate his current employment as program director of Station WTHE(AM), Mineola, New York, which serves substantially the same area as Westplex's proposed station. Id., para. 177.

27. Challenging the award of 100% quantitative integration credit to Westplex, various exceptors assert: (1) Westplex is not a valid limited partnership under New York State law or the Uniform Limited Partnership Act and did not have an executed limited partnership agreement until after the hearing exhibit exchange date, and its limited partners are not sufficiently passive and insulated from station affairs to be ignored in the comparative evaluation; (2) Westplex proposes an impermissible transfer of control because, after the "A" cut-off date, it added a new 49% general partner, Ramona Rivera, to whom it has also given an option to become a 51% and controlling general partner one year after final grant of its application and who even now effectively controls the applicant; and (3) its general partners cannot effectuate their integration proposals. Jarad Br. at 32-42; Spectron Br. at 12-19; GCB Br. at 27-31; NSB Br. at 41-43; WINK Br. at 25-27; and McComas Br. at 11-12. Westplex responded to these arguments. Reply at 2-21. For reasons that follow, we find that Westplex's untimately execution of its limited partnership agreement requires that the quantitative integration credit awarded to it in the I.D. be eliminated.

28. Westplex evolved as follows. A certificate of limited partnership, which did not describe whatsoever the control relationships amongst the various limited and general partners, was filed on July 26, 1983 at the Nassau County courthouse. DVI Ex. 5. Prior to December 9, 1983 (the "B" cut-off date in this proceeding), the partners were negotiating the admission of Ms. Rivera as a 49% general partner and considered a draft Memorandum of Understanding to be used as a basis for entering a limited partnership agreement, but they never signed the memorandum. Jarad Ex. 12. The hearing sessions in this proceeding began October 22, 1984, I.D., para. 3, and Westplex finally completed the process of having its partners execute a limited partnership agreement on November 8, but did not produce this document until July 14, 1986. Westplex Errata to Opp. to Jarad Contingent Mot. to Reopen the Record and Enlarge Issues, filed July 14, 1986, Appendix A at 36, 40.

29. In Houston Family TV, Ltd., 101 FCC 2d 661, 668 (Rev. Bd. 1985), we recently held:

> "Oral understandings, stock options, and other inchoate ownership arrangements, until finalized, simply do not provide the type of 'reasonable assurance' that Bradley, Hand and Triplett, [89 FCC 2d 657, 662 (Rev. Bd. 1982).] requires as an underpinning for ownership integration credit. To rule otherwise would permit a corporate applicant to hypothesize a formidable integration proposal in its application, sans any binding > ownership commitment, and then try to scare off comparative competition. If, as in the instant proceeding, its application appeared likely to prevail, it could demand stock subscriptions and purchases; on the other hand, if it came a cropper, the putative integrated principals could bail out without making any investment. The Commission cannot countenance such integration gamesmanship. A timely binding subscription agreement is the minimum price of admission for quantitative ownership integration credit."

Precisely the same considerations apply here. The limited partnership form is a malleable vehicle that can transmute a given ownership equity structure into a radically different and much more favorable ownership integration structure. Until a binding limited partnership agreement is signed, the applicant's structure is as inchoate as any other "oral understanding." Therefore, we hold that, for Westplex, the "minimum price of admission for quantitative ownership integration credit" was a binding, detailed limited partnership agreement submitted by the time set by the presiding officer for the exchange of integration proposals.[8] See id. at 667. Westplex clearly failed this test; accordingly, it will be awarded no integration credit.[9]

30. NSB. The ALJ credited NSB for the 100% full-time integration of Gerald T. Reilly, 51% general partner, as general manager of the proposed station; Joel Mahan, 24.5% general partner, as programming manager; and Leonard Yam, 24.5% general partner, as assistant general manager who will direct community relations matters. The proposal was qualitatively enhanced by 100% credit for the broadcast experience of the three principals and 49% minority ownership credit for Mahan and Yam. In addition, NSB was charged wit a very slight demerit because Mr. Reilly is general sales manager for a low power television (LPTV) station licensed to Plainview, Long Island, and did not state that he would leave that position if the NSB application were granted. I.D., paras. 73-83, 180-182, 204-205.

31. In its exceptions, NSB avers that the ALJ erred in assigning it a diversification demerit because its failure to state that Mr. Reilly would terminate his current LPTV position was "unwitting" and "an inadvertent oversight." NSB Br. at 90. It also claims that the ALJ awarded it insufficient qualitative enhancement credit under the integration factor. Specifically, it states that, despite the "51/24.5/24.5 split" among the three partners in case of a liquidation of NSB, they are "equal general partners" with respect to "their financial interest and liability in the station as a going concern" and in terms of their "legal responsibility while they operate the station." Id. at 10. Asking that we view each general partner as having one-third control of NSB, the applicant seeks 66.7% minority ownership credit for Mahan and Yam, local residence credit of 100%, and civic participation credit of 66.7%. Id. at 10-13.

32. We shall first address NSB's integration exceptions. We disagree that NSB has adequately shown that each of its partners has one third control and that therefore it should be awarded 66.7% minority ownership enhancement credit. In its application, NSB stated its ownership to be, Reilly 51%, Yam 24.5%, Mahan 24.5%, and this representation was carried forward in its hearing exhibit no. 2, where it stated that "the ownership terms of the general partnership are as follows: Reilly 51%, Mahan 24.5%, Yam 24.5%." In view of these express representations, we cannot now allow the applicant to attempt to rely exclusively on its oral hearing testimony, which is at variance not only with its application but also with its written hearing exhibit, to bolster its enhancement position. In WHW

Enterprises Inc., 89 FCC 2d 799, 816 (Rev. Bd. 1982) (subsequent history omitted), we looked to voting control as spelled out in the partnership agreement to determine integration credit. Consistent with that approach, the ALJ here relied on the written evidence put forth by the applicant to support his analysis. We concur.

33. As the ALJ recognized, Mr. Yam resided in Westbury, New York, from 1970 through 1981, and since 1981 has resided in Elmhurst. I.D., para. 80; NSB Ex. 4 at 2. Both Westbury and Elmhurst lie within the proposed service area, see Westplex Ex. 6 at 2, and therefore NSB is certainly entitled to 24.5% credit for long-term service area residence. Mr. Reilly resided in the service area from birth until the age of three or four, attended college there, and has for the past two years worked but not resided within the service area. I.D., para. 80; Tr. 1503. We recognize a slight credit for Mr. Reilly's tenuous connection with the service area, but find it to be a substantially less important nexus than the long-term and current service area residence of Jarad's Mr. Morey. Service area residence which occurs during the earliest years of life, when one's cognitive abilities are just beginning to grow, does little to significantly further one's knowledge of, or appreciation for, the needs and problems of the service area - the very purpose for which the Commission recognizes local residence as an enhancing attribute. See Policy Statement, supra, 1 FCC 2d at 395-396. Finally, Mr. Mahan's connection with the service area stems from and apparently ends with, his attending college there. I.D., para. 83; NSB Exs. 5, 5A; see NSB Br. at 12, and deserves a slight credit. After weighing the 24.5% long-term service area residence credit for Mr. Yam plus the slight credits for Reilly and Mahan against the 100% long-term service area residence credit for Mr. Yam plus the slight credits for Reilly and Mahan against the 100% long-term service area residence of Jarad's Mr. Morey, we award Jarad a substantial preference over NSB under the local residence enhancement factor.[10]

34. Next, we find NSB's claim for civic participation credit for Yam and Mahan to be weak. Basically, NSB claims that while attending college, Mr. Yam "was involved in broadcasting activities, including shows dealing with political and civic affairs." NSB Br. at 11. Likewise, Mr. Mahon became acquainted with - but did not join or participate in - community organizations, as part of his collegiate experience at the campus radio station and an area cable television company. Id.at 12. These activities appear to have been incidental to their work experiences and, in any event, were too tenuous to receive significant credit. In our view, Jarad merits at least a moderate preference over NSB for civic participation.

35. We also point out that, although the ALJ awarded both Jarad and NSB 100% credit for broadcast experience, Jarad has a qualitative edge here too. NSB's Mr. Reilly has been general sales manager of an LPTV station since April 1984 and was an account executive in sales for a radio station from August 1983 until February 1984. I.D., para. 81. From 1982 to 1984, he was employed part-time to locate LPTV stations for Bogner Broadcasting and to negotiate their purchase and construction. Id. Mr. Yam's total broadcast experience occurred while at college at the campus radio station and during two 3-month internships with New York City radio stations, involving two or three days a week. Id., para. 82. Mr. Mahan's broadcast experience also began at his campus radio station and has involved part-time positions at Cablevision from January to May 1981, and at NBC in New York, since September 1984. Id., para. 83. Thus, the broadcast experience of NSB's principals is relatively short in duration and predominantly part-time or college-related. By contrast, Jarad's Mr. Morey has been involved with broadcasting since 1964, although predominantly as an announcer. Id., paras. 16-17. Therefore, Jarad merits at least a slight preference for broadcast experience. Although NSB would have a substantial minority ownership preference for a 49% to 0% advantage (but see para. 7, supra), that preference would be fully counterbalanced by Jarad's substantial local residence preference. See Radio Jonesboro, supra. 100 FCC 2d at 945. Jarad, having additionally at least moderate civic participation and slight broadcast experience preferences, is entitled to a slight, but decisive, overall integration preference over NSB. See id., 96 FCC 2d 1106, 1112 (Rev. Bd. 1984), aff'd, 100 FCC 2d 941, 948 (1985).

36. We also deny NSB's diversification exception. NSB does not dispute that it revealed that Mr. Reilly would resign his general sales manager position at a nearby LPTV station after the "B" cut-off date in this proceeding. Accordingly, because its divestiture announcement came too late, a very slight diversification demerit was properly assessed against it. See Reginald A. Fessenden Educational Fund, Inc., 100 FCC 2d 440, 446 (Rev. Bd. 1985), review denied, 59 RR 2d 1267 (1986).

37. DVI. The ALJ found that although neither DVI nor its sole stockholder, Byron E. Lewis, has any ownership interest in other broadcast stations, it must nevertheless be assessed a slight diversification demerit because Mr. Lewis is a 51% stockholder in Uniworld Group, Inc.

(Uniworld), a New York City-based marketing company. Uniworld, which serves at times as a conventional advertising agency, placed $20 million in advertising in the last year and has bought time from broadcast stations whose signals cover DVI's proposed service area. Mr. Lewis does not propose to divest his ownership interest in Uniworld. I.D., paras. 85-90, 97, 183. With respect to the integration factor, the ALJ found that although Mr. Lewis proposed to devote 40 or more hours per week as full-time general manager of DVI's proposed station, he would not be able to effectuate this full-time promise in light of other commitments to work 20 hours per week at Uniworld and to continue to devote 10 hours per week to another DVI business venture aimed at developing the Harlem district of New York City as a tourist and cultural center. The ALJ therefore awarded DVI 100% part-time credit. Id., paras. 91-93, 184-185. DVI also received qualitative enhancement credit for Mr. Lewis' past long-term service area residence, proposed future local residence, civic participation, and minority status, as well as a slight credit for Mr. Lewis' familiarity with radio station production operations. Id., paras. 94-96, 186.

38. In its exceptions, DVI argues that it should have been awarded 100% full-time integration credit because Mr. Lewis' testimony allegedly shows that he will be able to effectuate his full-time proposal by reducing the time he typically spends on outside interests to 4-5 hours per week and, even under extreme circumstances, he would devote no more than 20 hours a week to outside activities, DVI Br. at 4-14. We deny this exception.

39. Mr. Lewis is, and intends to maintain his position as Chairman, Chief Executive Officer (CEO), and majority stockholder of Uniworld. DVI Exh. 1 at 1;

Tr. 2056-2057, 2077. Although he indicated in pre-hearing answers to interrogatories that he would discontinue his positions as Chairman and CEO, he testified at hearing (Tr. 2077) as follows:

> "I reassessed my position. I thought about having built the company for 15 years with my sweat and I believed that there was an easy opportunity to maintain my position as chairman. [CEO] with my control of the company and also have more than enough time to work at the radio station."

This change of heart is quite understandable, given that Uniworld is a substantial business which employs some 45 individuals, places approximately $20 million a year in advertising, and earns about $3 million in fees per annum. Tr. 2030, 2167-2169. In order to reduce his Uniworld activities, which then require significantly more than 40 hours per week of his time, Lewis had, approximately a year ago, hired a president to run Uniworld's day-to-day operations; nevertheless, he has continued to work a full 40-hour week at Uniworld. DVI Exh. 1 at 1; Tr. 2040-2051. Lewis is the person in charge at Uniworld, having hired the company's president and key employees with whom he maintains daily contact. Tr. 2040-2051. He fired the former president because "he couldn't do the job." Tr. 2066.

40. To further reduce his future time commitment to Uniworld to "no more than 20 hours per week," DVI Exh. 1 at 1, Mr. Lewis hopes and anticipates that the management team he has assembled will be able to handle Uniworld's admittedly "volatile" business, enabling him to spend as little as 7-8 hours per week (including a weekly 4-5 hour executive committee meeting) at Uniworld. Tr. 2057-2066. He testified that in case of very serious financial difficulty at Uniworld, he might have to spend 10 or 15 hours a week there. Tr. 2063. However, when asked whether he could foresee any situations in which he might have to spend more than 20 hours a week at Uniworld, he responded: "The only likelihood would be the extreme catastrophe [i.e., very serious financial difficulty] that was mentioned before." Tr. 2078. Nevertheless, he expects to work at the proposed station at least 40 hours a week because he has a "commitment" to do so. Tr. 2161-2164.

41. Also. Uniworld advertises in Credits, which is a magazine distributed to CEO's of major corporations, that Mr. Lewis personally is "closely involved with all of the agency's accounts." Tr. 2115-2126. This advertisement was based on information supplied by Mr. Lewis, who also claimed that the statement is accurate and will remain so. Id. However, he further explained that the statement was not intended to mean that he is involved daily with the accounts, but only that he personally knows many of the clients' key people and knows "what is going on" at these companies. Id.

42. What clearly emerges from the record evidence cited above is that Uniworld is a substantial business whose creation and success has been significantly due to Mr. Lewis' efforts. He has an important financial and personal interest in Uniworld, will continue to oversee the company regardless of whether DVI obtains the proposed station, and will take whatever steps are needed to assure Uniworld's success. The ALJ was manifestly correct in finding that Mr. Lewis' future time commitment to Uniworld would not involve less than 20 hours per week, especially in view of his written testimony that stated only that "he will devote no more than 20 hours per week" to Uniworld. DVI Exh. 1 at 1. See Caldwell Broadcasting Corp., 100 FCC 2d 115, 125 n. 11 (Rev. Bd. 1985) (commitment expressed in terms of a range of time should be narrowly construed against the applicant), rev. denied, FCC 86-245, released May 15, 1986; Midwest Broadcasting Co., 70 FCC 2d 1489, 1495 n. 11 (Rev. Bd. 1979), rev. denied, FCC 79-397, June 21, 1979. In addition, Mr. Lewis' oral testimony that he actually would work fewer than 20 hours per week at Uniworld was not unequivocal. Compare Tr. 2078 with Tr. 2057-2066.

43. Also, it is undisputed that Mr. Lewis, as part of another DVI business project, has been devoting and will continue to devote, 10 hours per week to promoting the development of a tourism program in the Harlem district of Manhattan. Tr. 2094-2102. Therefore, Mr. Lewis' overall proposal is exactly what the ALJ considered it to be: 20 hours per week at Uniworld in Manhattan, 10 hours per week to the Harlem tourism project, and 40 hours per week to the proposed broadcast station in Garden City, i.e., a total work week of at least 70 hours. See I.D., para. 184. Also, the ALJ properly noted that the trip between Garden City and Manhattan is significant in terms of distance and traffic congestion. Id.

44. In sum, Mr. Lewis' total time commitment to his various business interests, including commuting time, exceeds the 70-hour per week demarcation of the "outer limits of credibility," Northern Sun Corp., 100 FCC 2d 889, 892 (Rev. Bd. 1985), recon, Denied, 100 FCC 2d 1440, rev. denied, FCC 86-135, released March 28, 1986; see also Caldwell Broadcasting Corp., supra, 100 FCC 2d at 125: Radio Jonesboro, Inc., 96 FCC 2d 1106, 1108 (Rev. Bd. 1984), Rev. denied, 100 FCC 2d 941 (1985). We find that, despite his stated intention to work full time at the station, Mr. Lewis' commitments to other business ventures are too major an undertaking to warrant our complete confidence that he would regularly maintain a full-time, 40-hour per week, work schedule at the station. See Berryville Broadcasting Co., 70 FCC 2d 1, 8-12, 12-13 (Rev. Bd. 1978) (two integration proposals, one involving a 70-hour work week including commuting time, and the other involving 61-71 hours a week in addition to drive time, discounted completely): see also Washington's Christian TV Outreach, 99 FCC 2d 395, 417-418 (Rev. Bd. 1984); Blancett Broadcasting Co., 17 FCC 2d 227, 230 (Rev. Bd. 1969). Nevertheless, the ALJ's conclusion that DVI should be accorded part-time credit, which is tantamount to a 20-hour per week commitment to station management, appears reasonable based on the record evidence in this case. But even were DVI accorded 100% "substantial time" credit, which is the type of credit applicable to 30-hour per week integration proposals, Webster-Baker Broadcasting Co., 88 FCC 2d 944, 953 (Rev. Bd. 1982), rev. dismissed, FCC 821-23, released November 18, 1982, and which is the very most credit we could possibly award here, DVI's integration proposal would still be decisionally behind Jarad's 100% full-time proposal. This is because "[t]o the extent that the time spent moves away from full time, the credit given will drop sharply," Policy Statement on Comparative Broadcast Hearings, 1 FCC 2d 393, 395 (1965), and, consequently, full-time integration is "disproportionately superior" to substantial (30-hour per week) integration. Webster-²Baker Broadcasting, supra, 88 FCC 2d at 956: see also Big Bend Broadcasters, 96 FCC 2d 166, 170 (Rev. Bd. 1983); Tele-Broadcasters of California, Inc., 58 RR 2d 223, 232-233 (Rev. Bd. 1985). The resultant clear quantitative difference between the Jarad and DVI integration proposals cannot be overcome by differences in their qualitative attributes. See Van Buren Community Service, 87 FCC 2d 1018, 1022 (Rev. Bd. 1981).[11]

45. WINK. The ALJ found that WINK has no attributable media ownership interests. I.D., para. 187. He awarded WINK 100% full-time credit for the proposed integration of Ronald E. and Winifred C. Graiff, who are husband and wife and who are each 50% owners of WINK, as general manager and station manager, respectively, of the proposed station. Id., paras. 102-104, 188, 205. WINK's integration proposal is qualitatively enhanced by Mrs. Graiff's past long-term service area residence (from 1948 until March 1973). Mr. Graiff's past short-term service area residence (from late 1969 until March 1973), their promise to relocate to Garden City if WINK's application is granted. id., para. 105, 188; Mrs. Graiff's civic participation within the service area, id., paras. 106, 188; and Mr. Graiff's broadcast experience since 1964, id., paras. 107, 188. (The ALJ also awarded WINK 50% female ownership enhancement credit for Mrs. Graiff's participation, id., para. 188, which will disregard. See para. 7, supra and Talleyrand Broadcasting, supra.) Finally, although the ALJ recognized that WINK's service area included 6,523,797 people compared to 5,350,585 for the other applicants, he did not award WINK a comparative coverage preference because all covered areas already received service from 18 FM stations and 5 AM stations, and thus were well-served. Id., paras. 10-11, 167.

46. In its exceptions, WINK correctly points out (Br. at 8-10) that, based upon its proposed service to about 1.2 million additional well-served people, it should have been awarded a slight comparative coverage preference. See Barton Broadcasting Co., 60 RR 2d 322, 326-327 (Rev. Bd. 1986) (slight preferences are awarded to applicants having substantial overall coverage advantages where the entire service areas are well-served), and cases

cited therein.[12]

47. WINK also excepts (Br. at 34-38) to the ALJ's denial of its motion to enlarge issues, filed on May 17, 1984, insofar as it sought the addition of a comparative programming issue, Memorandum Opinion and Order, FCC 84M-2853, released June 25, 1984. The ALJ fully considered this motion and held that WINK filed to specifically allege facts showing a substantial or material difference in quality between the respective programming proposals of WINK and the other applicants. Id., para. 4. WINK's exception indicates only that it will respond in a typical way to community needs but fails to make a prima facie showing of "superior devotion to public service." See Chapman Radio and Television Co., 7 FCC 2d 213, 214 (1967). Because WINK's exception fails to present a "clear showing of error." RKO General, Inc. (KHJ-TV), 8 FCC 2d 880, 882 (1967), we affirm the ALJ's ruling.

48. In sum, WINK's comparative showing consists of its absence of any diversification demerit, its slight comparative coverage preference, and its 100% full-time quantitative integration credit with appropriate enhancements. In comparison with front-runner Jarad, WINK is decidedly qualitatively inferior with respect to local residence, civic participation, and broadcast experience. First, as to local residence we must weigh Jarad's 100% credit is both larger than WINK's and is for current civic participation whereas WINK's 50% credit represents civic activities within the service area which apparently ceased with Mrs. Graiff's move from the service area in 1973. See Radio Jonesbodo, Inc., 96 FCC 2d 1106, 1109-1110 (Rev. Bd. 1984), aff'd, 100 FCC 2d 941, 947 n. 16 (1985); Northern Sun, supra, 100 FCC 2d at 892-893. Finally, Jarad's 100% credit for long-term broadcast experience significantly exeeds WINK's 50% credit.

49. Thus, Jarad is significantly ahead of WINK in each of these three qualitative enhancement categories. Even if the 50% female ownership enhancement credit awarded WINK by the ALJ were considered, see paras. 25, 45 and para. 7, supra that credit would still be solidly outweighed by Jarad's significant advantages. See Reginald A. Fessenden Educational Fund, Inc., supra. 100 FCC 2d at 454-455. Therefore, we award Jarad a slight overall integration preference over WINK, see Radio Jonesboro, supra, 96 FCC 2d at 1112, which in turn outweighs WINK's slight comparative coverage preference, see Cannon's Point Broadcasting Co., 93 FCC 2d 643, 656 (Rev. Bd. 1983) (integration factor is normally more important than comparative coverage) (subsequent history omitted) and therefore places Jarad ahead of WINK in the overall comparative analysis. See also Barton Broadcasting, supra, 60 RR 2d at 326-327 (winner preferred in three integration enhancement factors whereas loser preferred in only coverage to well-served areas); Northern Sun, supra, 100 FCC 2d at 894-895.

50. Fonic. The ALJ credited Fonic with 76% full-time integration for the proposed station management participation of owners Christina Mamos (52% partner) and Teddy Savalas (24% partner) as general manager and station manager, respectively. Because a third partner, Telly Savalas (24%), is not proposed to be integrated into station management, no corresponding credit was awarded. I.D., paras. 109, 111, 115, 119, 190. Fonic has filed a makeweight exception seeking an additional 24% integration credit based on the beneficial effect on station performance it speculates will result from Telly Savalas' ownership association with the station. Fonic Br. at 4-9. It does not, however, except to the ALJ's findings that Telly Savalas will not be integrated into station management. Accordingly, we deny its exception as contrary to long-established Commission policy. See Policy Statement, supra. 1 FCC 2d at 395-396; e.g., Georga Mountain Corp., 57 RR 2d 1020, 1024 (Rev. Bd. 1985), rev. Denied, FCC 85-559, released October 18, 1985. With only 76% full-time credit, Fonic is decisionally behind Jarad which has been credited with 100% integration. See Vacationland Broadcasting Corp., 97 FCC 2d 485, 495 (Rev. Bd. 1984) (subsequent history omitted).

51. McComas. The ALJ assessed a very slight diversification demerit against McComas because its sold stockholder, James P. Miro, has an 8% interest in an AM broadcast station at San Juan, Puerto Rico. I.D., paras. 159, 161, 200. McComas also received 100% full-time integration credit for Mr. Miro's proposed role as general manager of the station. Id. paras. 162, 201, 205. In its exceptions, McComas urges that the San Juan station should be regarded as a de minimis interest and, therefore, it should not receive any diversification demerit. We disagree. The Commission considers media interests in distant radio stations as relevant to the diversification factor, CJL Broadcasting, Inc., 95 FCC 2d 544, 549 (1983); Joseph Bahr, 92 FCC 2d 114 (Rev. Bd. 1982), and, after considering McComas' argument that San Juan is well served by other media and that the proposed station is an FM station whereas the extant San Juan station is an AM station, we conclude that the ALJ's assessment of a very slight demerit against McComas was reasonable.

52. More significantly, Westplex has pointed out in its exceptions (Br. at 43) that McComas filed on January 9, 1986 a post-hearing statement that Mr. Miro "is in Puerto Rico, preparing to enter into active service with the Marine Corps for a six-year term of duty." At oral argument, McComas' counsel conceded that Mr. Miro was commissioned as a Marine Corps officer on December 12, 1985 and will be on active duty for at least 3 years, and more probably 6 years. Tr. of Oral Argument at 3642. Because it therefore appears that Mr. Miro will not be available to fulfill his managerial commitment to the proposed station for quite some time, we must withhold awarding McComas any integration credit whatsoever. See Voca Intersectario Verdad America, Inc., 100 FCC 2d 1607, 1614-1615 (Rev. Bd. 1985), and cases cited therein; cf. Houston Family TV, supra, 101 FCC 2d at 668 ("reasonable assurance" is required before integration proposal can be credited). Accordingly, McComas finishes very low in the comparative analysis, and its remaining exceptions are non-decisional.

53. Comparative Summary. After considering all decisionally significant exceptions, we have found that Jarad, with 100% quantitative integration credit enhanced by 100% qualitative credits for local residence, civic participation, and broadcast experience, is comparatively the best applicant in this proceeding. Close behind with essentially equal quantitative credit, but lesser qualitative enhancements, are WINK, which also has a less important edge for greater coverage of well-served areas, and GCB. NSB, which also trails Jarad on qualitative integration, received a very slight diversification demerit. The remaining applicants finished much further down in the pack. We therefore conclude that a grant of the Jarad application will best serve the public interest, convenience, and necessity.[13]

54. ACCORDINGLY, IT IS ORDERED, That the Petitions for leave to amend filed on May 14 and June 27, 1986 by Garden City Broadcasting, Inc. and Westplex Broadcasting Company, respectively, ARE GRANTED and the amendments ARE ACCEPTED:[14]

55. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, That the contingent motions to reopen the record and enlarge issues filed on June 26 and 27, 1986 by Jarad Broadcasting Company, Inc. ARE DISMISSED.[15]

56. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED. That the motions to strike filed May 20 and July 30, 1986 by Westplex Broadcasting Company and Jarad Broadcasting Company, Inc., respectively, ARE DENIED; and

57. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED. That the application of Jarad Broadcasting Company, Inc. (File No. BPH-830325AC) for authority to construct and operate a new FM broadcast station at Garden City. New York IS GRANTED, the application of Mid-Island Broadcasting, Inc. (File No. BPH-830714AK)

IS DISMISSED, and the applications of Spectron Broadcasting Corporation (File No. BPH-830516AK), Garden City Broadcasting, Inc. (File No. BPH-830713AO). Westplex Broadcasting Company (File No. BPH-830714AE), North Shore Broadcasting (File No. BPH-830714AF), December Ventures, Inc. (File No. BPH-830714AG), WINK Radio, Inc. (File No. BPH-830714AH0, Fonic Broadcasting Co. (File No. BPH-830714AI), and McComas Broadcasting Corporation (File No. BPH-830714BF) ARE DENIED.

[1]Previously, the Commission denied the application for renewal of the WLIR(FM) license, filed by Stereo Broadcasters, Inc., because the licensee had "unlawfully transferred control of [the] station...without Commission authorization, made misrepresentations, and lacked candor about the incident. Stereo ha[d] also committed serious misrepresentations in connection with violations of [the Commission's] technical rules, some of the violations being willful." Stereo Broadcasters, Inc., 87 FCC 2d 87, 117 (1981), recon. denied, 50 RR 2d 1346 (1982). Since January 10, 1983, and pursuant to a Commission grant of Special Temporary Authority, Phoenix Media Corp. has broadcast from the WLIR(FM) facilities. Phoenix Media Corp., FCC 86-268, released May 28, 1986, at para. 2. Although, following a comparative hearing, Long Island Radio Communications, Inc. had been granted interim authority to operate the WLIR(FM) facilities, Phoenix Media Corp., 56 RR 2d 1241 (Rev. Bd. 1984), review denied, FCC 85-435, released August 6, 1985, the Commission has since stayed that grant and has authorized Phoenix Media to continue operating pending further action by the Commission. FCC 86-268, supra.

[2]Three other applications, those of Women's Long Island Radio, Inc., Mid-Island Broadcasting, Inc., and Hempstead Broadcasting Corporation, were originally designated in the HDO. The Initial Decision denied the Mid-Island Broadcasting application, and the applicant has not filed any exceptions: accordingly, we will dismiss that application for failure to prosecure. See 47 CFR 1.276(f). The other two applications were dismissed by the presiding officer for failure to prosecute. See Initial Decision at note 1.

[3]Exceptions have also been levied against the weight of Jarad's qualitative enhancement credits as they compare to those of the various other applicants. The ALJ properly credited Jarad with 100% credit for Mr. Morey's service area residence since 1977; for his limited civic participation as fundraising chairman for an area private school which his son attends and as a dues-paying member and yearly meeting attendant of the Brookville Taxpayers Association; and for his broadcast experience as a station announcer (1965-1974) and assistant director of programming (1971-1972) and broadcast-related experience as a free-lance "voice over" announcer (since 1975). I.D., paras. 15-17, 168, 205; Jarad Exh. 1. These qualitative enhancement factors need be weighed in our comparative summation, infra, against only those applicants, if any, for whom there is no "clear quantitative difference" between their quantitative integration credits and Jarad's 100% full-time credit. See, e.g. Vacationland Broadcasting Co., Inc. (WFTW-FM). 97 FCC 2d 489, 495 (Rev. Bd. 1984) (subsequent history omitted).

[4]This result makes it unnecessary to consider whether the ALJ erred procedurally in excluding proferred rebuttal evidence by the other applicants intended to discredit Mr. Morey's claim.

[5]Spectron did not formally amend its certificate of incorporation to permit the issuance of non-voting stock until Januar 10, 1985.

[6]Further details concerning the involvement of Mr. Galesi in the application will be discussed infra at paras. 19-20.

[7]We also note, although the parties have not argued this point, that Spectron's by-laws may be ambiguous as to the powers of voting versus non-voting shareholders. On the one hand, with regard to the power to elect a board of directors, the by-laws provide:

> Art. III, Sec. 1(b): Except as may otherwise be provided herein or in the Certificate of Incorporation, the members of the Board of Directors of the Corporation, who need not be shareholders, shall be elected by a majority of the votes cast at a meeting of the shareholders, by the holders of shares entitled to vote in the election.

Jared Ex. 7 at 4 (emphasis added). However, the by-laws section delinating voting rights at shareholders meetings provides to the contrary that:

> Art. I, Sec. 6(a): Except as provided by statute or by the Certificate of Incorporation, any corporate action, other than the election of directors to be taken by vote of the shareholders, shall be authorized by a majority of votes case...by the holders of shares entitled to vote therin.

Id. at 3 (emphasis added). If the "non-voting" shareholders do vote in board of directors elections, then we wonder what significant actions remain that would require the exclusive "vote" of the sole "voting" shareholder in a close corporation such as Spectron.

[8]This date was July 16, 1984, well before the date when all the Westplex partners signed the partnership agreement.

[9]This result obviates the need to reach exceptors' other contentions that Westplex has engaged in an unauthorized transfer of control or that its general partners cannot effectuate their proposals. We affirm, however, the ALJ's assessment of a very slight diversification demerit against it. We also note that denial of integration credit to Westplex could also be premised on that applicant's inadequate showing that its proposed limited partners were sufficiently insulated from management. Specifically, it appears from the record that the limited partners have been active throughout the application process in selecting communciations counsel, attending and participating in meetings, selecting the partnership form, and putting the group together. It also appears that the general partners did not meet together before the B cut-off date or ever in the absence of the limited partners. Thus, even had Westplex developed a timely written limited partnership understanding, the questionable bona fides of that agreement would have resulted in decisionally diminished integration credit.

[10]The magniture of this preference would be unaffected by any consideration of NSB's belated claim that its three partners would move to Garden City if the application were granted, see NSB Br. at 13, because proposed future local residence is insignificant in comparison to long-term service area residence. Talleyrand Broadcasting, supra, 103 FCC 2d at 480.

[11]We also deny DVI's exception to the slight diversification demerit assessed against it by the ALJ. See DVI Br. at 14-22. It is undisputed that DVI's sole stockholder, Mr. Lewis, owns 51% of Uniworld, which places advertising on broadcast stations that cover portions of DVI's proposed service area. Though advertising firms per se are not media of mass communciations, placement of advertisement on stations serving the area is relevant to the commission's diversification objectives. Berryville Broadcasting, supra, 70 FCC 2d at 15. While the size of DVI's demerit could conceivably be reduced to "very slight," we need not dwell on this matter in light of our above analysis of the integration factor, which is the decisive comparative element in this case.

[12] In view of our ultimate conclusion herein, see para. 49, infra; we need not reach Westplex's exception (Br. at 4-16) that the ALJ erred in adopting WINK's engineering exhibit rather than the competing applicants' joint engineering exhibit which shows WINK's population advantage to be only about 38,000 people.

[13] We agree with and adopt the ALJ's resolution of the main studio issue in favor of Spectron, I.D., paras. 4-8, 165-166. We need not address further the exceptions to this issue because of our ultimate conclusion herein. Also, we shal dismiss as moot Jarad's contingent motions to reopen the record and enlarge issues against Spectron and Westplex. Finally, we did not discuss auxiliary power, which was proposed by each applicant, id., para. 203, because we regard them as equal on this factor, cf. Big Bend Broadcasters, 96 FCC 2d 166, 172 (Rev. Bd. 1983), rev. denied, FCC 84-645, released December 26, 1948; and, in any event, this factor is entitled to only minor weight. Id.

[14] On May 7, 1986, Jarad filed comments on a petition for leave to amend allegedly filed by Spectron "on or about April 28, 1986." However, our search of Commission files reveals no such filing. Accordingly, we have no Spectron petition for leave to amend before us upon which to rule.

[15] A comment on Jarad's June 27, 1986, Contingent Motion to Re-open and Enlarge is appropriate. In light of our decision herein, it is not necessary to reach the merits of Jarad's allegations raised in its Motion. However, we note that Jarad has supplied copies of a "newspaper" article from the June 1986 issue of The Women's Record, as well as a press release dated April 28, 1986 on Spectron letterhead. The news article depicts Spectron's President, and former FCC attorney, Angela Shaw, sitting in front of broadcast studio equipment and describes her as "own[ing] and operat[ing] WLIR-FM, 92.7." The test of the article describes her as "general manager of L.I. radio station WLIR-FM." The press release, which was obviously prepared by Spectron, invites the public to attend a "gala celebration" to commemorate the award of "a permanent construction permit" to Spectron for "WLIR, 92.7 FM." Without passing on the merits of Jarad's unopposed allegations, we do note that such conduct is at the very least inappropriate.

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER

Adopted: December 16, 1986; Released December 23, 1986

1. The Review Board has under consideration the petitions for reconsideration filed on November 17, 1986

by Garden City Broadcasting, Inc. (GCB) and WINK Radio, Inc. (WINK) and GCB's motion to enlarge issues filed on the same date. In our Decision released October 16, 1986, 1 FCC Rcd 181, 61 RR 2d 389 (Rev. Bd. 1986) we granted the application of Jarad Broadcasting Company Inc. (Jarad) for permanent authority to construct an FM broadcast station to operate on Channel 224 at Garden City, New York, after finding Jarad's application to be comparatively superior. We shall deny the petitions for reconsideration because they seek merely to reargue matters already addressed and resolved in our Decision. That is, insofar as GCB and WINK both attack the Board's analysis of the qualitative enhancement factors supporting Jarad's integration preference, as well as our treatment of WINK's coverage advantage, these matters were fully considered at note 3 and paras. 23, 25, 46, 48-49, 53 of our Decision and will not be revisited. See WWIZ, Inc., 37 FCC 685, 686 (1984), aff'd sub nom. Lorain Journal Co. v. FCC, 351 F.2d 824 (D.C. Cir.) cert den., 383 U.S. 967 (1966); see also Clay Television, Inc. 98 FCC 2d 510 (Rev. Bd. 1984), rev. den., FCC 85-356, released July 12, 1985.

2. GCB's motion to enlarge issues seeks the specification of a misrepresentation issue against Jarad, and a reopening of the record in this proceeding, on the grounds that Jarad principal Ronald J. Morey misrepresented his claimed status as a member of a minority group (American Indian). We shall deny GCB's motion. First, the materials relied on by GCB to support its motion were available to it at the hearing; yet, it made no effort to seek enlargement of the issues at the time to explore any misrepresentation. Thus, its request now is incurably late. See Kaye-Smith Enterprises, 98 FCC 2d 675, 685-6, 56 RR 2d 252, 260 (Rev. Bd. 1984). Second, in our Decision, we awarded Jarad no minority enhancement credit because Jarad had failed to meet its burden of proving Mr. Morey's status as an Indian. 1 FCC Rcd at 182-183, 61 RR 2d at 398-399. Specifically, we stated in para. 10 of our Decision that "We do not hold that the record establishes that Morey is not an Indian but only that it does not establish that he is an Indian.: It does not automatically follow, however, that Mr. Morey's claim amounted to a misrepresentation or that he intended to mislead the Commission, and GCB has failed to demonstrate prima facie that an issue is warranted. No evidence whatever has been offered to show that Mr. Morey does not in fact believe that he is of Indian ancestry. See Garrett, Andrews and Letizia, Inc. 86 FCC 2d 1172, 1175-7, 49 RR 2d 1001, 1004-5 (Rev. Bd. 1981), aff'd in pertinent part, 88 FCC 2d 620, 50 RR 2d 802 (1981).

3. ACCORDINGLY, IT IS ORDERED, That the motion to accept late-filed reply filed on December 15, 1986 by WINK Radio, Inc. IS GRANTED, and the consolidated reply IS ACCEPTED: and

4. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, That the motions for certification and for expedited disposition filed on November 20 and 24, 1986 by Jarad Broadcasting Company, Inc. ARE DISMISSED as moot, and the petitions for reconsideration filed on November 17, 1986 by Garden City Broadcasting, Inc. and WINK Radio, Inc. and the motion to enlarge issues filed on November 17, 1986 by Garden City Broadcasting, Inc. ARE DENIED.

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER

Adopted: October 2, 1987; Released: October 5, 1987

By the Commission:

1. This proceeding involves mutually exclusive applications for a new FM broadcast station at Garden City, New York, to replace the deleted facilities of WLIR (FM). In a Decision, 1 FCC Rcd 181, recon. denied, 1 FCC Rcd 1267 (1986), the Review Board granted the application of Jarad Broadcasting Company (Jarad). Now before the Commission are Applications for Review filed November 17, 1986 by Spectron Broadcasting Corporation (Spectron), Westplex Broadcasting Company (Westplex), North Shore Broadcasting (North Shore), Fonic Broadcasting Co. (Fonic), and McComas Broadcasting Corporation (McComas); and on January 23, 1987, by Garden City Broadcasting, Inc. (GCB) and WINK Radio, Inc. (WINK); and a Contingent Application for Review, filed November 17, 1986 by Jarad. 1/ Also before the Commission are Joint Petitions for Approval of Settlement Agreements and for Prompt Resolution filed March 9, 1987 by Jarad, GCB, McComas, North Shore and WINK, and Supplemented on March 11, 1987 by Jarad; and filed July 10, 1987 by Fonic, Westplex and Jarad. 2/ On August 4, 1987 Jarad filed a Motion to Expedite, and it submitted Supplements thereto on September 22, 1987 and September 30, 1987. The Joint Petitions ask the Commission to approve the grant of Jarad's application, and the dismissal of the applications for review and the applications for construction permits filed by each of the remaining applicants, with the exception of Spectron. Thus, all of the remaining applicants, except Spectron, have entered into settlement agreements contingent upon our action on Spectron's Application for Review.

2. Spectron's Application for Review: Spectron fails to raise issued which would warrant modification of the Board's comparative evaluation of the applicants in this proceeding. Spectron, however, raises two matters which merit further comment. The Review Board dismissed a Contingent Motion to Reopen and Enlarge Issues, with respect to Spectron, filed June 27, 1986 by Jarad. The petition was predicated on a newspaper article and a press release on Spectron's letterhead distributed after the release of the Initial Decision, representing Spectron's principal as owning, operating and serving as general manager of Station WLIR (FM). Although the Board never ruled on the merits of the petition, it said "that such conduct is at the very least inappropriate." 1 FCC Rcd at 192 n.15. The Board's comment will be deleted because it is not based on record evidence. We disagree with Spectron that this statement constitutes prejudicial error, however. To the contrary, the Board's statement is not decisionally significant. Thus, our action herein is not predicated in any respect on Jarad's Contingent Motion to Reopen and Enlarge Issues.

3. On May 23, 1983, Spectron entered into a loan agreement, which provided that notes securing a loan to Spectron could be redeemable for either noting or non-voting stock. The notes actually executed were redeemable only for non-voting stock. The Board, nevertheless, held that the loan agreement diluted the control of Spectron's principal, Angela Shaw, over the applicant. Spectron argues that the Board failed to consider fully the fact that the notes as issued were only redeemable for preferred stock. The Board's decision does not adequately explain why the executed notes cannot be relied on to establish that they can only be redeemed for preferred stock.

We find this to be harmless error, however, for the notes are not decisionally significant in view of other aspects of the Board's Decision diminishing the integration credit awarded Spectron. See 1 FCC Rcd at 183-84 ¶ ¶14-18.

4. The Settlement Agreements: Spectron opposes the settlement agreements on the grounds that the dismissing applicants have filed for review; that the Commission cannot contingently ignore the comparative merits of their applications; and that the proposed settlement agreements, therefore, will not hasten the end of this litigation. Spectron's arguments are unsupported. The procedure requested here was specifically approved in Gilbert Broadcasting Corp., 91 FCC 2d 450 (1982). Gilbert was a four party proceeding, in which two of the applicants (Sound Radio, Inc. and Gilbert) entered into a settlement. The Commission approved the settlement and granted Sound's application, finding that it was comparatively superior to the two nonsettling applicants and that there was no need to consider Gilbert's comparative qualifications. 91 FCC 2d at 467. Spectron argues that Gilbert is inapposite, because in Gilbert, the Commission considered the comparative qualifications of the dismissing applicant. Spectron, however, misreads Gilbert. The language cited by Spectron, 91 FCC 2d at 464-65, is merely a summary of the ALJ's findings. There is nothing to indicate that the Commission otherwise relied on those findings in approving the settlement, and the decision explicitly states that Gilbert's comparative qualifications were not considered. Id at 468 n.58. No useful purpose would be served by considering applications for review filed by parties that are prepared to have their applications for review and their applications for construction permits dismissed. 3/

5. Contrary to Spectron's assertions, the settlement agreements will serve the public interest. They will result in the licensing of a qualified applicant, simplify the resolution of this proceeding, obviate consideration of the applications for review filed by the dismissing applicants, and facilitate the authorization of a permanent licensee of the Garden City FM station. The parties submitted copies of the settlement agreements and declarations from each party to the agreements certifying that their applications were not filed for the purpose of entering into or carrying out a settlement agreement. The Joint Petitions fully comply with the provisions of 47 U.S.C. §311(c) and 47 C.F.R. § 73.3525 which govern settlement agreements. Finally, having denied Spectron's Application for Review, it has no further rights with respect to this matter. In view of all these circumstances, the public interest will be served by a grant of the Joint Petitions and approval of the proposed settlement agreements.

6. ACCORDINGLY, IT IS ORDERED, That the Application for Review filed November 17, 1986 by Spectron Broadcasting Corporation IS GRANTED to the extent that the Board's Decision, 1 FCC Rcd 181 (1986), has been modified as reflected in paragraphs 2 and 3, supra and IS DENIED in all other respects.

7. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, That the Joint Petition for Approval of Settlement Agreements and for Prompt Resolution, filed March 9, 1987 by Jarad Broadcasting Company, Inc., Garden City Broadcasting, Inc., North Shore Broadcasting, WINK Radio, Inc., and McComas Broadcasting Corporation; and the Joint Petition for Approval of Additional Settlement Agreements and for Prompt Resolution filed by July 10, 1987 by Jarad

Broadcasting, Inc., Fonic Broadcasting Company and Westplex Broadcasting Company ARE GRANTED and the attached settlement agreements ARE APPROVED: and the Motion to Expedite filed August 4, 1986 by Jarad Broadcasting, Inc., IS DISMISSED as moot. 4/

8. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, That the Applications for Review, filed on November 17, 1986 by Westplex Broadcasting Company, North Shore Broadcasting, Fonic Broadcasting Co., and McComas Broadcasting Corporation, and on January 23, 1987 by Garden City Broadcasting, Inc. and WINK Radio, Inc.; the Contingent Application for Review filed November 17, 1986 by Jarad Broadcasting Company, Inc.; and the Motion to Strike Opposition to Application for Review, filed December 23, 1986 by McComas Broadcasting Corporation, ARE DISMISSED as moot.

9. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, That the Motion for Leave to File Supplement to Opposition filed April 8, 1987 by Spectron

Broadcasting Corporation IS GRANTED.

10. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, That the application filed by Jarad Broadcasting Company, Inc. (File No. BPH-830325AC) IS GRANTED; the application filed by Spectron Broadcasting Corporation (File No. BPH-830516AK) IS DENIED: and the applications filed by Garden City Broadcasting, Inc. (File No. BPH-830713AQ), Westplex Broadcasting Company (File No. BPH-830714AE), North Shore Broadcasting (File No. BPH-830714AF), WINK Radio, Inc. (File No. BPH830714AH), Fonic Broadcasting Co. (File No. BPH-830714AI) and McComas Broadcasting Corporation (File No. BP-0830714BF) ARE DISMISSED.

William J. Tricarico
Secretary

1/ Also before the Commission are oppositions filed December 2, 1986 by Jarad, GCB and Westplex, February 6, 1987 by WINK, and February 9, 1987 by Jarad, GCB and Westplex. On December 23, 1986, McComas moved to strike GCB's opposition, and on January 6, 1987, GCB filed an opposition to the motion to strike. On January 15, 1987, Jarad filed a Contingent Motion to Re-Open the Record and Enlarge Issued against Spectron, which will be dismissed as moot in light of our action herein. December Ventures, Inc. did not file an application for review and, therefore, the Board's denial of its application is final.

2/ Also under consideration are oppositions to the joint petition, filed April 1, 1987 by Fonic and April 7, 1987 by Spectron. On April 8, 1987, Spectron moved to supplement its opposition to the joint petition. Replies to the Oppositions were filed April 17, 1987 by Jarad. Since Fonic is now a party to the settlement agreement, its opposition is moot.

3/ Spectron also argues that the Joint Petitions should be denied because Spectron is not a party to the settlements and because of the alleged interest of Elton Spitzer in one of the applicant in this proceeding. Spitzer is a principal of Phoenix Media Corp., which is currently operating WLIR (FM) pursuant to a Special Temporary Authorization. Spectron argues that Spitzer has an interest in "one" of the parties to the settlement and that Jarad's failure to settle with Spectron is calculated to prolong the proceeding and thereby enable Spitzer to maintain his interim operation. Spectron's contentions are totally without merit. Having already concluded that Spectron's Application for Review should be denied, the fact that Spectron is not a party to the proposed settlements has no bearing on the question of whether approval of the agreements will serve the public interest. Spectron's contentions involving Elton Spitzer provide no facts indicating that he has an ownership interest in Jarad, or that he has a specific interest in any other applicant. Finally, Spectron's attempt to attribute misconduct to Jarad based on these allegations is rejected as being speculative and otherwise unsupported. Spectron has raised no substantial and material question of fact or any other matter warranting further consideration at this time.

4/ Consistent with the priority of other matters and the efficient disposition of the Commission's business, we have given expeditious consideration to the pleadings filed in this proceeding.

APPEAL FROM AN ORDER OF THE FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

BEFORE: STARR, WILLIAMS and SENTELLE,
Circuit Judges

J U D G M E N T

This cause came on to be heard on the notice of appeal from an order of the Federal Communications commission, and was argued by counsel. While the issues presented occasion no need for an opinion, they have been accorded full consideration by the Court. See D.C. Cir. R. 14(c). On consideration thereof, it is that the order of the Federal Communications Commission on appeal herein is hereby affirmed, for the reasons set forth in the accompanying memorandum. It is FURTHER ORDERED, by the Court, sua sponte that the Clerk shall withhold issuance of the mandate herein until seven days after disposition of any timely petition for rehearing. See D.C. Cir. R. 15 (August 1, 1987). This instruction to the Clerk is without prejudice to the right of any party at any time to move for expedited issuance of the mandate for good cause shown.

No. 87-1635 - Spectron Broadcasting Corp. v. Federal Communications Commission

MEMORANDUM

This is an appeal from the FCC's grant to Jarad Broadcasting Company of a permit to construct an FM radio station in Garden City, New York. Jarad's principal competitor, Spectron Broadcasting Corp., seeks to overturn the FCC's decision on a variety of grounds. The principal issue, however, is whether the FCC properly applied its long-standing policy with respect to integration of licensee ownership and station management. See Policy Statement on Comparative Broadcast Hearings, 1 F.C.C. 2d 393 (1965).

I

The FCC chooses among competing license applicants based upon two principal criteria: diversification of mass media control and best practicable service, the criterion at issue in this case. Id. at 394. The FCC evaluates applicants' service primarily upon their quantitative integration credit, an assessment which represents the "full time participation in station operation by owners." Id at 395. Certain attributes of participating owners -- e.g., residence in the community, belonging to a racial minority group, being female, having broadcast experience, and civic leadership -- may also lead to awards of qualitative enhancement credit; however, such qualitative assessments can be determinative only when proposals differ insignificantly in quantitative credit. See, e.g., New Continental Broadcasting Co., 88 F.C.C. 2d 830 (Review Board 1981), remanded on other grounds, 93 F.C.C. 2d 1275 (1983).

Partially in recognition of the difficulty of financing a license application and station, the Commission excludes truly passive investors from its integration calculation. Although the Commission usually refers to the applicant's legal structure to determine which owners will control the station (and thus be counted in the integration calculation), the FCC will focus instead on who actually controls the station's day-to-day operation if the record sufficiently indicates that control is inadequately reflected in the formal corporate organization. See KIST Corp., 102 F.C.C. 2d 288 (1985), aff'd sub nom. United Am. Telecasters, Inc. v. F.C.C., 801 F.2d 1436 (D.C. Cir. 1986)(table), cert. denied, 107 S. Ct. 2181 (1987); Signal Ministries, Inc., 104 F.C.C. 2d 1481 (Review Board 1986), aff'd sub nom. Adelphi Broadcasting Corp. v. F.C.C., 838 R.2d 571 (D.C. Cir. 1988)(table). It is the Commission's decision to look beyond Spectron's formal corporate structure (and the conclusions the FCC then reached) that is at issue in this case.

II

At the time of the exhibit exchange, Spectron's revised license application set forth a bifurcated capital structure. All voting stock (31 shares) was held by Angela Shaw, an attorney who had previously served on the staff of the FCC (then under the chairmanship of Benjamin Hooks). Initial Decision at 7, § 25, J.A. at 23; Brief for Appellant at 7. The nonvoting stockholders included: Roland Davis, a member of numerous minority and community organizations (owner of 22 of 64 shares of nonvoting stock); Briding Newell, a local resident involved extensively in civic activities (15 shares); Frances Hooks, spouse of the former FCC Chairman and a leader in the black community (5 shares); James Shuart, president of Hofstra University (2 shares); and LuNell Anderson (2 shares). Initial Decision at 8-10, ¶ ¶ 25, 27-31, J.A. at 24-26. To round out the ownership arrangements, Ms. Shaw holds 18 nonvoting shares, in addition to her voting shares. Id. at 7, ¶ 25, J.A. at 23. Shaw, Newell, Anderson, and Hooks are black women, and Davis is also black. Spectron Exhibit 1, at 2, J.A. at 579 (corrected supp. app.). Mr. Shaw proposed to work at the station full time; Mr. Davis, 10-2 hours per week; and Ms. Newell approximately 10 hours per week. Initial decision at 9-10, ¶ ¶ 28-30, J.A. at 25-26.

The Administrative Law Judge accepted this bifurcated corporate structure (and thus Ms. Shaw's sole controlling ownership of Spectron) and awarded Spectron 100 percent full-time integration credit. Id at 43, ¶ 205, J.A. at 59. Based upon Ms. Shaw's background, the ALJ awarded Spectron 100 percent qualitative enhancement credit for past and future local residence; civic participation; minority ownership; female ownership; and some broadcast experience. Id. Although the ALJ awarded several other applicants (including Jarad) 100 percent full-time integration credit and various enhancement credits, he favored Spectron's application because of its superior qualitative enhancements. Id at 44, ¶ 206, J.A. at 60.

Faced with various exceptions to the Initial Decision, the Review Board diminished Spectron's integration credit and awarded the license to Jarad, the runner-up in the Initial Decision. Decision, 1 F.C.C. Rcd at 185, 190, ¶ ¶ 21, 58, J.A. at 65, 70. The Review Board based its integration calculation upon actual control of the station as shown in the record, rather than the formal division of voting from nonvoting stock. In particular, the Review Board relied upon the undisputed testimony that two of the nonvoting stockholders (Mr. Davis and Ms. Newell) would devote significant time to directing the stations' operation and policies. Id at 184, ¶ 18, J.A. at 64. Specifically, under Spectron's proposed organization, Mr. Davis and Ms. Newell would join Ms. Shaw in serving on the station's board of directors, with each person having one vote. In addition, both would "be active in managing the station on a daily basis through their participation on three policy-making committeed." Id. at 185, ¶ 21, J.A. at 65. The Review Board focused in part upon Mr. Davis's promise to devote 10-20 hours per week, and Ms. Newell's to devote approximately 10 hours per week, to management and policy-making functions. Id. at 184, ¶ 18, J.A. at 64.

Although the Review Board considered the foregoing involvement a "sufficient" basis for reducing the integration credit, id., Ms. Shaw's testimony about the nature of her application and extent of control over the company was seen by the Board as buttressing its finding that she would not in fact wield exclusive control. Id at 183-184, ¶ ¶ 14-16, J.A. at 63-64. The eleventh-hour creation of a separate class of stock, the lack of independent business reason to separate voting from nonvoting stock, and the participation of nonvoting members in the development of the application, the Board reasoned, further confirmed its conclusion that Ms. Shaw did not sufficiently retain sole control over Spectron and that the Board should therefore disregard Spectron's formal corporate structure. Id. at 184, ¶ ¶ 16-17, J.A. at 64.

Based on these findings, the Review Board held that Spectron's formal corporate structure did not reflect "where true ownership and control rests." Id at 185, ¶ 21, J.A. at 65. Having found that nonvoting stockholders would participate significantly in Spectron's management and control, the Board concluded that the applicant was not entitled to the 100 percent integration credit based upon Ms. Shaw's sole control and proposed full-time work. The Board declined to decide whether Spectron was entitled to full-time integration credit reflecting only Ms. Shaw's equity holdings (52 percent) or to no credit at all (the amount which would be due an unreliable proposal), but simply concluded that "Spectron is not entitled to credit approaching the 100 percent awarded to other applicants, and is, in essence, eliminated from further comparative contention." Id. The Review Board later denied motions for reconsideration of its Decision. Jarad Broadcasting Co., 1 F.C.C. Rcd at 1267.

Upon application for review, the Commission upheld the Review Board's disposition. Jarad Broadcasting Co., 2

F.C.C. Rcd at 6080-81, ¶ ¶ 2, 10, J.A. at 76, 78. The Commission directed that the Review Board's Decision be modified to omit one comment about Spectron's behavior and one basis for disregarding the applicant's formal legal structure in awarding integration credit. Id at 6080-81, ¶ ¶ 2-3, J.A. at 76-77. The FCC deemed both of these mistakes harmless error. Id.

III

On the principal issue, we are satisfied that the FCC correctly applied its well-settled policies with respect to integration. On this record, the Commission could reasonably conclude that two nonvoting shareholders (Newell and Davis) would in fact share with Ms. Shaw significant responsibility in the actual management and operation of the proposed station. In particular, the Commission justifiably relied on the findings that both Ms. Newell and Mr. Davis would, first, each spend at least 10 hours per week involved in station affairs; second, serve on committees with significant responsibilities for shaping basic station policies and operation; and, third, actively participate in management affairs as members of the three-person board of directors. See Decision, 1 F.C.C. Rcd at 184-185, ¶ ¶ 18, 21, J.A. at 64-65. The Commission's additional stated grounds for its decision further justify its disposition. See id. at 183-184, ¶ ¶ 14-17, J.A. at 63-64.

In view of these findings, prior cases fully support the Commission's holding. The Commission's integration policy calls for the FCC to disregard truly passive investors who exercise no significant control over the applicant. See Anax Broadcasting, Inc., 87 F.C.C. 2d 483 (1981); Bradley, Hand, and Triplett, 89 F.C.C. 2d 657 (Review Board 1982). The Commission also looks beyond the applicant's formal corporate structure to determine actual control of the applicant when circumstances warrant. See KIST CORP., 102 F.C.C. 2d at 290-293; Signal Ministries, Inc., 104 F.C.C. 2d at 1494-97. The Commission "will not hesitate to discredit the integration proposals of applicants where [it is] presented with convincing evidence that limited partners or non-voting shareholders are or will be in fact exercising influence or control over the ongoing business." Victory Media, Inc., 3 F.C.C. Rcd 2073, 1074-75 (1988).

We can find no relevant distinction between the Commission's action or reasoning in this case and its reasoning and disposition in Signal Ministries, 104 F.C.C. 2d at 1481, and cases relied on in that decision. In Signal Ministries, the nonvoting stockholders had, among other things, significantly participated in discussions of corporate affairs and planned to assume prominent policy-setting and day-to-day management roles at the station. Id at 1495. The Review Board disregarded the formal corporate structure and extended its integration analysis beyond voting shareholders because "the participation, both past and proposed, of the non-voting shareholders is so thoroughly intertwined with the participation of the voting stockholders." Id at 1496. Based upon a proposed corporate structure which was at odds with the participation of nominally nonvoting shareholders, the Board in Signal Ministries reduced the integration credit at least by half. Id. at 1497. The Board also restricted the integration calculation to those shareholders proposed for credit before the "B" cutoff date. Id at 1496=97.

Spectron argues that the Commission's action here is quite different from that in Signal Ministries and is indeed inconsistent with two other commission decisions, namely Birmingham Family Television, Inc., 91 F.C.C. 2d 348 (Review Board 1982), and Greater Wichita Telecasting, Inc., 90 F.C.C. 2d 1046 (Review Board 1982), modified 96 F.C.C. 2d 984 (1984). Not so. Birmingham Family and Greater Wichita may bear upon whether equity owners who are involved in management less than full time might be entitled to residual integration credit, but neither case undermines the Commission's quantitative integration calculation, which is the dispositive issue in this case. Indeed, both cases are fully consistent with that disposition. Birmingham Family did deem local residence of eight (out of fifteen) directors worthy of "slight credit" of "minor significance.'" 91 F.C.C. 2d at 353 (quoting Policy Statement on Comparative Broadcast Hearings, 1 F.C.C. 2d at 396). But as to our case, any minority enhancement awarded by virtue of Ms. Newell's and Mr.

Davis's involvement, by analogy, would not affect the disposition of the case; indeed, the analogy buttresses the Commission's treatment of the dispositive issue to the extent it supports the conclusion that Ms. Newell and Mr. Davis were essentially participating owners. Birmingham Family also recognized that directors who (like Mr. Davis and Ms. Newell) would devote 10-20 hours per week on station work were not entitled to full-time or even part-time integration credit "because [they] will each spend insufficient time on station affairs." Id. (citing Midwest Broadcasting Co., 70 F.C.C. 2d 1489, 1495 (Review Board 1979).

Greater Wichita likewise provides no support for Spectron's position. Although appellant suggests that the Commission's denial of credit for involvement of passive investors in Greater Wichita conflicts with the Commission's actions in this case, Reply Brief for Appellant at 14-15, that is just not so. Because in Greater Wichita the formal corporate structure was not belied by who actually controlled the applicant and did not shield a contested integration proposal (indeed, the decision awarded no integration credit), the decision merely restates the general rule that truly passive investors are included in the integration calculation. That is, because the legal structure assured no integration credit which the limited partners' management activities (which were far less than those of Ms. Newell and Mr. Davis) might undermine or call into question, Greater Wichita does not suggest that those management activities by nominally passive investors cannot invalidate a corporate structure that does not reflect actual control.[1]

1 Appellant apparently also employs the Review Boards' decision in Greater Wichita to argue that the activities of noncontrolling shareholders should entitle the applicant to residual integration credit. Brief for Appellant at 28.

In sum, we can discern in the Commission's disposition no agency infidelity to precedent or unreasoned application of policy to the facts of the case. Cf. Greater Boston Television Corp. v. FCC, 444 F. 2d 841 (D.C. Cir. 1970), cert. denied,

However, the Commission reversed that determination, denying any such credit. See Greater Wichita Telecasting, Inc., 96 F.C.C. 2d at 989.

Additionally, in view of its integration calculation in this case, the FCC had no need to consider granting (much less actually to grant) any such enhancement credit. Because the Commission's quantitative integration calculation rendered Spectron's application vastly inferior to other applications, any slight enhancement credit, or even marginal integration credit, that Spectron may have deserved was simply irrelevant to the outcome of this case. In fact, Newell and Davis's activities entitled Spectron to no additional credit, because the bar upon changes in integration applications existed, see Signal Ministries, Inc., 104 F.C.C. 2d at 1496; because they would devote insufficient hours per week to station affairs, see Midwest Broadcasting Co., 70 F.C.C. 2d at 1495; and because, if actually passive investors, they were not to be included in the integration calculation at all, see Anax Broadcasting, Inc., 87 F.C.C. 2d at 488.

IV

In addition to its principal attack, Spectron also contests the FCC's failure to reconsider various attacks upon Jarad's application; charges that the Commission's hostility to Ms. Shaw impermissibly motivated its decision; and alleges deprivation of Spectron's investors' due process rights.

Spectron seeks to revive several challenges to the Commission's grant of a permit to Jarad. However, Spectron did not appeal the Review Board's rejection of these challenges to the Commission. See Application for Review of Spectron Broadcasting Corp. for Review of Review Board's Decision (Nov. 17, 1986), J.A. at 465-75. Because the Commission has not considered these issues, they are not properly before us. See 47 U.S.C. § 405;

Rogers Radio Communications Serv. v. FCC, 751 F. 2d 408, 413 n.14 (D.C. Cir. 1985).

Spectron also argues that the Commission's impermissible hostility to Ms. Shaw led to denial of the application. First, Spectron alleges that the Commission applied an improperly high standard in evaluating Ms. Shaw's testimony and application because she had previously been an FCC attorney. We disagree. The passing reference to Ms. Shaw's former service, Decision 1 F.C.C. Rcd at 183, ¶ 15, J.A. at 63, appears amidst a long discussion of how Ms. Shaw appeared to be unfamiliar with the application, especially with the details that supposedly established her sole control of Spectron for integration purposes. That reference undermines neither the Commission's conclusions as to the extent of Ms. Shaw's control nor the independent basis for its decision, namely the participation of nominally nonvoting shareholders in

Second, Spectron alleges that the FCC denied its application because it was motivated by hostility to Ms. Shaw's membership in a racial minority group and to Spectron's claims to minority enhancement credits. There is no evidence whatever of this; despite its serious charges, Spectron has offered not a shred of evidence of improper motivation underlying Commission policies or treatment of Spectron. Indeed, the gist of Spectron's grievance appears to be that the FCC did not respond to the minority membership of many of Spectron's shareholders by subordinating its well-established integration rules to the concerns that underlie the minority enhancement credit. But there is simply no ground in law to warrant our tearing asunder the Commission's long-standing policy with respect to integration of ownership and management.

Finally, Spectron broadly alleges a host of violations of various constitutional rights. The burden of this argument seems to be that by disregarding Spectron's proffered corporate structure, the FCC ran roughshod over various constitutional rights of individuals associated with Spectron. These contentions are entirely without merit. The FCC grounded its conclusions on the sworn testimony of Spectron shareholders themselves; that is, Ms. Newell and Mr. Davis testified that they would carry out significant Spectron management duties and decisions affecting the licensee. By crediting this testimony, the FCC obviously worked no due process or equal protection violation. To suggest the contrary is frivolous. Nor do the Commission's policies in any manner chill associational liberties of those interested and concerned about Spectron. Indeed, it is abundantly clear that Spectron could have structured its affairs either to include those involved in the day-to-day management of the station in its integration and enhancement calculations, or to limit passive investors to non-management roles and functions.

V

Prior to oral argument and more than six weeks following appellant's filing of the joint appendix, Jarad filed a "Motion to Strike and to Correct Portions of the Joint Appendix." That motion also requested the court to order sanctions against Ms. Shaw and (or) Spectron. Jarad contended that appellant had failed to include certain material that Jarad and the FCC had designated for inclusion in the joint appendix and had submitted versions of other designated Jarad exhibits that grossly deviated from the exhibits filed with the Commission.

By order dated August 29, 1988, we granted Jarad's motion to strike and directed the filing of the corrected joint appendix, which as in fact completed. In addition, Ms. Shaw filed two affidavits, one from Ms. Regina Robinson, a sometimes employee of Spectron, and the other from Ms. Shaw herself.[2] The affidavits' burden was that Ms. Shaw had directed (and then relied upon) Ms. Robinson to secure the pertinent materials for inclusion in the original joint appendix. The affidavits indicate that when the errors in the joint appendix were brought to Ms. Shaw's attention, her schedule, including extensive travel commitments, led her to rely once again upon the efforts of Ms. Robinson to correct the appendix. In the following weeks, no corrections were made, until Jarad's motion and this court's order finally prompted the filing of a corrected joint appendix.

We do not lightly countenance an attorney's failure to comply with the requirements of Rule 30, F.R.A.P. The integrity of the appellate process depends upon the accuracy and completeness of the appendix, and, as this case illustrates, judicial economy requires that agreements among parties regarding materials to be included in the appendix be fulfilled. In our view, Ms. Shaw's discharge of her duties imposed by Rule 30 fell below acceptable standards. We are nonetheless unprepared to conclude, on the record before us, that sanctions should be imposed. We do, however, admonish counsel for what appears clearly to have been a cavalier attitude toward her responsibilities as an officer of the court.

INITIAL DECISION OF ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE JOHN M. FRYSIAK

Issued: February 24, 1986

Released: March 4, 1986

Preliminary Statement

1. This proceeding involves the competing applications of Jarad Broadcasting Company, Inc. (Jarad), Spectron Broadcasting Corporation (Spectron), Garden City Broadcasting, Inc. (GCB), Westplex Broadcasting Company (Westplex), North Shore Broadcasting (North Shore), December Ventures, Inc. (December Ventures), WINK Radio, Inc. (WINK), Fonic Broadcasting Co. (Fonic), Mid-Island Broadcasting, Inc. (Mid-Island), and McComas Broadcasting Corporation (McComas) for authority to construct an FM broadcast station at Garden City, New Yorl. These ten applications, along with two others since dismissed, 1/ were designated for comparative hearing on the standard comparative issue in a Hearing Designated Order released April 11, 1984 (Mimeo No. 3445). The Designation Order also indicated that the areas and populations which would receive FM service of 1 mV/m or greater intensity, together with the availability of other primary aural services in such areas, would be considered under the standard comparative issue for the purpose of determining whether a comparative preference would accrue to any of the applicants.

2. By Memorandum Opinion and Order, FCC 84M-2853 (released June 25, 1984), the following issue was added against Spectron:

> To determine with respect to Spectron ... whether good cause exists for locating the main studio outside the principal community to be served and, if so, whether it would be consistent with the public interest.

1/ The applications of Women's Long Island Radio and Hempstead Broadcasting Corporation were dismissed for failure to prosecute (Tr. 192; 1109).

3. A prehearing conference was held on June 11, 1984. A second prehearing conference was held on October 16, 1984. Hearing sessions were held on October 22-26, October 29-31, November 2, November 5-9, November 13, December 19, 1984, and January 25, 1985. The record in this proceeding was closed on January 15, 1985. Proposed Findings were filed on April 22, 1985 and Replies thereto were filed on May 20, 1985.2/

2/ By Motions filed May 23, 1985 and May 28, 1985 respectively, December Ventures and Spectron sought to have stricken the appendices to Jarad's Proposed Findings. Jarad explains that the appendices are only offered in opposition to WINK's request for official notice of certain documents. In light of this explanation December Ventures' and Spectron's motions ARE DISMISSED as moot.

By Motion filed June 3, 1985, Jarad seeks to have stricken from the record Spectron's amendment reflecting its Amended Certificate of Incorporation filed January 30, 1985. Spectron's directors and

By Motions filed June 20, 1985 and June 24, 1985 respectively, December Ventures and Jarad oppose the receipt of WINK's Supplement to its Reply Findings. The movants are correct in asserting that WINK failed to comply with Rule 1.45(c) in not seeking leave to file. December Ventures' and Jarad's Motions ARE GRANTED and WINK's Supplement to its Reply Findings IS DISMISSED as an unauthorized filing.

By Motion filed June 4, 1985, Westplex seeks to strike certain portions of and the appendices to WINK's Reply Findings, to wit: a draft rebuttal engineering exhibit, Appendices A and B and a Rand McNally map of

2/New York City. For reasons cited in the motion Westplex's Motion IS GRANTED.

By Motion to Strike filed June 5, 1985, North Shore Broadcasting seeks to have stricken an attachment to McComas' Reply Findings, to wit: the birth certificate of James Patrick McComas. McComas offered in evidence the birth certificate during the hearing. It was rejected on the grounds that there was no sponsoring witness. In its Reply McComas attempts to circumvent this ruling by requesting official notice of the birth certificate. North Shore's Motion IS GRANTED.

By Motion filed May 20, 1985, Spectron seeks to have stricken Fonic's Proposed Findings of Fact as being filed out of time, 9 days late. In opposition counsel for Fonic alleges that the Proposed Findings were completed on the due date but were held back to accommodate a principal's viewing. Fonic then mailed the Proposed Findings 4 days late. It appears that during the 4 day period Fonic's counsel did not receive findings from 7 of the 9 other applicants. It appears that the parties have not been overly prejudiced by Fonic's untimely filing and its Proposed Findings will be accepted. Spectron's motion IS DENIED. See Horizon Community Broadcasters, Ltd., FCC 85R-100, released December 11, 1985.

located in Hempstead pursuant to an express grant of waiver of the studio location rule by the FCC (Spectron Ex. 6, p. 1). Spectron proposed initially to locate the station studio in Hempstead in order to implement the transition of the station's operations from the interim studio at that location to a permanent location after a grant of its application (Tr. 261).

5. Hempstead is a town in Long Island comprised of several villages. Garden City and Hempstead are villages within the town of Hempstead. The incorporated villages of Garden City and Hempstead are adjoining communities with the business centers of each separated by approximately 4 miles. 175 Fulton Street, the present address of studio Station WLIR, is about 1/5 mile over the Garden City line, and less than 2 miles from the Garden City business center (Spectron Ex. 6).

6. Residents of Garden City have had and continue to have a variety of options for each access to the existing studio site. At least five different bus routes run between the Garden City and Hempstead business centers. There is frequent daily bus service between the two communities, with one bus stop located about 100 feet from the existing studio site. There is also hourly train service between Garden City and Hempstead. Three of the four avenues surrounding the existing studio site are major thoroughfares. Driving time between the Garden City business center and the existing studio site is approximately five minutes. (Id.)

7. Hempstead residents and businesses have available to them the full complement of the basic civic services and facilities, such as fire and police protection, electrical and water supplies, snow clearance services, and road upkeep - all of which tend to assure that the existing studio in Hempstead is accessible to Garden City residents and can physically operate without interruption. (Id.)

8. In support of its request for a waiver of the studio location rule, Spectron also submitted a letter dated February 6, 1978 from John R. Reiger, President of the former licensee of WLIR, to the FCC. The letter contained Reiger's request for a waiver to relocate his main studio from the Garden City Hotel in Garden City to the present location proposed by Spectron because the Garden City Hotel facilities were in a delapidated condition and that no other suitable facilities in Garden City were available. (Id.) However, the old Garden City Hotel has been replaced by a new modern hotel last year (Tr. 243-250).

Comparative Coverage

9. Nine of the ten remaining applicants in this proceeding (hereafter referred to as the "nine applicants") propose the same facilities as those authorized to former Station WLIR-FM, Garden City, New York 3/ (Joint Rebuttal Ex., para. 3; Tr. 2950, 2957). The tenth applicant, WINK, also proposed the same facilities as those authorized to WLIR-FM but will orient its directional antenna at 180° true, instead of 90° true (WINK Ex. 1A, para. 3; Tr. 2464). As a result of this different antenna orientation, WINK's 1 mV/m contour will cover portions of Brooklyn and Manhattan that the other nine applicants will not cover. However, WINK will not cover small portions of the Bronx, 3/ Former Station WLIR-FM, whose license renewal application was denied by the Commission, is presently operating pursuant to special temporary authority granted by the Commission with facilities of 600 watts effective radiated power in a nondirectional mode. The station's construction permit, BPH-811204AF, granted June 10, 1982, authorizes operation at 1 Kilowatt with a directional antenna. The nine applicants all propose operation with these latter facilities (Official Notice Taken).

Westchester and Nassau Counties, New York, which will be covered by the other nine applicants (WINK Ex. 1A, Figure 1).

10. The areas and populations within the 1 mV/m contour proposed by the nine applicants and WINK are as follows:

Applicant	Area (sq. mi.) 4/	Population 4/
Nine applicants	459.97	5,350,585
WINK	464.67	6,523,797

(WINK Ex. 1A, para. 10).

4/ The Mass Media Bureau disagrees with the nine applicants' assertion that WINK's "raw" area and population advantage is substantially ameliorated by the existence of interference from one co-channel and two second-adjacent channel FM stations. See Joint Rebuttal Ex., at Table 1. This claimed intereference from stations currently short-spaced to WLIR-FM purportedly reduces the actual service areas of both the nine applicants' proposal and WINK, leaving WINK with a much smaller area and population advantage. As the Bureau stated at Tr. 2953, however, the nine applicants' analysis of interference was improperly conducted under Section 73.509 of the Commission's Rules because that section applies only to noncommercial FM stations. The instant proceeding involves a commercial FM station. Therefore, the interference analysis is irrelevant and WINK's above listed areas and population figures constitute the applicable basis for comparison.

11. The areas within both the nine applicants' and Wink's proposed 1 mV/m contours presently receive service from 18 FM stations and 5 AM stations (Joint Rebuttal Ex., paras. 12-13; Supplement to Wink Ex. 1A, paras. 3-4; Tr. 3014).

Standard Comparative Issue

12. Jarad Broadcasting Company, Inc. Jarad is a New York corporation. Mr. Ronald J. Morey is Jarad's sole stockholder, director and officer (Jarad Ex. 1 at 1).

13. Mr. Morey proposed to work full-time at the station (at least 40 hours per week) as the station's general manager. In that capacity, he would exercise complete control over all aspects of station management, including but not limited to programming, finances, hiring and firing, marketing and sales (Jarad Ex. 1, pp. 4-5).

14. Mr. Morey is an American Indian (Jarad Ex. 1, pp. 3-4; See Jarad Ex. 1 at Supplement; Tr. 97-98, 142-44, 153-56, 189).

Mr. Morey grew up in Brantford, Ontario - the town named for his ancestor Indian Chief Joseph Brant (Jarad Ex. 1, p. 1). Mr. Morey testified that his father told him about his Indian heritage (Tr. 144). Mr. Morey explained that his family originated from the Sixth Nation's Reserve. He stated that neither he nor his father have registered on the reserve since they do not live there and since registration was necessary only if you wanted to participate in the activities on the reserve (Tr. 158). Mr. Morey has always held himself out and had been regarded as an Indian (Tr. 158). Mr. Morey testified that he is recognized in both his professional and residential communities as an Indian (Tr. 153-56). A 1980 magazine article contained a profile of Morey's professional career and described him as a Mohawk Indian. The article was based on an interview with Morey who told the reporter about his racial heritage (Tr. 98, 189).

15. Mr. Morey lived on Wood Acres Rood

in Brookville, New York. He has resided at this address since 1977 (Jarad Ex. 1, pp. 1, 5). Mr. Morey's residence is located within the 1 mV/m contour of the proposed service area and approximately 7 miles from Garden City (Jarad Ex. 1, p. 5; Jarad Ex. 2). He is a member of the Brookville Tax Payers Association, and, for the last several years, has also chaired committees to raise funds for the Friends Academy in Locust Valley, New York where his son attends school (Jarad Ex. 1, p. 5; Tr. 134-42).

16. Mr. Morey has been involved with broadcasting since 1964. He worked as a radio announced until 1974 at CKOC, Hamilton, Ontario (1971-1972). He served also as an assistant director of programming (Jarad Ex. 1, pp. 1-2).

17. Mr. Morey has been doing "voice overs" as a free-lance announcer full-time since 1975. To accomplish this he enters into a contract with an advertising agency for each commercial on which he works. He has no input into the content of a commercial or whether it is used by a broadcast station (Tr. 91-96, 188-89).

18. Jarad does not have any other media interests. Neither Mr. Morey nor his wife has any interest in any medium of mass communications (Jarad Ex. 1, at 7).

19. Jarad proposed to utilize the same facilities at North Shore Towers in Garden City that is currently used by WLIR-FM for its transmitter. Jarad will have access to and propose the same auxiliary standby power that is currently available to WLIR-FM. In addition, Jarad will install an auxiliary standby generator at its studio in Garden City to protect from any outages there (Jarad Ex. 1, p. 7).

20. Spectron Broadcasting Corporation. Spectron was organized as a 200 share corporation under the laws of the State of New York on February 8, 1983 (Spectron Ex. 1, p. 1; Ex. 14). Subsequently by corporate resolution adopted March 18, 1983, Spectron's directors approved that two classes of stock be issued; that voting stock be issued to Angela V. Shaw and Thomas Morrison and all other shareholders receive non-voting stock (Spectron Ex. 13, p. 5, Tr. 401-04).5/

21. On the "B" cut-off date, December 9, 1983, Spectron's amended application showed that Ms. Shaw (Spectron's president) held 100% of the voting stock which represent 46.7% of the equity.6/ The "B" cut-off amendment stated that Spectron's other five stockholders held only non-voting stock. As of the "B" cut-off date, Spectron's application reflected that Ms.

5/ This change was reported by amendment filed May 23, 1984, but, the certificate of incorporation was not amended until January 10, 1985.

6/ Thomas Morrison, who formerly held voting stock in Spectron, assigned and transferred his rights in this stock to Angela Shaw prior to the "B" cut-off date (Spectron Ex. 16, p. 1).

Shaw did not own any non-voting stock (Jarad Ex. 6; Tr. 427-29).

22. By amendment filed May 23, 1984, Spectron reported an error in Table 1 of its application and corrected it to reflect that the total number of shares of issued and outstanding non-voting stock is 95 and that the percentages as held by the non-voting stockholders is as follows: Angela Shaw - 52%, Roland Davis - 23%; Briding Newell - 16%; LuNell Anderson - 2%; James M. Shuart - 2%; Frances Hooks - 5%.

23. At the hearing Spectron's Exhibit 1 was consistent with the May 23, 1984 amendment that 95 shares of non-voting stock were issued and that Shaw held 52% of those non-voting shares but indicated further that Ms. Shaw owned 40 shares of voting stock (Spectron Ex. 1; Tr. 337, 349).

24. Cross-examination of Spectron's witnesses highlighted discrepancies found between Spectron's hearing exhibits and the Spectron application regarding stock ownership. Upon redirect examination, Angela Shaw corrected Spectron's Exhibit 1 to reflect that Spectron has issued and outstanding 31 shares of voting stock and 64 shares of non-voting stock (Spectron's Ex. 1 as corrected in Tr. 3185-86, 3188).

25. The record now reflects that Angela Shaw owns 31 shares, or 100% of the issued and outstanding voting stock of Spectron (Spectron Ex. 1, p. 1; Tr. 3186), and that she owns 18 shares of the issued and outstanding non-voting stock of Spectron (Id.) The other owners of Spectron's non-voting stock are:7/

7/ It is argued that Spectron did not show that it had the authority to issue non-voting stock. However, Spectron did file a Certificate of Amendment, January 10, 1985 (Official Notice Taken). This fact was reported to the parties during the hearing (Tr. 3190-91). The Certificate indicates that the amendment was authorized by the Board and the shareholders at the March 18, 1983 meeting of stockholders and directors. The late filing of the Certificate of Amendment is of no consequence since the intention of the stockholders to reclassify stock was clearly expressed on March 18, 1983.

Names	Shares of Non-voting Stock
Roland Davis	22
Briding Newell	15
Frances Hooks	5
James M. shuart	2
LuNell Anderson	2

26. In addition, Marina Wolkonsky has an option to purchase up to 10 shares of the non-voting stock of the Spectron company. Marina Wolkonsky also has a right of first refusal to purchase up to 51 shares of non-voting stock which may be periodically issued by Spectron as funds are needed by the company in the reasonable judgement of the board of directors. Marina Wolkonsky holds the option and the right of first refusal as a result of an assignment of those rights from Francesco Galesi 8/

8/ Mr. Galesi is a financial backer of Spectron as a result of an agreement entered into with Spectron on or about May 23, 1983. Pursuant to the agreement, Mr. Galesi acquired an option to purchase 10 shares of Spectron stock and a right of first refusal to purchase up to 51 additional shares of Spectron stock. Competing applicants argue that the reference in the agreement is to voting stock, since non-voting stock is not (Spectron Ex. 1, p. 1; Jarad Ex. 8, pp. 7-8; Spectron Ex. 16; Tr. 462-63, 557). Marina Wolkonsky does not own any shares of Spectron stock (Spectronc Ex. 1, p. 1).

27. Angela Shaw is the president and director of Spectron (Spectron Ex. 1, p. 1). Briding Newell is the secretary, treasurer and director of Spectron (Id.) Roland Dvis is the third director of Spectron (Id.) Spectron has no other offers or directors (Id.)

8/mentioned and since Spectron was unauthorized to issue non-voting stock. However, the intent of the parties was to make available to Mr. Galesi only non-voting stock. Spectron's directors and stockholders approved a resolution to reclassify its original 200 shares common stock into 40 shares of voting and 160 shares of non-voting on the same date the agreement was signed. Thus the reference in the agreement has to be to non-voting stock. Additionally, the draft agreement referred to non-voting shares and mentioned Spectron's intention to reclassify its capital into voting and non-voting shares (Jarad Ex. 13).

Davis are Blacks. James Shuart and Marina Wolkonsky are Caucasians (Spectron Ex. 1 p. 2). In the event of a grant to Spectron, it is proposed that Angela Shaw will devote full-time (at least 40 hours per week) as general manager and president (Spectron Ex. 2, p. 9). She presently resides in Roslyn, New York which is within the 70 dBu contour of the proposed station (Spectron Ex. 2, p. 1; Westplex Ex. 6). Ms. Shaw is a law school graduate (Spectron Ex. 2, pp. 1-2) and has taught as an adjunct professor at Adelphi University since 1980 (Spectron Ex. 2, p. 8). Ms. Shaw is also a former Deputy County Attorney of Nassau County. (Id.) Ms. Shaw has worked on the Shirley Chisolm campaign for the New York State Assembly (Spectron Ex. 2, p. 2; Tr. 379-80) and on the Abby Boklan campaign for Nassau County District Court Judge (Spectron Ex. 2, p. 2; Tr. 380-82). She is a member of the NAACP (Spectron Ex. 2, p. 2) and was a founder of the 100 Black Women of Long Island organization in 1981 and is one of the board members (Spectron Ex. 2, p. 2; Tr. 382-84). Ms. Shaw has spoken on New Frontiers for Black Women before sorority and church organizations as well as civic organizations (Spectron Ex. 2, p. 3; Tr. 385-87). She is also a member of the Roslyn-Glen Cove Chapter of the League of Women Voters and has participated in its meetings (Spectron Ex. 2, p. 9; Tr. 392-93). During the summer of 1968 she participated in the Westinghouse Broadcasting Company's Student Intern Program at all-news Radio Station WINS in New York City (Spectron Ex. 2, p. 3). Following her graduation from Harvard Law School, she began permanent employment at the F.C.C. as a staff attorney in the Cable Television Bureau. Her duties included conducting legal research, examining formal filings and preparing appropriate papers recommending disposition (Spectron Ex. 2, p.

5). She was promoted to Attorney-Advisor in the Tariff Proceedings Division of the Common Carrier Bureau in the spring, 1976. (Id. at 6) Ms. Shaw became the legal assistant to an F.C.C. Commissioner in 1976.9/

29. Roland H. Davis will serve on three policy committees: The Editorial Policy Committee, the Community Affairs Committee and The Programming Committee (Spectron Ex. 6, p. 6). He will devote from 10 to 20 hours each week to the proposed station (Tr. 319-20). He is a resident of Hempstead, New York which is within the 70 dBu contour of the proposed station (Spectron Ex. 3, p. 1, Westplex Ex. 6). Since 1979, Mr. Davis has served as the coordinator of Community Development at 9/ Although Ms. Davis's FCC employment was received for background purposes, case precedent dictates that this experience be given decisional weight. See Para. No. 169, infra.

Hofstra University in Hempstead, New York (Spectron Ex. 3, p. 1). Other than supervision of his administrative assistant, Mr. Davis does not exercise any supervisory functions with respect to Hofstra University (Tr. 310). Mr. Davis is also Chairman of the Board of Directors of Guardian Bank, N.A., formerly Van Gaurd Bank, the first Black bank in Long Island, and has held this position since 1975 (Spectron Ex. 3, p. 1). He is also a New York State Certified and Licensed Social Worker and is a Licensed Real Estate Broker. (Id. at 3) Mr. Davis' present community activities consist of service as President of the Association of Minority Enterprises of New York State; President of 100 Black Men of Nassau-Suffolk Inc.; a Director of the Chamber of Commerce in Hempstead; and a Director of the Health and Welfare Council of Nassau County, Inc. (Spectron Ex. 3, p. 5). He has also been a Director of the United Way of Long Island since 1982; a life member of the Hempstead Branch of the NAACP since 1975 and a member of the Edges Group, Inc. (Id.) Mr. Davis has an 8% stock interest in a minority-owned corporation headquartered in Hempstead called the Minority Business Review, Inc. (Spectron Ex. 1, p. 2 and Spectron Ex. 3, p. 6). The corporation publishes a monthly journal focusing on minority-related business issues (Spectron Ex. 3, p. 6). Hofstra University of which Mr. Davis is coordinator for community development is the licensee of WRHU-FM a non-profit educational station (Spectron Ex. 2, p. 6). Station WRHU is a part-time student run facility (Tr. 316). Mr. Davis has no other interest in any medium of mass communications (Spectron Ex. 3, p. 6).

30. Briding Newell is proposed to serve on Spectron's three policy committees: The Editorial Policy Committee, The Community Affairs Committee, and The Programming Committee (Spectron Ex. 4, pp. 6-7). She will devote approximately 10 hours per week. (Id.) Ms. Newell resides in Roosevelt, New York (Spectron Ex. 4, p. 1) which is within the 70 dBu contour of the proposed station (Westplex Ex. 6). Ms. Newell is the Executive Assistant to the Town of Hempstead Office of the Presiding Supervisor (Spectron Ex. 4, pp. 1-2). Ms. Newell has served in a variety of capacities on numerous civic organizations and continues to be active in numerous civic endeavors (Spectron Ex. 4, Tr. 216-21, 223, 225-31, 236-37).

31. James M. Shuart is president of Hofstra University which is the licensee of WRHU-FM, a non-profit educational station located in Hempstead, New York (Spectron Ex. 5). He is proposed to serve on the station's Editorial Policy Committee, Programming Committee and Community Affairs Committee (Spectron Ex. 2, p. 9). No time commitment was specified.

32. Marina Wolkonsky is the wife of Francesco Galesi and the successor of Galesi's rights in his financing agreement with Spectron (Spectron Ex. 16; Tr. 472). Galesi owns approximately 20% of U.S.C.I., a five channel direct broadcasting satellite company which serves the northeastern United States (Tr. 503-06).

33. Neither Briding Newell, James Shuart, Frances Hooks nor LuNell Anderson has any interest in any other medium of mass communications (Spectron Ex. 1, p. 2; Spectron Exs. 4, 5 & 9). Benjamin L. Hooks, the spouse of Frances Hooks holds 1/6th of 1% of the non-voting common stock of United States Satellite Broadcasting Company, Inc., a DBS permittee (Spectron Ex. 8).

34. Spectron intends to provide auxiliary power at both the studio and transmitter sites (Spectron Ex. 10).

35. Garden City Broadcasting, Inc.

GCB is a New York corporation authorized to issue 200 shares of no par common stock of which 100 shares have been issued and are outstanding (GCB Ex. 1, p. 1).

36. The officers, directors and stockholders of GCB are as follows:

Names	Position	Percentage of Voting Stock
John Joseph Sutter	Chairman of the Board, Director	1%
John Betaudier	President/ Director	53%	10/
Yvonne Betaudier	Vice President/ Director	53%	10/
Phyllis Bernstein	Vice President	30%
Betty Sutter	Treasurer	14%
Edwin A. Bernstein	Secretary	2%

The Bernstein's are husband and wife, the Sutters are husband and wife and the Betaudier's are husband and wife.

37. GCB holds no interest in any medium of mass communications (GCB Ex. 1, p. 2).

10/ Mr. and Mrs. Betaudier own their stock jointly.

38. Among the stockholders of GCB only Edwin Bernstein and Phyllis Bernstein have any ownership interests in other media outlets. Mr. and Mrs. Bernstein own approximately 20% of the common stock of Soundcasters, Inc. and approximately 1,000 shares of the preferred stock of Soundcasters, Inc. (Tr. 1016). Two of the Bernstein's children, James and Kathy Bernstein also own a total of 10% of the common stock of Soundcasters, Inc. (GCB Ex. 2, p. 5). Soundcasters, Inc. is the owner of a majority of the stock of Pathfinder Communications Corporation, licensee of AM station WBZA, Glenn Falls, New York and FM station WNIQ-FM, Hudson Falls, New York (GCB Ex. 2, p. 5). Both Mr. Bernstein (GCB Ex. 2, p. 5) and Mrs. Bernstein (GCB Ex. 3, p.

11/ The Hearing Designation Order, at para. 33, recognized these commitments and specified conditions required the divestiture by Mr. and Mrs. Bernstein of these interests in the event of a grant to GCB.

2) have committed to divest their interests in WBZA and WNIQ-FM in the event the GCB application is granted.11/ James Bernstein is 24 years old and Kathy Bernstein is 22 years old (Tr. 938). Both of them have their own bank accounts, and are conducting their business affairs separately from Edwin and Phyllis Bernstein. (Id.) None of the other stockholders have any itterests in any other medium of mass communications.

39. John G. Betaudier is the President of GCB and is proposed to be the General Manager committed to work full-time (GCB Ex. 4, pp. 2-3). He will move to Garden City upon grant of the application. (Id.) Mr. Betaudier is a Black, born in Trinidad (GCB Ex. 9) and became a naturalized U.S. Citizen in 1964 (GCB Ex. 4, p. 1). His broadcasting career began in 1951 and he worked as staff announcer until 1959. (Id.) In 1967 he began working for WKNY(AM), Kingston, New York and became a program director there in 1969 till 1979. In 1979 Mr. Betaudier worked at WPIC(AM) in Sharon, Pennsylvania. In February, 1980, Mr. Betaudier joined stations WFGL/WFMP at Fitchburg, Massachusetts and served there until May 1980. (Id.) Presently he works as a field underwriter for Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York. (Id.)

40. Yvonne C. Betaudier is the Vice President of GCB and is proposed to be the Vice President for Station Affairs working full-time (GCB Ex. 5, p. 2). She is a Black, and a naturalized American Citizen. She has been a nurse since 1964. She intends to move with her husband to Garden City in the event of a grant (Id.)

41. Phyllis Bernstein is proposed to work full-time as the station's News Director (GCB Ex. 3). She resides with her husband in East Rockaway, New York (GCB Exs. 1; 2, p. 1) which is within the 60 dBu contour of the proposed station (GCB Ex. 3, p. 1). At present Mrs. Bernstein is a free-lance writer, but will terminate this activity upon grant of a license (GCB Ex. 3, p. 1).

42. Betty F. Sutter is proposed to work full-time as the station's Comptroller and Business Manager. She will handle the station's financial affairs, oversee all office staff and be responsible for the station's logs. She will also assist Yvonne Betaudier with the station's activities in community affairs (GCB Ex. 6, pp. 1-2, Tr. 762, 957). At present she is a co-owner and manager of an office building, an activity she will terminate upon grant of a license. (Id.) She resides with her husband in Malverne, New York which is within the 70 dBu contour of the proposed station. (Id.) Mrs. Sutter has been active in various civic organizations and has participated in various charitable drives. (Id.)

43. Edwin A. Bernstein proposes to serve GCB's proposed FM station as its Sales Manager on a full-time basis, 40 hours per week. To meet these duties, he would leave the practice of law in which he is currently engaged (GCB Ex. 2, p. 1).

44. Mr. Bernstein's residence (East Rockaway, New York) and law practice (in Rockville Centre, New York) are in the 60 dBu contour of the proposed station (GCB Ex. 2, p. 5). Mr. Bernstein is a member of the Nassau County Bar Association. He has been active in Lawrence, New York as a fund raiser for United Appeals (GCB Ex. 2, p. 4).

45. During his career, Mr. Bernstein was associated for 25 years with a broadcast group known as "Regional Broadcasters," which comprised different broadcast corporations. This group encompassed the following stations:

Stations	City	Year Acquired
WMGW(AM)/ WZPR(FM)	Meadville, Pennsylvania	1957
WPIC(AM)/ WYFM(FM)	Sharon, Pennsylvani	1959
WGRD(AM)/ WGRD(FM)	Grand Rapids, Michigan	1960
WTRU(AM)	Muskegon, Michigan	1960
WKNY(AM)	Kingston, New York	1963
WOLF(AM)	Syracuse, New York	1969
WAAL(FM)	Binghamton, New York	1975
WCNF(FM)	Whitehall, Michigan	1979

46. Starting in 1957, Mr. Bernstein served each of the corporations which were the licensees of the above stations owned by the owners of the Regional Group as Vice-President, Secretary or Treasurer. He served under the president of the group, W. H. Rich. Mr. Bernstein was responsible for legal and financial matters. In Mr. Rich's absence, he served as General Manager. Due to illness Mr. Rich retired in 1966 and Mr. Bernstein assumed the title "General Manager." During 1966 Mr. Bernstein also served as General Manager of WKNY (GCB Ex. 2, pp. 2-3).

47. Mr. Bernstein continued to serve Regional in this capacity until his retirement from the firm in July, 1980 (GCB Ex. 2, p. 3). During his career he had provided active consulting services on broadcast station acquisition to stations in Chester, Pennsylvania and Clifton, Arizona (Tr. 1029), and did station consulting work during the years 1967-1969 (Tr. 1028).

48. Mr. Bernstein owned stock in the licensees of the above-noted stations either individually or with his wife. All of his stock interests, and all of his official positions with the above stations were relinquished by September, 1982 (GCB Ex. 2, p. 3; Tr. 1021). Mr. Bernstein continues to have consulting contracts with two stations; WAAL, Binghampton, New York, which expired at the end of 1984, and WOLF(AM), Syracuse, New York, under which he receives $2,250 per year until 1991 (GCB Ex. 2, p. 3). Mr. Bernstein's health plan is through his consulting contract with WAAL (Tr. 1022). Mr. Bernstein has no other connection with station WAAL (Tr. 1022), and has not been required to give any advice whatsoever to station WOLF (Tr. 1030).

49. Mr. Bernstein is primarily responsible for the formation of GCB (E.g., Tr. 708, 719-20, 780, 914, 919, 1067, 1072-73). When Mr. Bernstein learned of the opportunity to file an application for the facilities of Station WLIR(FM), he perceived it as a chance to acquire a Garden City FM broadcasting station (Tr. 1035-36). He mentioned the possibility to Mrs. Bernstein (Tr. 852). He also contacted Mr. Betaudier and Mr. Sutter and suggested that their wives might be interested in becoming owners (Tr. 852, 708, 780). Mr. Bernstein referred to himself as "the common denominator between the Betaudiers and the Sutters" (Tr. 1072-73).

50. In undertaking the formation of GCB, Mr. Bernstein was mindful of the Commission's policies governing comparative broadcast proceedings, including the Commission's policy of according "enhancement" based on the minority and female status of applicants (Tr. 905-07, 912, 916, 1042-46, 1066, 1073). Indeed, Mr. Bernstein specifically requested and received advice from counsel concerning the Commission's minority enhancement policies (Tr. 1040, 1046). Mr. Bernstein also knew that, because of those policies, his holding a majority stock interest in GCB would undermine the comparative strength of its application (Tr. 1073-74). Mr. Bernstein took all actions to pursue the Garden City application (Tr. 853, 856-57).

51. Mr. Bernstein called the first meeting of GCB's stockholders, which was held in July, 1983, shortly before the GCB application was filed with the Commission (Tr. 869). Prior to that meeting Mr.

Bernstein and Mr. Sutter had decided on how GCB's stock was to be distributed among the various principals (Tr. 783-84, 871-72, 1075).

52. GCB's initial capitalization amounted to $500.00, representing $5.00 for each of the 100 shares issued and outstanding. GCB's expenses to September 30, 1984, i.e., prior to the date of the commencement of the presentation of GCB's direct case in this proceeding, amounted to $10,448.92 (December Ventures Ex. 4). This shortfall was met by additional contributions purportedly made by Mrs. Bernstein and the Sutters (Tr. 883-84, 976-77). The Sutters contributed, as a gift to GCB, $4000 from their joint funds over and above the money they paid for their stock (Tr. 756, 800-02, 961, 976-77, 982, 1057; December Ventures Ex. 4). Similarly, Mrs. Bernstein contributed an additional $6,500 as a gift to GCB (Tr. 800-02, 884, 982, 1057; December Ventures Ex. 4). Mr. Bernstein has also contributed an additional $90 over and above the cost of his stock (December Ventures Ex. 4). The Betaudiers have paid in no other funds beyond their initial $265 investment (Tr. 712-13, 739-40, 795, 821, 1056). Although the Betaudiers have not made any contributions to capital of GCB above and beyond their stock purchase, it is their intention to do so when they are able (Tr. 712).

53. Mr. Bernstein was the "corporate representative" selected by GCB's counsel to attend each day of GCB's presentation at the hearing in this proceeding (Tr. 695, 1014, 1078-79). Mr. Bernstein also has been the GCB representative to review all pleadings and other filings on behalf of GCB (Tr. 743).

54. John J. Sutter is not proposed to be integrated into the management of the station.

55. GCB proposed to install and operate auxiliary power generator equipment at both its studio and transmitter sites (GCB Ex. 8).

56. Westplex Broadcasting Company. Westplex is a limited partnership organized under the limited partnership laws of the State of New York (Westplex Ex. 1, p. 1, Jarad Ex. 12). The partnership interests are distributed as follows:

Kenneth L. Herring	51% General Partner
Ramona Rivera	49% General Partner
George S. Kalman	Limited Partner
Austin Isherwood, Jr.	Limited Partner
Authur Pelaez	Limited Partner
William Day	Limited Partner
Lawrence DiGiacomo	Limited Partner

(Id.) As the sole general partners in Westplex, Mr. Herring and Ms. Rivera will control all the affairs of Westplex's proposed station. (Id.; Tr. 1669, 1704) Westplex's limited partners will be passive investors and will have no control over the management of Westplex's proposed station, except as otherwise required by the Uniform

Limited Partnership Act as adopted in the State of New York. (Id.; Jarad Ex. 12, p. 1)

57. Westplex does not hold any interest in any broadcast property or any other media of mass communications aside from the pending application in this proceeding. Kenneth Herring does not have any ownership interest in any media of mass communications (Westplex Ex. 4, p. 1). Mr. Herring is Program Director at station WTHE(AM), Mineola, Long Island, New York. (Id.) Mr. Herring will terminate his employment with WTHE if Westplex's application is granted. (Id.) Ramona Rivera is a staff news reporter for CBS News, a division of CBS, Inc. (Id.) She currently is assigned as an anchorwomen for RADIORADIO, the CBS young adult radio network. (Id.) Ms. Rivera will resign her position with CBS if Westplex's application is granted. (Id.; Tr. 1699) Through an employee investment fund, Ms. Rivera has approximately four shares of CBS stock. (Id.; Tr. 1660) Ms. Rivera has no other ownership interest in any media of mass communications. (Id.)

58. As of the "B" cut-off date in this proceeding, George Kalman, a limited partner in Westplex, provided management consulting services to station WNVR(AM), Naugatuck, Connecticut (Westplex Ex. 4, p. 1). Mr. Kalman was also vice president and one of three directors of Naugatuck Valley Radio, Inc. (NVR), the licensee of station WNVR(AM).

59. Mr. Kalmwn owns 2.51 percent of the voting stock of NVR; Arthur Pelaez owns 4.94 percent of NVR's stock; and Austin Isherwood owns 2.51 percent of NVR's stock (Westplex Ex. 4, p. 1). Messrs. Kalman, Pelaez and Isherwood have an option to acquire, in the aggregate, up to 67 percent of the voting stock of NVR. (Id.) They have held their present stock interests in NVR since November, 1983. (Id.)

60. Kenneth Herring, the 51% general partner, intends to devote full-time (at least 40 hours per week) to his duties as Programming Manager of the Garden City station (Westplex Ex. 2, p. 3; Jarad Ex. 2, p. 2). In that capacity, Mr. Herring will be responsible for determining the content and scheduling of all news and public affairs programming. (Id.) In addition, he will supervise all station personnel in the programming area and will be responsible for the hiring, firing, and training of programming personnel. (Id.) Mr. Herring will also share supervisory responsibilities with Ramona Rivera for the station's public service and community affairs activities. (Id.) Upon receipt of the construction permit for the Garden City station, Mr. Herring will resign his position as Program Director at station WTHE(AM). Mr. Herring will only need to give two weeks notice of resignation before terminating his employment at WTHE (Tr. 1229). Mr. Herring is currently involved with several community, civic and charitable organizations within the service area of Westplex's proposed station. If Westplex's application is granted, Mr. Herring intends to continue his involvement in these activities to the extent such activities do not interfere with his primary commitment (at least 40 hours per week) to Westplex's proposed station (Westplex Ex. 2, p. 6).

61. Kenneth Herring is a Black American (Westplex Ex. 2, p. 1). Mr. Herring currently resides in Copiague, New York. (Id.) Mr. Herring lived within the station's proposed service area from 1962 to 1979. From 1973 to 1979, Mr. Herring resided at Richmond Hills, Queens, New York. (Id.) From 1966 to 1973, he lived at Hollis, Queens, New York. (Id.) From 1964 to 1965, he resided at Great Neck, Long Island, New York (Tr. 1116). From 1962 to 1964, Mr. Herring resided at Garden City Park, Long Island, New York. (Id.) From 1979 to the present, Mr. Herring has been employed at station WTHE(AM), Mineola, Long Island (Westplex Ex. 2, p. 2). Richmond Hills is within the proposed station's 60 dBu contour; Hollis is within the proposed station's 70 dBu contour; Great Neck and Garden City are within the proposed station's 70 dBu (Westplex Ex. 2, p. 1; Westplex Ex. 6, p. 2). Mineols is within the proposed station's 70 dBu contour (Westplex Ex. 2, p. 5; Westplex Ex. 6, p. 2). If Westplex's application is granted, Mr. Herring will relocate to Garden City, New York (Westplex Ex. 2, p. 1).

62. Mr. Herring is actively involved in several civic and community groups in the Nassau and Queens, New York area. From 1979 until the present, he has been an instructor with the Nassau Youth Group, helping young people obtain jobs, and counseling and teaching them the danger of drugs and the importance of staying in school (Westplex Ex. 2, p. 3). He has been a member of the Neighborhood Club, Queens, since 1980. (Id.) The Neighborhood Club meets every week and is involved with keeping the neighborhood clean and taking care of the elderly (Westplex Ex. 2, pp. 3-4). He has been a member of the Coalition for Good Community, Mineola, since 1980 (Westplex Ex. 2, p. 4; Tr. 1254). The Coalition works to get senior citizens involved in different activities and helps them with their problems. (Id.) Since 1981, Mr. Herring has been a member of the Guiding Group in Queens, a group which meets approximately once a week and teaches public speaking skills to underprivileged youth. (Id.) Mr. Herring has also been a member of the Nassau Action Coalition since 1981. (Id.) His activities at the Nassau Action Coalition include counseling citizens about eh need to register to vote, and the mailing of hundreds of letters encourating people to come to the center to obtain information concerning voting registration. (Id.) Since 1982, Mr. Herring has served as an instructor for the Time To Wake Up Group in Queens, a group which works with underprivileged youths. (Id.) Mr. Herring teaches typing skills to members of that group and demonstrates how to write commercial copy. (Id.) Nearly all of Queens iw tithin the proposed station's 60 dBu contour, and a large portion of Queens is within the proposed station's 70 dBu contour. (Id.; Westplex Ex. 6, p. 2)

63. Mr. Herring is presently a volunteer for the Red Cross in Mineola, New York and is involved in fund-raising activities and assists in programs for disasters in the community (Westplex Ex. 2, p. 4). Mr. Herrint devotes approximately three to four hours per week to this activity. (Id.) He is a member of the Urban League in Hempstead, New York, where he engages in fund-raising activities and participates in efforts to obtain summer jobs for local youths (Westplex Ex. 2, p. 5). He devotes some of his weekends to this activity and has been a member for 12 to 13 years. (Id.) Mr. Herring is also a member of the Economic Opportunity Council in Hempstead, New York, an organization which provides employment contacts and referrals for Black and Hispanic members of the community. (Id.) Mr. Herring devotes 12 to 16 hours per week to this activity and has been a member for approximately three years. (Id.) Mineola and Hempstead are within the proposed station's 70 dBu contour. (Id.; Westplex Ex. 6, p. 2)

64. Mr. Herring is a member of Black Parents Organized for Leadership, a Mineola organization which helps community parents find part-time employment and day care personnel (Westplex Ex. 2, p. 5). He devotes approximately seven to eight hours per week to this activity and has been a member for approximately three years. (Id.) Mr. Herring is a member of the Steering Committee of the NAACP, Nassau County Chapter, Hempstead, New York and participates in programs designed to inform youngsters about drugs and how to deal with drug-related problems. (Id.) Mr. Herring attends a meeting once a week and has been a member for the last 12 or 13 years. (Id.) He is a volunteer teacher at the Nassau County Correctional Institution, East Meadow, New York, and is involved in teaching remedial reading to inmates. (Id.) He devotes approximately eight hours per week to this activity and he has been a volunteer teaching for the past three years (Westplex Ex. 2, pp. 5-6). East Meadow is within the proposed station's 60 dBu contour (Westplex Ex. 2, p. 6; Westplex Ex. 6, p. 2). Mr. Herring is a member of the Kiwanis Club, Nassau County Civil Association, and the Democratic Political Action Committee (Westplex Ex. 2, p. 6). The Nassau County Civic Association is located in Hempstead, New York; the Democratic Political Action Committee is located in Mineola, New York. (Id.)

65. Mr. Herring is currently Program Director at station WTHE(AM), Mineola, New York, a position he has held since 1979 (Westplex Ex. 2, p. 2). His duties include producing five-minute newscasts that are broadcast six times daily, producing talk shows and shows on sports, religion, and public affairs; selecting all music played on the air; writing and producing commercials and advertisements and promoting radio sales. (Id.) Mr. Herring has also conducted the community ascertainment process on behalf of station WTHE(AM) since 1979 (Tr. 3801). As part of these ascertainment efforts, Mr. Herring meets with organizations in Mineola and the nearby communities and prepares short programs on the activities of these groups (Tr. 3086-3089). He then uses the knowledge obtained through the interviews with these groups to determine the needs, problems and concerns of the community. (Id.) Thus, although Mr. Herring moved out of the service area of Westplex's proposed station in 1979, he has worked full-time within the service area since that time and has maintained his knowledge of the problems, needs and interests of the service area through his participation in the ascertainment process. In addition Mr. Herring has participated and continues to participate on a volunteer basis in civic and community activities within the service area, even after he moved out of the service area in 1979.

66. From 1973 until 1979, Mr. Herring worked for station WFME(FM), West Orange, New Jersey. (Id.) He was traffic director, announcer and assistant manager and in 1978 was promoted to Public Affairs Director. (Id.) From 1970 to 1973, Mr. Herring worked as a news reporter, writer and announcer for WNYC(AM), New York, New York. (Id.) His job included gathering and reporting city news, writing and editing the news, and moderating a talk show of interest to the community. (Id.) From 1965 to 1970, Mr. Herring was News Director for station WLIB AM/FM, New York, New York. (Id.) His responsibilities included coordinating, administering, and reporting of New York City news, and administering the news department operations and staff (including the hiring and firing of staff reporters, training the reporters, and maintaining equipment and ordering supplies) (Westplex Ex. 2, pp. 2-3). In addition, the job involved on-the-scene coverage of major news stories and responsibility for editorials and commentaries broadcast by the station (Westplex Ex. 2, p. 3).

67. In 1964, Mr. Herring earned a Special Certificate in Radio Broadcasting from the New York School of Announcing and Speech (Westplex Ex. 2, p. 1). In 1970, Mr. Herring received a certificate from the School of Broadcasting and Announcing in New York. (Id.) He also received in 1972 a certificate in recognition of successful completion of a training program in radio, news writing and production from Central Satellite Radio. (Id.) Mr. Herring also earned an FCC Third Class license with a broadcast endorsement. (Id.)

68. Ramona Rivera, the 49% general partner, intends to devote full-time (at least 40 hours per week) to her duties as General Manager at the proposed station

(Westplex Ex. 3, p. 4; Jarad Ex. 12, p. 2). In that capacity, Ms. Rivera will be the station's chief operating officer, with overall supervision of all station departments and all facets of station management (Westplex Ex. 3, p. 6). She will also share supervisory responsibility with Mr. Herring for the station's public service and community affairs activities and will take an active role in the financial and personnel affairs of the station. (Id.) If Westplex's application is granted, Ms. Rivera will resign her current employment with CBS (Westplex Ex. 3, p. 4). Ms. Rivera's supervisor at CBS is aware of her participation in Westplex and has assured Ms. Rivera that she will have no problem terminating her contract with CBS if Westplex's application is granted (Tr. 1916, 1941).

69. Ramona Rivera is a female Hispanic of Puerto Rican descent (Westplex Ex. 3, p.

1). Her father was born in Puerto Rico. (Id.) Ms. Rivera was born in Queens, New York and lived there until she was two years old. (Id.) She then moved to the Bronx, New York and lived there until she was five or six, when she moved to Lindenhurst, Long Island, New York. (Id.) She lived in Lindenhurst until 1967, when she was twelve; she then moved to New Hyde Park, an incorporated village adjacent to Garden City, New York. (Id.) /She lived in New Hyde Park until June 1978. (Id.) In June 1978 she moved to 225 Central Park West (between 82nd and 83rd Streets), in New York City where she lived until September 27, 1984. (Id.) She now lives at 3 Stuyvesant Oval, New York City. (Id.) Nearly all of Queens and most of the Bronx are within the proposed station's 70 dBu contour. (Id.) New Hyde Park is within the proposed station's 70 dBu contour. (Id.; Westplex Ex. 6, p. 2) Lindenhurst is outside the primary service area of Westplex's proposed station. If Westplex's application is granted, Ms. Rivera will relocate to Garden City, New York (Westplex Ex. 3, p. 1). Ms. Rivera is a founding member of the National Association of Hispanic Journalists (Westplex Ex. 5, p. 5). This organization was started in April, 1984 to foster and promote employment of Hispanics in the media. (Id.) Ms. Rivera was an honorary member of the Newswomen's Club of New York in 1979. (Id.)

70. Ms. Rivera has gained substantial broadcast experience during the last ten years. Since March 1982, Ms. Rivera has been employed by CBS News, a division of CBS, Inc., in her present position as staff news reporter (Westplex Ex. 3, p. 4). She currently is assigned as an anchorperson for RADIORADIO, the CBS young adult network. (Id.) Her day-to-day duties involve delivering hourly newscasts to approximately

145 affiliates nationwide. (Id.) During 1982, Ms. Rivera also worked as a free-lance correspondent for NBC News, New York, New York. (Id.; Tr. 1897) At NBC, Ms. Rivera anchored hourly newscasts at The Source, NBC's young adult radio network (Westplex Ex. 3, p. 4). From December 1977 to January 1982, Ms. Rivera worked for stations WNEW AM/FM, New York as a staff reporter (Westplex Ex. 3, p. 3). Her duties included street reporting of political, civic, consumer and disaster news, in both the Metropolitan New York and the Long Island areas. (Id.) Included in the series which she produced and reported on was a series on toxic waste dumping areas on Long Island and the resulting threats to water supplies there. (Id.) While working full-time for WNEW, Ms. Rivera also free-lanced for the RKO Radio Network in New York during 1981. (Id.) At RKO, she anchored hourly newscasts for the young adult network and reported on national and international news. (Id.) During the same time period, Ms. Rivera also free-lanced for WPIX-TV in New York City, where she worked as an on-the-air reporter for Action News and Independent Network News. (Id.) She covered general assignment stories for the 7:30 p.m. and 10:00 p.m. news shows. (Id.) From 1976 to 1977, while attending college, Ms. Rivera was employed at stations WGSM(AM) and WCTO-FM, Huntington, Long Island, where she worked weekends and part-time as a newscaster and reporter covering political and community events in Nassau and Suffolk counties (Westplex Ex. 3, p. 2). During the same time period in 1976, she also worked part-time for WPIX-TV in New York City as a desk assistant and news writer (Westplex Ex. 3, pp. 2-3). Upon completing her undergraduate degree, Ms. Rivera went to work full-time for WPIX-TV in 1977 (Westplex Ex. 3, p. 3). At WPIX, she was night assignment editor, producer, and writer, and she refined her skills in video, film editing, producing, and writing. (Id.) While attending Nassau Community College in Garden City, Long Island, Ms. Rivera worked for station WHPC-FM, Garden City, New York, which is licensed to Nassau Community College, as well as station WBAU-FM, Garden City, New York, which shares the frequency with WHPC-FM and is licensed to Adelphi University (Westplex Ex. 3, p. 2). While attending New York University, she was program director of WNYU-FM, New York, the New York University Radio station. (Id.) Ms. Rivera has a Bachelor of Arts degree in Journalism and a Masters in Business Administration (Finance) from New York University (Westplex Ex. 3, p. 2).

71. Ramona Rivera has been the recipient of several professional awards (Westplex Ex. 3, p. 4). In 1976-1977, she received an Emmy award citation for her reporting on the New York City blackout as production assistant for WPIX. (Id.) In 1978, Ms. Rivera was selected as a MacMillan Fellow for distinguished work in journalism in the New York City area. (Id.) In 1979, Ms. Rivera received the Newswomen's Club of New York Front Page Award for her reporting on a documentary on the decaying water tunnel system in the Metropolitan New York area. (Id.) In 1980, while working at WNEW, she received a Certificate of Appreciation from the American Women in Radio and Television Organization for her reporting of the New York City transit strike. (Id.) During 1982-83, while at CBS, Ms. Rivera received three "Women at Work" broadcast awards for several of her radio news stories (Westplex Ex. 3, p. 5). She was given these awards by the National Commission on Working Women for her work on such issues as child care and the portrayal of women in advertising. (Id.) In 1983 Ms. Rivera once again received recognition from the Newswomen's Club of New York, when a program which she anchored, entitled "Help for Working Parents," was selected as Front Page Award winner for best radio news story. (Id.)

72. Westplex proposes to install and maintain auxiliary power facilities at both its studio and transmitter sites (Westplex Ex. 5).

73. North Shore Broadcasting. North Shore is a general partnership organized under the laws of the State of New York (North Shore Ex. 2, p. 2). The general partners and their ownership percentages are as follows:

Gerard T. Reilly	51.0%	General Partner
Joel Mahan	24.5%	General Partner
Leonard Yam	24.5%	General Partner (Id.)

74. North Shore does not hold any interest in any broadcast properties or any other media of mass communications. (Id.)

Gerard Reilly, 51% partner of North Shore and its president, is general sales manager of the low power television (LPTV) station licensed to Plainview, Long Island, New York (North Shore Ex. 3, p. 2). Mr. Reilly became general sales manager of the LPTV station in April, 1984. Mr. Reilly has not stated that he will terminate his employment at the LPTV station if North Shore's application in this proceeding is granted.

75. Gerard Reilly proposes to be the full-time General Manager of North Shore's station (North Shore Ex. 3, p. 2). Mr. Reilly will also advise the Community Affairs Committee, (Id.; Tr. 1518) and will also conduct sales efforts on behalf of the station (Tr. 1513). Mr. Reilly testified that he will hire a comptroller to oversee the financial matters of the station (Tr. 1516). Mr. Reilly also testified that Mr. Mahan and Mr. Yam are going to be the persons in charge of the station's community affairs activities and will conduct the ascertainment process for the station (Tr. 1517).

76. Leonard Yam proposes to serve full-time as the Assistant General Manager (North Shore Ex. 4, p. 2). In his capacity as Assistant General Manager, he will "direct the production of all community affairs programming, serve as Chairman of the Community Relations Committee, direct the community ascertainment process and supervise and implement the station's programming and sales policies, as well as its promotional activities." (Id.) He also testified that he will be in charge of coordinating the staff to create public affairs programming at the proposed station (Tr. 2970-2971) and will schedule the programming directed towards meeting the ascertained needs of the community (Tr. 2982).

77. Mr. Yam plans to supervise and implement the station promotional activities along with Mr. Mahan (Tr. 2972) and he will attempt to attend station promotions (Tr. 2973). Mr. Yam testified that he will supervise the bookkeeping at the proposed station and assist Mr. Reilly in handling the bookkeeping functions, the accounts payable and receivable, and the process of setting-up affidavits for certificates of compliance (Tr. 2968). Mr. Yam will also assist Mr. Reilly in the area of station's sales and will go out during his work week to see advertisers if necessary. (Id.)

78. Joel Mahan proposes to serve full-time as the Programming Manager of North Shore's proposed station (North Shore Ex. 5, p. 4). In that capacity, Mr. Mahan "will supervise the daily operation of the Program Department, coordinate functions of continuity, traffic, promotion and sales, direct the staff in the creation of programs to meet community needs, including innovative programs and discussion programmms addressing community issues and needs and serve as Chairman of the Program Committee to assist in the procurement of programs from all sources, network, syndication and local organizations." (Id.) He will supervise the hiring of personnel in the Program Department (Tr. 1419) and will decide on the programming budget and have input in all the financial matters (Tr. 1419).

79. Gerard Reilly has not promised to terminate his current employment at the Plainview, Long Island, LPTV station, if North Shore's application is granted. Similarly, Mr. Yam and Mr. Mahan have not promised to terminate their current employment at Prudential-Bache and NBC, respectively, if North Shore's application is granted.

80. Mr. Mahan is a Black American (North Shore Ex. 6, p. 1). Mr. Yam is a Chinese-American. (Id.) Gerard Reilly has lived in Commack, New York, since 1962 (Tr. 1502-1503; North Shore Ex. 3, p. 2). Commack is outside the 1 mV/m contour of North Shore's proposed station (Tr. 1502-1503). Leonard Yam resided in Westbury, New York, from 1970 through 1981 (North Shore Ex. 4, p. 2). Mr. Yam currently resides at Elmhurst, New York. (Id.) The record does not indicate how long Mr. Yam has resided in Elmhurst. North Shore has not established whether Westbury and Elmhurst are within the 1 mV/m contour of North Shore's proposed station. Joel Mahan currently resides in Jersey City, New Jersey (North Shore Ex. 5, p. 3). Jersey City is outside the 1 mV/m contour of North Shore's proposed station (Westplex Ex. 6, p. 2).

81. Gerard Reilly has been general sales manager of Plainview, Long Island, LPTV station since April, 1984 (Tr. 1505; North Shore Ex. 3, p. 2). From August, 1983 to February, 1984, Mr. Reilly was employed at station WOXM, Chesapeake, Virginia, as an account executive in sales (North Shore Ex. 3, p. 2; Tr. 1510). From 1982 to 1984, Mr. Reilly was also employed part-time by Bogner Broadcasting to locate LPTV stations for Bogner Broadcasting and to negotiate their purchase and construction (North Shore Ex. 3, p. 2; Tr. 1508).

82. As part of his schooling, Leonard Yam held an internship at ABC Contemporary Radio Network from May to August 1981 (North Shore Ex. 4, p. 2; Tr. 2975). During his internship, Mr. Yam was a public relations assistant and his duty was to rewrite stories for announcers (Tr. 2975-2976). Mr. Yam also held a similar internship with WNBC radio in New York City (Tr. 2974). This internship lasted for three months and involved two or three days a week. (Id.) While at WNBC, Mr. Yam was involved in rewriting news stories that came over the wire. (Id.) From January, 1980 to January, 1981, Mr. Yam worked in various capacities at WCWP-FM, a noncommercial station licensed to C.W. Post College, Greenvale, New York (North Shore Ex. 4A, p. 1). Mr. Yam worked in the news and sports departments, writing news and sports copy and reading the news over the air. (Id.; Tr. 2977) Mr. Yam devoted approximately four to five hours a week to news writing (Tr. 2978; North Shore Ex. 4A, p. 1). Mr. Yam has a B.A. in Communications from C.W. Post College (North Shore Ex. 4, p. 2).

83. Since September, 1984, Joel Mahan has been employed on a part-time basis at NBC, New York, as an Assistant to Sports Production (North Shore Ex. 5, p. 3; Tr. 1468). Mr. Mahan testified that he is a liaison between the technical and production teams that do field work at NBC (Tr. 1396, 1402). Mr. Mahan worked for Cablevision, a local cable company in Woodbury, New York (North Shore Ex. 5, p. 3). Mr. Mahan indicated that, while at Cablevision, his job was to bring to the public's attention the activities of three non-profit organizations (North Shore Ex. 5A, pp. 2-3). Mr. Mahan was employed at Cablevision from January to May 1981 on a part-time basis while attending school (Tr. 1406). From September 1979 to May 1981, Mr. Mahan worked at WCWP-FM, a noncommercial station licensed to C.W. Post College, in various capacities (Tr. 1409; North Shore Ex. 5A, p. 2). Mr. Mahan spent approximately 15 hours per week at the college radio station (Tr. 1410). From May to September 1979, Mr. Mahan worked for FM station WWUU, Long Branch, New Jersey, where he wrote advertising and news copy, produced remotes, edited tape, coordinated interviews, assisted the technical staff, and monitored the technical board (North Shore Ex. 5A, p. 1).

84. North Shore proposes to install auxiliary power generating equipment at the studio and/or transmitter site (North Shore Ex. 1).

December Ventures, Inc.

85. Byron E. Lewis, is a Black male and is the 100-percent stockholder and President of December Ventures (December Ventures Ex. 1, p. 1). Mr. Lewis will devote 40 or more hours per week as the full-time General Manager of the proposed station. (Id.)

86. For the past 15 years (Tr. 2077) Mr. Lewis has been President, Chairman of the Board and 51 percent stockholder in Uniworld Group, Inc. (Uniworld) (December Ventures Ex. 1, p. 1), which has its offices at 1250 Broadway, Manhattan, New York (Tr. 2047). Uniworld allegedly is a company which provides "a range of marketing services, some of which are public relations, public affairs, research, promotion and also advertising" (Tr. 1998). At times, Uniworld serves as a conventional advertising agency (Tr. 2002), working in "the Black and Hispanic market" (Tr. 1999). Uniworld placed $20 million in advertising in the last year (Tr. 2169).

87. Uniworld provides services for a number of clients, including Burger King restaurants (Tr. 2007). Burger King placed advertising in excess of $1 million in one campaign in 1984 through Uniworld. (Id.) Burger King hired Uniworld in order "to reach Black listeners" (Tr. 2008). In serving its clients such as Burger King, Uniworld determines the station or stations wit the "best reach against the particular group within the Black community (the client is) interested in reaching." (Id.) It then makes a comparative suggestion showing the different ratings of different stations, does other market research, and prepares a report making a recommendation to the client as to on which stations to buy advertising, which the client approves or disapproves. Uniworld advises clients as to what media form best suits their needs (Tr. 2008-09).

88. Uniworld has purchased time on behalf of its clients on New York City radio stations WBLS, WWRL and WKTU, which serve the Black community (Tr. 2013-14), and "one or two" stations which serve the Hispanic community (Tr. 2023) It has also placed advertising in such New York City newspapers as the New York Amsterdam News, the Queens Voice, the New York Challenger, and the New York Times, which are all circulated in the New York metropolitan area, including Nassau County (Tr. 2015-16). Uniworld has purchased advertising space from outdoor advertising companies such as Foster and Kleiser, in Brooklyn, Queens and possibly in Nassau County (Tr. 2019). Uniworld has purchased advertising time on "most" television stations in the New York area "at one time or another," including WCBS-TV, WNBC-TV, WABC-TV, WNEW-TV, WOR-TV and WPIX-TV (Tr. 2019-20).

89. Uniworld also has prepared advertising copy which was intended to be used in advertising by its clients. Those clients seek Uniworld's counsel on what the contents of that copy should be (Tr. 2022). Uniworld hires talent for commercials, and hires the production company to actually produce audio and video commercial material (Tr. 2039-40). Uniworld also prepares point of purchase displays on behalf of its clients (Tr. 2022).

90. Uniworld also works for clients "interested in the national Black and Hispanic communities" (Tr. 2024-25), and places advertising on such nationally circulated media as the Sheridan Radio Network, Ebony magazine, Essence magazine and Jet magazine, and television networks

(Tr. 2026).

91. Mr. Lewis, who now devotes at least 40 hours per week to Uniworld (Tr. 2055), proposes to reduce his time commitment to Uniworld to 20 hours per week. Mr. Lewis appointed, about one year ago, another individual (Herbert Kemp) to be President of Uniworld (December Ventures Ex. 1, p. 2; Tr. 2030). Prior to Mr. Kemp, Douglas Alligood was president for seven months (Tr. 2041), but Mr. Alligood was fired because he could not perform satisfactorily in the job (Tr. 2066).

92. Uniworld is owned as follows: Mr. Lewis owns 51 percent of the stock, and a limited partner in which Mason Starring of Stamford, Connecticut is the general partner owns the remaining 49 percent (Tr. 1997-98). Mr. Lewis does not believe he has any obligations to his minority shareholder in Uniworld (Tr. 2160). However, he would not turn Mr. Starring down if Mr. Starring requested Mr. Lewis to return to Uniworld in the event that "things are going down financially" (Tr. 2164). The nature of conditions facing Uniworld might force Mr. Lewis to spend a lot more time at Uniworld than he might otherwise (Tr. 2161). Although Mr. Lewis had told the board of directors of Uniworld of his plans concerning the Garden City station (Tr. 2143), he only planned to tell in the future the Uniworld board that Uniworld would not do anybusiness with the proposed FM station (Tr. 2147). The record contains no evidence that either Mr. Lewis or the board of directors of Uniworld have taken any steps to insulate themselves from December Ventures' proposed station.

93. Mr. Lewis also devotes about 10 hours per week to another business venture of his, through December Ventures, to develop the Harlem district of Manhattan as a tourist and cultural center (Tr.

94. Mr. Lewis has resided for over 40 years within the primary service area of December Ventures' proposed station. He has lived in the following communities during the following periods: Far Rockaway, Long Island (1936-1941); Jamaica, New York (1941-1957); Brooklyn, New York (1957-1958); and Mount Vernon, New York (1958-1968). These residences are within the predicted 1 mV/m contour of the station (December Ventures Ex. 1, p. 2; Ex. 1A; Tr. 2031-32). From April 1974 to the present time, Mr. Lewis has resided at 67 Park Terrace East, New York, New York. An engineering study was undertaken by Jules Cohen and Associates, P.C. to determine whether Mr. Lewis' present residence is located within the proposed primary service area of the station. The study concluded that a 60 dBu (1 mV/m) signal is received at his present residence (December Ventures Ex. 1A). Mr.

Lewis proposes to move to Garden City, New York, if December Ventures' application is granted (December Ventures Ex. 1, p. 2).

95. Mr. Lewis has participated extensively in civic activities within the proposed service area (December Ventures Ex. 1, p. 3; Tr. 1975, 2111, 1977, 2052).

96. Mr. Lewis has experience in the radio broadcasting field. He was the executive producer and creator of a syndicated radio program entitled, "Sounds of the City." The program was a Black-oriented radio serial that comprised daily 15-minute dramatic episodes running for 37 weeks (December Ventures Ex. 1, p. 4). Mr. Lewis had supervisory authority over studio production of the program (Tr. 2121-22). As executive producer, Mr. Lewis hired writers and line producers, arranged syndication, promoted the series and arranged for sponsorship. He also dealt with talent and approved the final program product prior to end distribution (December Ventures Ex. 1, p. 4; Tr. 2153-54). He met with station managers, program directors, and presidents of licensees (Tr. 2070-71). He supervised most of the production work in radio station studios (Tr. 2154-55). Mr. Lewis was involved in the creation of another series for RCA Corporation and had the same type of involvement with this program series as he did with "Sounds of the City (Tr. 2124).

97. Neither December Ventures nor Byron E. Lewis (except for Uniworld) has any cognizable interest in any medium of mass communications (December Ventures Ex. 2).

98. December Ventures proposes to provide auxiliary power standby capability for its station (December Ventures Ex. 3).

99. WINK Radio, Inc. WINK is a corporation composed of two shareholders, Ronald E. Graiff and Winifred C. Graiff, who are husband and wife (WINK Exs. 1, 2). Mr.

Graiff is the company's President; Mrs. Graiff, its Secretary-Treasurer. (Id.) Each owns 50% of WINK's outstanding shares (WINK Ex. 1 at 8; Tr. 2583).

100. Mr. and Mrs. Graiff own jointly, as tenants by the entirety, 77 shares of the common stock of the American Broadcasting Companies, Inc. (WINK Ex. 1 at 9).

101. Under a profit-sharing plan established by Ronald Graiff's employer, LIN Broadcasting Corp. (LIN), Mr. Graiff owned 233 shares of common stock of LIN at the time of the filing of WINK's application for this station. Mr. Graiff had also been issued options to purchase less than 1T of LIN's common stock. As of June 30, 1984, LIN had issued a total of 21,025,080 shares of such stock. (Id.) On July 27, 1984, Mr. Graiff exercised certain of these option rights and purchased 36,111 shares of that stock. (Id.) On January 31, 1985, Mr. Graiff sold these 36,111 shares, as noted in an amendment to WINK's application. Pursuant to paragraph 39 of the Hearing Designation order, Mr. Graiff has committed to resign from all his positions with LIN and each of its subsidiaries in the event that WINK's application is granted. (Id. at 10)

102. Both 50% shareholders of WINK have proposed to work full-time (at least 40 hours per week) in management positions at the station (WINK Ex. 1, at 8).

103. Ronald Graiff will serve as General Manager of the licensee (WINK Ex. 1 at 2, 8; Tr. 2580). Mr. Graiff's responsibility will include monitoring the station's ongoing financial performance; reviewing the performance of the General Sales Manager and his or her local sales staff and that of the outside national sales representative; supervising the work of the Chief Engineer in the areas of technical operation, equipment maintenance, and apital expenditures; monitoring the station's commercial practices and the effectiveness of its program format; and developing long-range planning and operating strategies (WINK Ex. 1 at 8).

104. Winifred C. Graiff will serve as Station Manager of the licensee (WINK Ex. 2 at 4-5). Mrs. Graiff's primary responsibilities will include supervision of the News Director and Program Director with respect to news and public affairs programs (WINK Ex. 2 at 6; Tr. 2428). Mrs. Graiff will also serve as teh station's Editorial Director -- overseeing both editorial policy and equal access obligations (WINK Ex. 2 at 6-7). In addition, Mrs. Graiff will have primary responsibility for the station's personnel practices and implementation of WINK's equal employment opportunity policy and program. (Id. at 5-6) Mrs. Graiff will also serve as teh station's Director of Public Affairs. (Id. at 6) As Director of Public Affairs, Mrs. Graiff will chair WINK's Community Advisory Board. (Id.; Tr. 2420) She will supervise a staff who will assist her in this fucntion (Tr. 2431-32). Mrs. Graiff will also produce and host one of WINK's weekly public affairs programs, a one-hour call-in dialog program featuring local community leaders (WINK Ex. 2 at 7; Tr. 2429-30).

105. Since 1973, Mr. and Mrs. Graiff have resided in Huntington Station, New York (WINK Ex. 1, p. 1; WINK Ex. 2, p. 1). Huntington Station is outside the 1 mV/m contour of WINK's proposed station (Tr. 2761, 2917). From late 1969 to October, 1971, Mr. Graiff resided in Bellerose, New York (WINK Ex. 1, p. 2). From October, 1971 to March, 1973 he resided in Francis Lewis Boulevard in Queens County. (Id.) Mrs. Graiff resided in Elmont, Nassau County, New York from 1948 to October, 1971 (WINK Ex. 2, p. 1). From October, 1971 to March, 1973,

Mrs. Graiff resided at Francis Lewis Boulevard in Queens County (WINK Ex. 2, p. 2). Nearly all of Queens is within the 1 mV/m contour of WINK's proposed station (WINK Ex. 1A, Figure 1). WINK has not indicated whether Bellerose and Elmont are within the 1 mV/m contour of WINK's proposed station. Mr. and Mrs. Graiff have promised to relocate to Garden City if WINK's application is granted (WINK Ex. 1, p. 2; WINK Ex. 2, p. 2).

106. Ronald Graiff does not claim any credit for participation in civic and community activities within the service area of WINK's proposed station. Mrs. Graiff has participated in the following civic and community activities:

> Member, Girl Scouts, Elmont, NY -- during childhood.
> Attending member, St. Boniface Roman Catholic Church, Elmont, NY -- childhood until 1971.
> Member, St. John's Chorus (charity concerts in Queens area) -- 1965 through 1969.

Member, Delta Sigma Chi (performed community service work in Queens County) -- volunteer teacher of Catechism to patients; length of volunteer work not specified (WINK Ex. 2, pp. 2-3).

107. Mrs. Graiff does not have any previous broadcast experience. From 1964 to 1968, Mr. Graiff worked in several capacities at noncommercial station WHR, licensed to Pennsylvania State University, State College, Pennsylvania (WINK Ex. 1, p. 4). He held the positions of on-air announcer, engineer, program director and general manager during various time periods (WINK Ex. 1, pp. 4-5). In 1967-68, while at college, Mr. Graiff was employed as a weekend announcer at station WRSC AM/FM, State College, Pennsylvania (WINK Ex. 1, p. 5). During the summer of 1965, Mr. Graiff was employed as an on-air announer at WTOA-FM, Trenton, New Jersey. (Id.) In the summer of 1966, he was employed by ABC, New York, New York, doing radio maintenance work at the ABC Radio Network and at WABC AM/FM.

(Id.) During the summer of 1967, Mr. Graiff was employed at WXYZ AM/FM, Detroit, Michigan with similar responsibilities. (Id.) From September, 1971 to May, 1975, Mr. Graiff was employed at ABC, New York, New York, as a radio frequency systems and allocation engineer (WINK Ex. 1, pp. 5-6). Since May, 1975, Mr. Graiff has been employed by LIN, first as director of engineering and since 1978 as Vice President-Engineering (WINK Ex. 1, p. 6). In his current position, Mr. Graiff supervises and reviews the substantive engineering work of the chief engineering at LIN's broadcast stations, ensures that each of these stations complies with the Commission's engineering rules, prepares appropriate applications for filing with the Commission and develops capital and operating budgets for LIN's stations (WINK Ex. 1, p. 7).

108. Wink proposes to install auxiliary power generating equipment at the studio and/or transmitter site (Wink Ex. 1, pp. 10-12).

109. Fonic Broadcasting Company. Fonic is a general partnership. Its principals are as follows:

Christina Mamos 122-20 Ocean Promenade Belle Harbor, New York	52% partner
Teddy Savalas 7 Kingsley Road Huntington, New York	24% partner
Telly Savalas Hollywood, California (Fonic Exs. 1, 2 and 3).	24% partner

110. None of the principals of Fonic have any interests in any media of mass communications. (Id.)

111. Christina Mamos, a female, is proposed to be the General Manager of Fonic's proposed station. She will devote full-time, 40 hours per week, to this position. In this role, she proposes to oversee supervision of all facets of station management including the station manager and epartment heads. She will be involved with overseeing community affairs and public service broadcasting as well as financial matters, including dealing with accountants and auditors (Fonic Ex. 1, pp. 2-3).

112. Ms. Mamos has lived at her present residence for the past six years, which is just within the 1 mV/m contour of Fonic's proposed station (Fonic Ex. 1, p. 1). She holds the educational degrees of B.A. from Deree-Pierce College, Athens, Greece and an M.A. in English from Hofstra University, Hempstead, New York (Fonic Ex. 1, pp. 1-2). She is 30 years old (Tr. 2209).

113. Ms. Mamos' broadcast experience commenced in 1979 when she worked as a radio host and announcer at WNYG(AM), Babylon, New York. She moved in 1980 to radio station WALK, Patchogue, New York, where she wrote and hosted a live radio show. In 1982, she moved to station WLIM, Patchogue, New York, here she now has an international show (Fonic Ex. 1, p. 2). Ms. Mamos has had identical work and duties on these radio shows as her father, Teddy Savalas (Tr. 2237). At WLIM, the position is not full-time, and requires about 15 hours per week (Tr. 2236-37).

114. Ms. Mamos has been a member of the Long Island Cultural Society (also known as the Solone Society of Garden City), St. Paul's Greek Orthodox Church in Garden City and the Hofstra Association in Hempstead (Fonic Ex. 1, p. 2).

115. Teddy Savalas is proposed to be Fonic's station manager, devoting full-time, at least 40 hours per week. He proposes to work closely with the general manager, but concentrate on station operational matters including overseeing the programming, engineering, operations and sales and news/public affairs department (Fonic Ex. 2, p. 4).

116. Mr. Savalas lives in Huntington,

New York, which is in Suffolk County, outside the 1 mV/m contour of the proposed station (WINK Ex. 1A, p. 7). He has lived there since 1960 (Tr. 2230).

117. Mr. Savalas holds bachelor's and master's degrees from Hofstra University. He is a professional teacher, and has taught for 27 years on Long Island, in the Syosset and Hicksville districts (Fonic Ex. 2, p. 1). He attended the conventions of the National Education Association as a delegate. (Id.)

118. Mr. Savalas has been involved with radio since 1979, working with his daughter Christina Mamos, at stations WNYG, WALK and WLIM (Fonic Ex. 2, p. 4; Tr. 2237).

119. Telly Savalas is not proposed to be integrated into the management of Fonic's proposed station (Fonic Ex. 3).

120. Fonic proposes to install auxiliary power generating equipment at the stuio and/or transmitter site (Fonic Ex. 4).

121. Mid-Island Broadcasting, Inc.

Mid-Island is a corporation organized under the laws of the State of New York. The officers, directors and voting shareholders of Mid-Island are as follows:

Shareholder	Office/ Director	Shares	%
Paris B. Swoopes	President/ Director	1100	11
Lester Gaither	Vice President/ Director	1100	11
Kathleen S. Gayle	Vice President/ Director	1100	10
Ruby H. Jones	Vice President/ Director	1100	10
Freeman McNeil	Vice President/ Director	900	9
Robert S. Smith	Secretary/ Director	2000	20
James La Marca	Treasurer/ Director	2900	29

(Mid-Island Ex. 1; Tr. 2648).

122. A total of 10,000 shares of Mid-Island stock, at $10.00 per share, have been subscribed for by the above-named shareholders (Tr. 2648).

123. James La Marca is the founder, sole owner, Chairman, and President of La Marca Group, Inc., a media time-buying service (Mid-Island Ex. 8, Tr. 3235). La

Marca Group places advertising in various media of mass communications on behalf of its advertising clients, including "buying time on broadcast station" (Mid-Island Ex. 8; WINK Ex. 4; Tr. 2681-85, 3235-39, 3246). This constitutes 80% of La Marca Group's business (Tr. 3236-37). La Marca Group recommends to its clients stations on which they should place advertising (Tr. 3238-39). It also buys advertising in newspapers circulated within the service area of WLIR-FM, and on Madison Square Garden cable (Tr. 3246, 3247). Mr. La Marca will continue to maintain his ownership interest in and management position with La Marca Group (Tr. 3249-50; Mid-Island Answers to Westplex Interrogatories #11).

124. During the 18 months immediately prior to November 1984, La Marca Group placed 10% of its total advertising on broadcast stations in the New York City metropolitan area (WINK Ex. 4; Tr. 2685, 282-84). Much of this advertising was placed on broadcast stations that overlap Mid-Island's proposed service area (WINK Ex. 4; Tr. 2684-85, 3248, 3287).

125. Neither Mid-Island (Mid-Island Ex. 1) nor any other Mid-Island shareholder holds any interest in any medium of mass communications, except Robert Smith (Mid-Island Ex. 2, p. 3; Ex. 3, p. 3; Ex. 4, p. 3; Ex. 5, p. 4; Ex. 6, p. 3; Ex. 8, p. 3). Mr. Smith is Vice President, Director and 25% stockholder of Drum Communications, Inc., licensee of Radio Station WNWZ(AM), Highland Springs, Virginia. He has committed to divest himself entirely of his interest in Drum Communications, Inc. in the event Mid-Island's application is granted (Mid-Island Ex. 7, p. 3). Messrs. Smith and La Marca have unrecognizable interests in a number of applications for low power television stations currently pending before the Commission (Mid-Island Ex. 7, p. 3; Ex.

126. Mid-Island proposes to integrate each of its seven shareholders into full-time (40 hours per week) managerial positions at its proposed station.

127. Paris B. Swoopes. Mr. Swoopes has subscribed for 11% of the stock issued by Mid-Island (Mid-Island Ex. 1). Mr. Swoopes will serve full-time as the Station Vice President and Sales Manager (Mid-Island Ex. 2, p. 3). Mr. Swoopes is a Black male, born in Sheffield, Alabama. For the past 13 years, he has resided in Roosevelt, New York, which is located within the 1 mV/m contour of Mid-Island's proposed station (Mid-Island Ex. 2, p. 2).

128. Mr. Swoopes is currently president and sole proprietor of Paris Swoopes Laboratories, which performs diagnostic testing for doctors (Tr. 2292-93). Mr. Swoopes' participation in Paris Swoopes Laboratories is essential for continued success of the business (Tr. 2299). Nevertheless, Mr. Swoopes will reduce his time commitment to Paris Swoopes Laboratories if Mid-Island's application is granted (Mid-Island Ex. 2, at 3). Mr. Swoopes currently works about 36 hours per week at Paris Swoopes Laboratories (Tr. 2294-95). Mr. Swoopes also currently works 30 hours per week as the Director of Clinical Laboratory Services at the A. Holly Patterson Home (Tr. 2296-97). Mr. Swoopes has said he will reduce this time commitment if Mid-Island's application is granted (Mid-Island Ex. 2, at 3). Mr. Swoopes has not yet decided if he would terminate his employment at Paris Swoopes Laboratories or at the A. Holly Patterson Home if Mid-Island's application were granted (Tr. 2402-03).

129. Mr. Swoopes' civic activities include regular weekly involvement as Chairperson of the Nassau County Commission on Human Rights, a non-elected position which he has held with that county agency since 1980. He chairs meetings, establishes policy and acts as a spokesperson for the Commission on community issues within its purview. In the event Mid-Island's application is granted, he intends to maintain this position if time permits. He generally devotes approximately one hour per week to this involvement (Mid-Island Ex. 2, p. 3; Tr. 2310-11, 2409). Mr. Swoopes was a Director of the Uniondale, New York Chamber of Commerce for a two-year period which ended just prior to the hearing on November 1, 1984. He continues to be a member of that organization (Tr. 2311). In addition, Mr. Swoopes served as the President of the Hempstead, New York Rotary Club (1981-1982); and as President of the Grace Lutheran Church School, Malverne, New York (1980). He was also a member of the Parent Teacher League, Malverne, New York (1980)

Mid-Island Ex. 2, p. 3).

130. Mr. Lester Gaither has subscribed for 11% of the stock issued by Mid-Island (Mid-Island Ex. 1). He will serve full-time as Station Vice President and Operations Manager. In that capacity he will be responsible for scheduling all programs and commercials on a day-to-day basis (Mid-Island Ex. 3, pp. 2-3).

131. Mr. Gaither is a Black male, born in Winnsboro, South Carolina. He resides in Hempstead, New York, which borders Garden City. He has lived at his current address for the past five years (Mid-Island Ex. 3, p. 2; Tr. 2517). Mr. Gaither has been employed with the Roosevelt, New York Public School District for 22 years. At one time he served as its Coordinator of Social Work and Transportation. Currently, and for the last seven years, he has served as its Administrator. He intends to terminate his employment in the event Mid-Island's application is granted (Mid-Island Ex. 3, p. 2). Mr. Gaither is a tenured employer with the School District. Under the terms of his employment contract, he may terminate his employment upon 30 days notice (Tr. 2498-99).

132. Mr. Gaither is a member of St. Joseph's Church located in Garden City. He has been active in the Bishop's Fund which raises money to be used by the Diocese for charitable purposes. He expects to maintain his activity in the event that Mid-Island's application is granted. Mr. Gaither is also affiliated with the NAACP and the Urban League, which have chapters in the Hempstead area. He participates in programs and activities sponsored by these organizations in the Hempstead area, many of which are related to youth and schools (Mid-Island Ex. 3, p. 2; Tr. 2496-97).

133. Mrs. Kathleen S. Gayle has subscribed for 10% of the stock issued by Mid-Island (Mid-Island Ex. 1). Mrs. Gayle will serve full-time (40 hours per week) as the station's Vice President and Office Manager. In that capacity she will oversee the business functions of the station and report to the General Manager (Mid-Island Ex. 5, pp. 3-4).

134. Mrs. Gayle is a Black female, born in New York, New York. She is a long-time resident of Great Neck, New York, where she has been employed and has been active in civic activities for at least 20 years. Great Neck is within the service area of Mid-Island's proposed station. (Id. pp. 2-3)

135. Mrs. Gayle recently retired. She has an employment history in education and social work which includes the following positions: Family Social Worker, New York City Department of Social Services, (1948-54); Probation Officer (Spanish speaking), New York City Magistrate Court, (1955-56); Executive Director, United

Neighborhood Activity Plan, Great Neck, New York (1960-62); Teacher In Charge, Samuel Huntington Community Training Center, Jamaica, New York, (1964-65); Education Director, North Shore Community Arts Center, Great Neck, (1967); Teacher of emotionally disturbed children, Roslyn, New York Public schools, (1968-70), and in New York City public schools, (1973-83). (Id.)

136. Mrs. Gayle has had extensive civic involvement over the years: Executive Board, (1963-72) and Educational Chairman (1965-80), Great Neck-Manhasset-Port Washington-Roslyn, NY Chapter of the NAACP; community resource volunteer (currently) and member of Board of Directors (1963-65), Community Service Center, Manhasset, NY; Education Committee and Sunday School teacher, Great Neck Methodist Church (1959-76); Board of Directors, Great Neck Public Library (1971-76); charter member and co-chairman of B-Plan of Great Neck (Black Parents Organized for Leadership and Action Now), a grassroots community organization to facilitate communications with the schools (1962-76); panelist on a 13-week public television station WNET program entitled "How Do Your Children Grow" (1970); educational consultant to P.O.S.O.C. (Parents Organized to Save Our Children), a grassroots community organization formed to explore fair educational practices for Black children (1964-68); Steering Committee and NAACP representative to Great Neck Economic Opportunities Council (1964-68); Executive Board, Great Neck Committee for Human Rights (1962-68); Executive Board of the Citizen's Advisory Committee for Nassau County Children's Shelter (1963-65) (Mid-Island Ex. 5, pp. 2-3).

137. Mrs. Gayle testified taht although she has not managed a company office, she has developed and used bookkeeping and recordkeeping skills during her employment as the Executive Director of the United Neighborhood Activity Plan. Furthermore, as the Education Director of the Community Arts Center, she managed 90 volunteers. And, she was involved in the budgetary process each year that she was a member of the Board of Directors of the Great Neck Library (Tr. 2448, 2484-86).

138. Ruby H. Jones has subscribed for 10% of the stock issued by Mid-Island (Mid-Island Ex. 1). Mrs. Jones will serve full-time (40 hours per week) as the station's Vice President and Community Services Director. In that capacity, she will coordinate the station's public service functions including the ascertainment of the interests and needs of the local public, and the development of topics for programming to meet such needs and interests (Mid-Island Ex. 4, p. 3).

139. Mrs. Jones is a Black female, born in Raleigh, North Carolina. She has resided in Great Neck, New York for the past twenty-two years. Great Neck is within the 1 mV/m coverage area of Mid-Island's present time. She was employed for thirty years in various teaching and social service positions in Brooklyn, Queens and Nassau County. (Id.)

141. Mrs. Jones has been a member of the Great Neck, New York Branch of the American Red Cross for the past four years. She has served as its treasurer since May, 1984 (Tr. 2550). She became a life member of the NAACP some 10 to 15 years ago, and has served on the Board of Directors of its Great Neck-Manhasset-Port Washington Chapter (Tr. 2550-51). She testified that she has always held an office in the chapter. Currently, she is the co-chairman of the membership committee, a position she has held for the past two years. She served as chairman of that committee for four years previously (Tr. 2576-78). Her past civic activities include: Girl Scout Troup Leader in Great Neck; Boy Scout Den Mother in Great Neck; Great Neck Adult Education Committee; and participation in programs sponsored by the Urban League (Mid-Island Ex. 4, pp. 2-3).

142. Freeman McNeil, a 9% shareholder of Mid-Island, is proposed to be Sports Director at the station. Mr. McNeil is a professional football player with the New York Jets football team (Mid-Island Ex. 6; Tr. 3302). His current contrat runs at least until 1988 (Tr. 3302). If Mid-Island's application is granted, Mr. McNeil will retain his position as a professional football player (Tr. 2733-34). Mr. McNeil does not commit himself to devoting any specific amount of time to working at the station during the time of his football obligations (Mid-Island Ex. 6, at 2-3). The duration of the football season lasts from training in July through (possibly) the Super Bowl in January (Tr. 3304-05). Mr. McNeil will not spend 40 hours per week at the station during ɔotball season (Tr. 2734-35). Nor will he "be at the station on a day-to-day basis" during football season (Mid-Island Ex. 6).

143. In his role as Sports Director, Mr. McNeil anticipates that he will be doing radio shows himself as an on-air performer rather than managing others (Tr. 3307-09, 3326, 3319, 3261-62, 2734).

144. Mr. McNeil is a Black male, born in Jackson, Mississippi. He resides in Dix Hills, New York, and plans to relocate to the service area of Mid-Island's proposed station in the event Mid-Island's application is granted (Mid-Island Ex. 6, p. 2).

145. Robert S. Smith has subscribed for 20% of the stock issued by Mid-Island (Mid-Island Ex. 1). Mr. Smith will serve full-time (at least 40 hours per week) as the station's Vice President and General Manager. He will be responsible for overall supervision of th station's operation in programming, sales, engineering and business (Mid-Island Ex. 7, p. 3).

146. Mr. Smith currently resides at 75 Leonard Street, New York, New York. Because his residence is situated approximately 45 minutes from Garden City, he currently does not intend to move to Garden City unless it becomes necessary to do so to effectuate his full-time commitment to the station (Mid-Island Ex. 7, p. 2).

147. From 1952 until 1973, Mr. Smith was employed during various periods as Music Director of WNBC, Program Director of WINS, Program Director of WOR, and General Manager of WOR-AM-FM-TV (Mid-Island Ex. 7; Tr. 2692-93, 2705).

148. Mr. Smith currently spends approximately 30 hours per week as a consultant at La Marca Group (Tr. 2679). Mr. Smith's job is to find broadcast properties for La Marca Group to invest in (Tr. 2680-81, 3235-36, 3258-59). The deleted facilities of WLIR-FM represented the kind of broadcast properties Mr. Smith was hired by Mr. La Marca to look for (Tr. 2680-81). Mr. Smith will terminate this work in the event Mid-Island's application is granted (Mid-Island Ex. 7, p. 2; Tr. 2680-81).

149. When the WLIR license became available, Mr. Smith and Mr. La Marca agreed to look for a group of shareholders who would help the application under FCC guidelines (Tr. 2593-94). In order to have a better chance of prevailing in a comparative hearing, Mr. Smith and Mr. La Marca decided that Mr. Smith would undertake the task of "assembling a minority group" to join with them in an application (Tr. 3260-61).

150. In particular, Mr. Smith and Mr. La Marca were looking for members of minority groups to hold a 51% interest in Mid-Island (Tr. 2594-96, 2600-01, 2621).

Mr. Smith and Mr. La Marca would have preferred to apply for the license themselves, but felt it was necessary to recruit minorities under current FCC policy in order to have any chance of being successful (Tr. 2593-96, 2603). Mr. Smith and Mr. La Marca had hoped initially to recruit minorities from Garden City if any were available (Tr. 2624). In addition to members of minority groups, Mr. Smith and Mr. La Marca were looking for women to enhance the application (Tr. 2611-12). They also sought as other participants those who would agree to work full-time at the station (Tr. 2627).

151. Mr. Smith advised those he was recruiting as to what would be beneficial to the application (Tr. 2565-66). Mr. Smith made it known to them that it would be advantageous to have members of minority groups holding a majority of the stock (Tr. 2277-78, 2347, 2375, 2376, 2421, 2514). Mr.

Smith also suggested to those he contacted that it might be helpful to the application if their wives were interested in joining also (Tr. 2611-12). That is how Ms. Jones and Ms. Gayle first became involved in the application (Tr. 2250-51).

152. Mr. Smith was the person who brought the group together (Tr. 2340, 2376). Mr. Smith was the one who first informed the minority participants that the facilities of WLIR were available (Tr. 2281). On behalf of himself and Mr. La Marca, Mr. Smith made all the initial contacts to interest the minority shareholders in the application (Tr. 2281). Mr. Smith first recruited Mr. Gaither (Tr. 2599-2600, 2506-07, 2510. He then recruited Mr. Swoopes, Mr. and Mrs. Gayle, and Mr. and Mrs. Jones (Tr. 2608-14). To allocate the remaining 9% of the shares, Mr. La Marca suggested that Mr. Smith contact Mr. McNeil, which he did (Tr. 2615-16). The contact was made through Mr.

cNeil's lawyer, who is also Mr. La Marca's lawyer (Tr. 3314).

153. Mr. Smith's civic involvement includes the following activities: New York Cancer Society Board of Directors and Education Committee (1969-75); Mayor's Committee of Film and TV, for which he worked to bring filming and production projects to New York City (1971-75); the Community Council of Greater New York Board of Directors (1973-75); New York Bicentennial Committee, Media and Advertising Committee (1974-76).

154. James La Marca has subscribed for 29% of the stock issued by Mid-Island (Mid-Island Ex. 1). Mr. La Marca will serve full-time (40 hours per week) as the station's Vice President and Advertising and Promotion Director. In that capacity, he will plan, supervise and execute the station's advertising and promotional efforts (Mid-Island Ex. 6, p. 3).

155. Mr. La Marca resides in New York City (Mid-Island Ex. 8, p. 2). He has been employed in broadcast advertising for twenty-five years and is currently Chairman, President and 100% stockholder of La Marca Group, Inc., a marketing a media service company which purchases time on broadcast stations for client advertisers and advertising agencies, and engages in market analysis, media research and promotional planning on behalf of clients (Mid-Island Ex. 8, p. 2; Tr. 3233, 3235). Mr. La Marca does not involve himself in the day-to-day operations of La Marca Group. His primary function is to maintain client contact (Tr. 3245). Should Mid-Island's application be granted, Mr. La Marca will reduce his time commitment to La Marca Group in order to effectuate his integration proposal (Mid-Island Ex. 8, p. 2). Mr. La Marca testified that he currently spends 30 to 40 hours per week at La Marca Group, 20 to 30 nours of which are devoted to La marca Group business, with the balance of time spent on other entrepreneurial activities (Tr. 3252). He testified that steps to reudce his timecommitment to La Marca Group have already been taken in that managers have ben running the cmopany on a day-to-day basis for some time. He also testified that he would surrender certain other, more speciulative, entrepreneurial activities if Mid-Island were granted the license, and that he could reduce his time to La Marca Group to twenty hours per week or perhaps slightly less (Tr. 3254).

156. For the past ten years Mr. La Marca has served as an adjunct professor at St. John's University which is located in Queens, New York and within the service area of Mid-Island's proposed station. He teaches communications-related courses, and intends to maintain this activity in the event Mid-Island's application is granted.

He testified that the is prepared to resign from this position if it interferes with his full-time commitment to Mid-Island's station (Mid-Island Ex. 8, p. 3; Tr. 3256-57).

157. Mid-Island proposes to install auxiliary power generating equipment at the studio and/or transmitter site (Mid Island Ex. ().

158. McComas Broadcasting Corporation. McComas is a corporation organized under the laws of the State of New York (McComas Ex. 1, p. 1).

159. James P. McComas Miro is McComas' sole officer and director. He has subscribed to one hundred percent (100%) of the equity of McComas. (Id.).

160. Mr. Miro was born in 1962 in Puerto Rick (McComas Ex. 2, p. 1). He resided in Puerto Rico until 1980. He first moved to Garden City in 1983 to attend Adelphi University in Garden City. (Id.) He resides in what is presumably a residence hall on the campus of Adelphi University (McComas Application, Section 11). He previously attended High Point College in North Carolina (McComas Ex., p. 1).

161. Mr. Miro owns eight percent (8%) of the issued and outstanding stock of MCO Industries, Inc., which owns all of the issued and outstanding stock in Cavallaro Broadcasting Corporation, licensee of Station WOSO, San Juan, Puerto Rick (McComas Ex. 4, p. 1). According to the most recent ownership reports on file with the FCC for Cavallaro Broadcasting Corporation (dated October 25, 1979), 52% of the issued shares of stock of MCO Industries, Inc. are held by the parents of James Miro, and the remaining 49% of the shares are held equally by James Miro and his five siblings. Mr. Miro and his siblings received their stock as a gift from their parents.

162. McComas has represented that Mr. Miro will spend at least forty (40) hours per week as General Manager of the proposed station (McComas Ex. 3, p. 1). However, Mr. Miro has not represented that he would terminate his studies in order to devote time to the proposed station.

163. Mr. Miro's only experience in connection with broadcasting wsa during the summer of 1983, when Mr. Miro oversaw the bookkeeping of Station WOSO, San Juan, Puerto Rico. (Id.) Other than Mr. Miro's brief bookeeeping experience, McComas has not provided any information to indicate that Mr. Miro has past broadcast experience.

164. McComas proposes to install auxiliary generators at the studio and transmitter sites (McComas Ex. 5).

Conclusions

Main Studio Issue

165. Spectron has proposed to locate its main studio in the Village of Hempstead which adjoins the community of license, the Village of Garden City. Section 73.1125 of the Commission's Rules requires that main studios be located in the community of license, except when good cause exists for locating the main studio outside the principal community to be served and that to do so would eb consistent with operation of the station in the public interest. See Holt-Robinson of Texas, Inc., Mimeo No. 2919, released March 15, 1984; WAVY Television, Inc., Mimeo No. 1034, released November 28, 1984.

166. Spectron's proposed studio location is one which has been the site of the studio and offices of Station WLIR for the past 17 years. The former licensee of WLIT received a waiver of the studio location rule in 1978. The WILR studio is located about 1/5 mile over the Garden City line and less than 2 miles form the Garden City business center. Although now there may be a suitable site for a studio available in Garden City, there is no indication that the residents of Garden City are presnetly inconvenienced or that the public interest is compromised by the studio's continued location in the village of Hempstead. The immediate use of the pre-existing studio in the instant case would result in an efficient and prompt commencement of service by the new, permanent licensee. Such a transition would permit the permanent licensee to devote its immediate attention and resources to programming development, employment of staff and other station matters without the need to udnergo all the expenses and attendant delays connected with the construction of a new studio. The commission has recognized in the past that there is good cause for location of a studio at a site outside the community of license when such a location can result in general economies to the licensee. See Cleveland Broadcasting, Inc.,

7 FCC 2d 680 (Rev. Ed. 1967); Richmond Newspapers, Inc., 20 FCC 185 (1955). Additionally, retaining the same studio would maintain the continuity of station-community relations established the past 17 years. Furthermore it has been the common practice in deleted facilities cases that the station continue to be operative with its pre-existing facilities. It would be an exercise of rudimentary fair play to allow the successor licenses herein the use of the same facilities which hve been suthorized for use by the former licensee. In light of the foregoing a waiver of the studio loation rule is warranted and the main studio issue is resolved in Spectron's favor, Spectron having demonstrated that the continued use of the pre-existing studio would be in the public interest.

Comparative Coverage Issue

167. Although WINK proposes to serve a substantially larger population in the western portion of its service area, consisting of Manhattan and Brooklyn, New York, these uncommon areas already receive service form far more than five other radio stations. In light of this none of the applicants will receive a preference for its area and population proposals. See Hampshire County Broadcasting Co., Inc., 57 RR 3d 463 (Rev. Bd. 1984).

The Standard Comparative Issue

168. Jarad Broadcasting Co. Neither Jarad nor its sole principal, Ronald Morey ha any interest in any medium of mass communications. Mor. Morey's proposed full-time integration is enhanced by his status as an American Indian (see FCC Form 395-EEO, 70 FCC 2d 1466 (1979); Minority Ownership of Broadcast Facilities, 68 FCC 2d 979 (1979); Waters Broadcasting Corporation, 91 FCC 2d 1260 (1982), his residence in the service area, his prior civic activities, and his prior broadcast experience. Jarad's application is also enhanced by its proposal to9 have auxiliary power at the transmitter site and at the studio.

169. Spectron Broadcasting Corporation. Neither Spectron nor its sole voting stockholder, Angela Shaw, holds any interest in any medium of mass communications.12/ Media interests of non-voting stockholders are generally not attributable for diversification purposes. See Multiple Ownership Rules, 55 RR 2d 1465, 1484 (1984). Ms. Shaw's full-time

12/ While Ms. Shaw is the President of ACT, which is the permittee of three low power television stations and has applications pending for others, Spectron represented prior to the "B" cut-off date in this proceeding that Ms. Shaw would divest herself of any interest in these facilities in the event of a grant of the Spectron application. Additionally, the HDO provides that a grant of construction permit to Spectron is conditioned upon Ms. Shaw's divesting herself of all interest in ACT.

integration is enhanced by her Black and female status. See Waters Broadcasting Corporation, supra. Her integration proposal is further enhanced by her past and future residence in the service area, her prior civic activities, and past broadcast experience as attorney for the Federal Communications Commission followed her graduation from law school (see Grand Broadcasting Co., 36 FCC 929, 933 (Rev. Bd. 1964)). Spectron's application is also enhanced by its proposal to have auxiliary power at both the studio and transmitter sites.

170. Garden City Broadcasting, Inc. GCB holds no interest in any medium of mass communications. Among the stockholders of GCB only Edwin Bernstein and Phyllis Bernstein have any media holdings. They own approximately 20% of the common stock of Soundcasters, Inc. and approximately 1,000 shares of the preferred stock of Soundcasters, Inc. Both of them have committed to divest these interests in the event of a grant. As a matter of fact the HDO herein specifies conditions requiring such divestiture in the event of a grant to GCB. Two of Bernstein's children, James and Kathy Bernstein, also own a total of 10% of the common stock of Soundcasters. However since they reached majority and each is financially independent their interests are not attributed to Mr. and Mrs. Bernstein. Mr. Bernstein has had a consulting contract with Station WAAL, Binghamton, New York which expired at the end of 1984 and a consulting contract with WOLF, Syracuse, New York under which he receives $2,250 per year until 1991. Mr. Bernstein's health plan was carried by WAAL and he had no other connection with it and has not been required to give any advice to Station WOLF. Neither of these consulting interests are chargeable. Neither of the consulting agreements constitute a significant managerial position. Pittsfield Community Television Association, 56 RR 2d 134 (Rev. Bd. 1983).

171. GCB has proposed all of its stockholders except John Joseph Sutter, a 1% stockholder, to be integrated into the management of its proposed station. John Beataudier is proposed as General Manager, Yvonne Betaudier as Vice President for Station Affairs, Phyllis Bernstein as News Director, Betty Sutter as Business Manager and Comptroller and Edwin Bernstein as Sales Manager.

172. GCB's opposing applicants argue that GCB's integration proposal should be discredited because on the one hand Mr. Betaudier, Mrs. Betaudier and Mrs. Sutter are not going to hold true managerial positions and that, on the other hand Mr. and Mrs. Betaudier, Mrs. Bernstein and Mrs. Sutter are not "actual and true owners."

The record, however, shows that GCB's ownership structure and its integration proposal are bona fide.

173. It is frankly admitted that Mr. Bernstein is thoroughly familiar with radio station management and F.C.C. rules and policies regarding the licensing of radio stations and taht having been made aware of the availability of the Garden City station initiated the formation of Garden City Broadcasting, Inc. Mr. Bernstein also frankly admitted that Garden City Broadcasting, Inc. was formulated in a way involving his wife and friends to give it the greatest possible chance to receive a grant. The record also shows that Mr. Bernstein has been active in pre-grant activities. But the record also shows that he acted in concert with the other stockholders and that all pre-grant actions taken were unanimously agreed to or ratified. Each stockholder has made a capital contribution for stock received. The fact that Mrs. Sutter paid for her stock out of an account jointly held with her husband does not disprove her independence. As a matter of fact, Mr. Sutter is not proposed for management. Mrs. Bernstein had paid for her stock out of her own funds - an account that she had maintained for some time. The Betaudiers have not as yet contributed towards pre-grand expenses but their claim that they will do so when they are able is credible. They will be in complete control of the management of the station with their 53% ownership and there is no evidence that they will act as figureheads.

174. It is also established that five of the six GCB stockholders will work at the station in management jobs. Mr. Betaudier is slated as the general manager. He has extensive broadcast experience and will be paid a higher salary than the other integrated principals. Yvonne Betaudier will supervise the production of all public affairs programming, including local public service announcements, and will work with public relations and community outreach efforts. Although Mrs. Betaudier may be inexperienced in the broadcast business there is no evidence that would belie the viability of her integration plan. Mrs. Sutter will have a staff working for her which will include a secretary, a copywriter and a traffic and continuity person. She will be responsible for the station's logs and oversee the maintenance of the office. The positions of News Director and Sales Manager have always been regarded as managerial.

175. GCB integration will receive 53% credit for minority status, 70.5% female credit, 46% for local residence and an additional 53% for future residence, and 28.5% credit for broadcast experience. GCB is also credited with 16% civic participation for Betty Sutter and Edwin Bernstein. GCB's application also is credited with its proposal to provide emergency power generation equipment at both the studio and the transmitter site.

176. Westplex Broadcasting Company. Westplex is a limited partnership comprised of two general partners and five limited partners. The limited partnership agreement was finalized on October 9, 1984. At the "B" cut-off date in this proceeding Westplex partners operated under a draft Memorandum of Understanding which reflected in raw terms their understanding. By its terms the general partners have full control over all aspects of the partnership and will have full control over the construction and operation of the FM radio station. Also by its terms and limited partners are to be passive investors with no control over the partnership or the proposed FM radio station

(see Jarad Ex. 12). Additionally, the limited partners only are committed to pay for the bulk of the partnership expenses in prosecuting the application and the general partners will provide funds for the construction and operation of the station and will be fully liable for any expenses incurred thereby. (Id.)

177. Westplex does not have any attributable interest in any media of mass communications. Kenneth Herring is currently program director at Station WTHE(AM), Mineola, New York. Under the Policy Statement on Comparative Broadcast Hearings, 1 FCC 2d 393 (1965) managerial positions of the principals of an applicant can be attributable media interests. Although Mr. Herring has made an unequivocal promise to terminate his employment with Station WTHE if Westplex's application is granted he did not do so as of the "B" cut-off date. Under applicable FCC precedent, principals will be attributed all of the ownership interests which they have not proposed to divest prior to the "B" cut-off date. High Sierra Broadcasting, Inc., 55 RR 2d 627, 635 (Rev. Bd. 1983). However, inasmuch as radio Station WTHE and the proposed station at Garden City are to serve substantially the same area, there is little danger that Mr. Herring would keep his position at WTHE and thus the potential for any concentration of control is very small. Consequently, Mr. Herring's failure to divest prior to the "B" cut-off date only warrants a very slight demerit. Ms. Rivera is a staff news reporter for CBS News, currently employed as an anchorwomen for RADIORADIO. This position is non-managerial in nature. Ms. Rivera also owns four shares of CBS stock pursuant to an employee investment fund. This ownership interest is extremely small and no diversification demerit will be assessed. Pittsfield Community Television Association, 56 RR 2d 134, 136 (Rev. Bd. 1983).

178. The interests of Westplex's limited partners in Station WNVR(AM), Naugatuck, Connecticut are not cognizable under the diversification criterion of the standard comparative issue because by the terms of the limited partnership agreement the limited partners are not integrated principals, are participating in Westplex merely as passive investors and will have no control over the day-to-day affairs of the proposed station. The limited partnership agreement in essence is within the Commission's guidelines set forth in Ownership Attribution, 58 RR 2d 604 (1985), and gives adequate assurance that the limited partners are insulated from participating in the operations of the partnership.

179. Westplex's proposal for the full-time integration of its two general partners is entitled to 100% minority credit because Mr. Herring is a Black American and Ms. Rivera is Hispanic. Westplex is also credited with 49% female ownership and participation, 100% past and future residence of its integrated principals in the service area, 51% credit for Mr. Herring's civic participation and 100% credit for extensive past broadcast experience. Westplex is also entitled to credit for its proposal to install emergency generating equipment at both its studio and transmitter sites.

180. North Shore Broadcasting. Gerard Reilly, 51% partner of North Shore and its president is the general sales manager for the LPTV station licensed to Plainview, Long Island. This position is deemed to be a significant managerial position (Policy Statement, supra) and, inasmuch as Mr. Reilly has not stated that he will terminate his employment at the LPTV station if North Shore's application is granted, North Shore must be assessed a diversification demerit even though the failure to divest may have been an unwitting oversight. A review of the record indicated that there is little likelihood that a concentration of control would result and consequently a slight diversification demerit will be assessed.

181. North Shore proposes the full-time integration of its three general partners. It is argued that, inasmuch as each of the partners has failed to promise to terminate his current employment in the event of a grant, the proposal should be discredited. However, a review of the record indicates that each of the principals do intend to devote full-time to their respective station involvements. A fair reading of the testimony leads the reader to the belief that the failure to promise to terminate present employment was unwitting. In any event it has not been shown that any of the integration commitments could not be effectuated without terminating current employment.

182. North Shore's integration proposal is to be credited with 49% minority ownership and involvement because Mr. Mahan is a Black American and Mr. Yam is Chinese American. All of the partners have varying degrees of past broadcast experience with which the proposal is credited. No credit is given for local residence and no credit is given for civic participation. Mr. Mahan's civic participation occurred in the course of his employment. North Shore is also entitled to credit for its proposal to provide for auxiliary power at the studio and/or transmitter. It is not clear that North Shore has committed itself to install auxiliary generating equipment at both locations.

183. December Ventures. Neither December Ventures nor Byron Lewis, its sole stockholder, has any interest in other broadcast stations. Mr. Lewis is chief executive officer and 51% owner of Uniworld which serves at times as a conventional advertising agency. Uniworld has placed $20 million in advertising in the last year and has bought time from radio and television stations whose signals cover the service area of December Venture's proposed station. Ownership of an advertising agency which places advertisements on stations in the service area of the proposed station is considered relevant to the issue of diversification. Barryville Broadcasting Company, 70 FCC 2d 1 (Rev. Bd. 1978); Mid-Florida Television Corporation, 69 FCC 2d 607 (Rev. Bd. 1978). See also Pittsfield Community Television Association, 94 FCC 2d 1320, 56 RR 2d 134 (Rev. Bd. 1983), Joseph Thomas Lamprecht, 57 RR 2d 1194 (Rev. Bd. 1984). Mr. Lewis does not propose to divest his interest in Uniworld. In light of this

December Ventures must be assessed a slight demerit under the diversification criterion.

184. Mr. Lewis proposes to work full-time as general manager at the proposed station. Mr. Lewis also will continue to work for Uniworld but proposes to reduce his time commitment to Uniworld to 20 hours per week. However, considering the nature of Uniworld's business Mr. Lewis believes that on occasion he might "be forced" to spend a lot more time at Uniworld than he might otherwise. Mr. Lewis candidly acknowledged that Uniworld operates in a "volatile" market. Uniworld's offices are located in mid-town Manhattan which is quite removed from Garden City considering New York City's traffic. In addition to his proposed 40 hours at the station and 20 hours at Uniworld, Mr. Lewis intends to continue to develop another venture of his regarding the Harlem district as a tourist and cultural center. He devotes to this endeavor 10 hours per week.

185. In light of Mr. Lewis' commitments to Uniworld and his Harlem district project it is not feasible that Mr. Lewis can effectuate his 40 hour a week commitment to December Ventures on a Monday through Friday, week in and week out basis. The rationale for the integration credit is that the integrated principal be readily available to the public. Although there is no denying that Mr. Lewis will put in the time he estimates, it is not credible that he can do so within the structure of a regular work week. It is deemed that Mr. Lewis is entitled to no more tha part-time credit for his integration proposal. See Caldwell Broadcasting Corp. 57 RR 2d 1039 (Rev. Bd. 1985).

186. Mr. Lewis' part-time integration proposal is enhanced by his past residence in the service area and his future residence in the community of license, his past civic activities in the service area, and his status as a Black American. The proposal is also credited slightly with Mr. Lewis' familiarity with radio station production operations. December Ventures also receives credit for its proposal to install auxiliary power generators.

187. WINK Radio, Inc. Ronald and Winifred Graiff own jointly 77 shares of the common stock of ABC. This interest is minimal and has no meaningful impact on diversification of control of the mass media. Greater Wichita Telecasting, Inc. 90 FCC 2d 1046 (Rev. Bd. 1982). Ronald Graiff holds 233 shares of stock of LIN Broadcasting Corp. and options to purchase more. These holdings are not cognizable because they amount to less than one percent of LIN's outstanding stock. Additionally, Mr. Graiff holds certain positions with LIN and each of its subsidiaries. Pursuant to paragraph 39 of the Hearing Designation Order he has committed to resign from all of his positions with LIN and each of its subsidiaries in the event of a grant. Accordingly, no diversification demerit will be assessed against WINK.

188. Both 50% shareholders of WINK have proposed to work full-time in management positions at the proposed station. Mrs. Graiff's 50% interest is enhanced by her female ownership, long term pst and future residence and civic participation. Mr. Graiff's 50% interest is enhanced by short term past and future residence and broadcast experience. WINK is also entitled to a credit for its proposal to install auxiliary power equipment at both its studio and transmitter sites.

189. Fonic Broadcasting Co. Neither Fonic nor any of its principals have any other media interests.

190. Fonic has proposed the full-time integration into management of its 52% partner. Christina Mamos and its 24% partner, Teddy Savalas. Fonic's proposal is enhanced by 52% female ownership, 52% past residence civic participation and future residence and 76% past broadcast experience. Fonic is also entitled to credit for its proposal to install auxiliary power generating equipment at the studio and/or transmitter site even though such proposal was not made till the exhibit exchange. Metro Broadcasting, Inc., 57 RR 2d 440 (Rev. Bd. 1984). It is not clear that Fonic has committed itself to install generating equipment at both locations.

191. Mid-Island Broadcasting Co.

Mid-Island has no attributable media interests. James La Marca, Mid-Island's 29% shareholder, is the President and sole owner of La Marca Group which is a media time-buying service for advertising clients. Of its total advertising business 10% was from placing ads on broadcast stations in the New York City metropolitan area overlaping Mid-Island's proposed service area. Mr. La Marca will retain his ownership and remain active in the La Marca Group. Consequently Mid-Island must be assessed a slight diversification demerit, because of the conflict of interest that would arise from La Marca Group's placement of advertisements within the service area of Mid-Island's proposed station. Mr. Robert S. Smith, Mid-Island's 20% owner, is a 25% stockholder of Drum Communications, Inc., licensee of Radio Station WNWZ(AM), Highland Springs, Virginia; however, he has committed to divest himself of this interest entirely in the event of a grant.

192. Mr. La Marca is proposed as the full-time station Vice President and Advertising and Promotion Director. He will supervise and execute the station's advertising and promotional efforts. Mr. La Marca intends to remain active in the La

Marca Group. He currently spends 20 to 30 hours at business devoted to the La Marca Group even though he has had managers running the company on a day-to-day basis for some time. Although he alleges that he will reduce this time commitment to 20 hours in the event of a grant, he has not indicated that he would do to effectuate the reduction in hours worked. Mr. La Marca also spends about 10 hours a week on entrepreneuricla activities. Again, although he alleges that he would surrender the more speculative entrepreneurial activities in the event of a grant, he has not indicated what time savings would result. All in all it appears that Mr. La Marca will continue to spend 30 to 40 hours a week working on above-named activities in addition to the 40 hours contemplated at the proposed station. His full-time commitment to Mid-Island on a day-to-day, week in and week out basis must be suspect in light of the distances he would have to travel in the New York City area to effectuate his commitments to both the La Marca Group and the proposed station as well as the fact the time spent for La Marca would be time spent during the regular work week. Consequently, Mr. La Marca's integration proposal will be credited on no more than a part-time basis. See Caldwell Broadcasting Corp., supra.

193. Mr. Robert Smith is proposed as the full-time General Manager. Presently, Mr. Smith works 30 hours per week for the La Marca Group, but he intends to terminate this work in the event of a grant. Mr. Smith's proposal is enhanced by civic activities performed in the service area, and past broadcast experience.

194. Mr. Paris B. Swoopes is proposed as the full-time Sales Manager. He presently works four hours a day at his own business, which he began in 1961, and which provides diagnostic testing services and procedural analysis to doctors. He also does the same kind of work (30 hours per week) as Director of Clinical Laboratory Services for A. Holly Patterson Home for Nassau County Aged and Infirm. Mr. Swoopes promises to reduce these work commitments but it is not clear how he can reduce the time and still maintain the business especially since the business requires him to sell to doctors every day. It does not seem probably that Mr. Swoopes' proposed work week of 40 hours at the station, even though he will curtail the hours presently spend at his laboratory work, can be effectuated. See Caldwell Broadcasting Co., supra. Mr. Swoopes integration proposal will be credited on a part-time basis. And as such it is enhanced by his minority status as a Black American, his past and future local residence, and his civic participation.

195. Mr. Lester Gaither is proposed as the full-time Operations Manager to schedule programs and commercials. This does not appear to be a managerial position. Mr. Gaither will have no policy duties and will not supervise other employees. Consequently no credit may be given for his integration proposal.

196. Mrs. Kathleen S. Gayle is proposed as the full-time Office Manager. She is to oversee business functions and report to the General Manager. This activity seems to be clerical rather than a management level position. Integration credit for Mrs. Gayle's participation will not be given.

197. Mrs. Ruby H. Jones is proposed as the Community Services Director. Her 10% ownership and participation is credited with her minority status as a Black American, her female status, past residence in the service area and her civic activities.

198. Mr. Freeman McNeil is proposed as a full-time Sports Director. Mr. McNeil is presently a professional football player. Considering the requirements of professional football, Mr. McNeil of course, will not be able to work at the station 40 hours per week during the football season. His integration proposal cannot be credited.

199. Mid-Island is credited with installing auxiliary power equipment, but it is not clear that Mid-Island has made this commitment for both studio and transmitter locations.

200. McComas Broadcasting Corporation. McComas' sole stockholder, Mr. Miro owns 8% of MCO Industries, Inc. whose subsidiary Cavallaro Broadcasting Corporation is the licensee of Station WOSO, San Juan, Puerto Rico. Mr. Miro's parents own 52% of MCO Industries and Mr. Miro's five siblings own the rest. San Juan, Puerto Rico is a great distance from the service area of the proposed station, nevertheless, Mr. Miro ownership in MCO Industries does constitute a cognizable interest under the diversification criterion. A very slight diversification demerit will be assessed.

201. Mr. Miro is proposed for full-time integration. He resides presently in Garden City because he attends school there at Adelphi University. He promises to remain living in Garden City in the event of a grant. The other applicants argue that in light of Mr. Miro's student status doubt exists as to his true intentions. But this argument is speculation. There is no record evidence that Mr. Miro will be unable to carry out his commitment to work full-time at the station.

202. Mr. Miro's integration proposal is enhanced by his status as an Hispanic. Mr. Miro's birth certificate was not admitted into evidence and Mr. Miro was not cross-examined but in the circumstances there is no doubt that he is entitled to minority status credit. McComas proposes to install auxiliary generators at its studio and transmitter sites.

Auxiliary Power

203. Jarad, Spectron, GCB, Westplex, December Ventures, WINK and McComas receive credit for installing auxiliary generating equipment at both studio and transmitter locations. North Shore, Fonic and Mid-Island receive a lesser preference for their respective commitments to install auxiliary generators at one of the locations.

Final Comparative Evaluation

204. Under the diversification criterion Westplex is charged with a very slight demerit for Mr. Hasting's managerial position at Station WTHE, Mineola, New York; North Shore is charged with a very slight demerit for Mr. Reilly's managerial position at the LPTV station at Plainview, Long Island; December Ventures is charged with a slight demerit for Mr. Lewis' controlling interest in Uniworld; Mid-Island is charged with a slight demerit for Mr. La Marca's controlling interest in the La Marca Group and McComas is charged with a very slight demerit for his interest in MCO Industries.

205. Under the integration criterion Jarad receives 100% full-time integration credit enhanced by 100% past and future lo al residence, 100% civic participation, 100% minority ownership and 100% past broadcast experience. Spectron is entitled to 100% full-time integration enhanced by 100% past and future local residence, 100% civic participation, 100% minority and 100% female ownership and 100% limited broadcast experience. GCB will receive credit for 100% full-time integration enhanced by 46% past local residence (Betty Sutter, Mr. and Mrs. Bernstein) and 99% future local residence (Betty Sutter, The Bernsteins and the Beatudiers), 16% civic participation, 53% minority ownership, 70.5% female ownership and 28.5% for past broadcast experience (John Betaudier and Edwin Bernstein). Westplex is credited with 100% full-time integration credit enhanced by 100% past and future local residence, 51% civic participation, 100% minority ownership, 49% female ownership and 100% extensive past broadcast experience. North Shore is credited with 100% full-time integration enhanced by 49% minority ownership and 100% past broadcast experience. North Shore is credited with 100% full-time integration enhanced by 49% minority ownership and 100% past broadcast experience. December Ventures is credited with 100% part-time integration credit enhanced by 100% past and future local residence, 100% civic participation, 100% minority ownership and 100% limited broadcast experience. WINK is credited with 100% full time integration enhanced by 100% past and future local residence, 50% civic participation, 50% female ownership and 50% past broadcast experience. Fonic is credited with 76% full-time integration enhanced by 52% female ownership, 52% past and future local residence, 52% civi participation and 76% past broadcast experience. Mid-Island is credited with 30% full-time (Smith and Jones) and 29% part-time (La Marca) integration enhanced by Smith's (20%) civic participation and past broadcast experience and Jones' (10%) past and future residence, minority and female ownership. McComas has 100% full-time integration enhanced by 100% minority ownership and future residence.

206. In evaluating the applicants on a quantitative basis, December Ventures (100% part-time), Fonic (76% full-time) and Mid-Island (30% full-time and 29% part-time), Fonic (76% full-time) and

Mid-Island (30% full-time and 29% part-time) drop out since each of the other applicants has a clear decisional quantitative difference in owner participation.13/ Of the remaining seven applications all received the same quantitative integration credit but differ qualitatively. A comparison of these remaining applicants shows that Spectron, Jarad and Westplex are qualitatively the strongest. As between Jarad and Spectron, Spectron has a 100% greater female ownership credit which outweighs Jarad's superior past broadcast experience credit; otherwise these two applicants are equal. As between Spectron and Westplex, Spectron has a 51% greater female ownership credit and a 49% greater civic participation credit, which credits outweight Westplex's superior past broadcast experience. Additionally, Westplex is charged with a very slight diversification demerit. In sum, Spectron is the winner.
